WIDEN RUBBER CZAR'S POWER

PLOT TO SET UP DICTATORSHIP IN U. S. CHARGED

Carr Warns Details to Shock Nation.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 8 [Special].—The existence of a scheme to remodel the American way of life on a basis so dictatorial it will shock the country when it is revealed, probably six months hence, was charged today by Gov. Ralph L. Carr in his message to the Colorado general assembly.

Gov. Ralph Carr.

In what he termed his last official message to the people of his state, the retiring Republican chief executive said he wanted to warn them so they may prepare because "the danger is real." Carr will be succeeded Tuesday by John C. Vivian, also a Republican.

"There exists in this country today," Carr declared, "a plan to commence the remodeling of the lives of American freemen on a basis so dictatorial, so monarchistic, so burocratic that its very exposition proves its hostility to our American form of government.

Predicts Astonishment.

"I predict that unless something intervenes to stop them, within six months the details will be made public of schemes which will first shock and then absolutely astonish the householders, the taxpayers, the entire American citizenry."

Recalling the four freedoms discussed by President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill, the governor said the Atlantic charter did not include that freedom on which the United States was built and without which the other four would be unattainable—the freedom of enterprise. And it is that, he said, which is threatened by the regional planning of a new school of thought in American life."

"Surveys," he asserted, "are being made over great sections of the country involving people who have little in common beyond the fact that they all breathe the same air and are American citizens.

"These plans seek to establish an average—educationally, economically, and socially—over a series of sections which offer no common basis on which to draw comparisons."

Defends Viewpoint.

Carr emphasized that he was not preaching narrow minded sectionalism, and to those who might charge it because of the nonacceptance of a so-called national viewpoint he gave this answer:

"Our country is so large, and its climatic differences, its geographical conditions, the nature of local resource and the makeup, mental attitudes and customs of our people are such that no man can sit at Washington and draw, with any degree of success, a pattern to which the lives of all must be made to conform."

If this social planning had for its basis any needed war effort, we should bow and fall into line, the governor said, adding: "But such is not the case. This is social planning which cannot become effective until peace comes. Since that is true, we claim the right to participate in those plans."

Questions Regimentation.

"Have we come to the point in this country," he continued, "where it is necessary, in order for us to live, that we must modify and control the attitudes and thoughts and actions of every human being in America according to a chart developed by some group which would make us conform to a national scheme?

"The fact that two areas are located on tributaries of a great stream, probably hundreds of miles apart, does not justify an effort to establish an average of the peoples, their educational standards, their industrial, agricultural, and economic positions, their social structure, so as to revamp their lives regardless.

"The allied armies are battling today, carrying all the force of civilization against a plan which would control the lives of all other people and determine their courses. A plan which would move into any state and say to its farmers, its industrialists, its housewives, and its business men that they must change their chosen way of life is not very different from that other."

Name Jeffers to Divide Up Scarce Supply

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8 [Special].—Full authority to allocate the nation's dwindling supplies of rubber for all civilian and military uses has been delegated to Rubber Administrator William M. Jeffers by Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the war production board.

A new administrative order issued by Nelson, it was learned today, transfers to Jeffers the power to decide just how much rubber can be released for civilian uses and for production for the army, navy, air forces, lend-lease, and other government "claimant agencies."

It was reported that Nelson took the step in an effort to assure civilians an adequate supply of rubber to keep the home economy going. However, Jeffers was not optimistic in discussing the subject in an interview, declaring that the synthetic rubber program is in such precarious balance that "a few bad breaks would spell catastrophe."

Opposes Extending Driving Ban.

But he said he did not believe that the east coast ban on pleasure driving—necessitated by a gasoline shortage—should be extended to the remainder of the country to save tires.

While asserting that the tire saving program might have to be revised next summer "when people start driving to the ball parks and beaches and places," he said he thought people generally would coöperate without coercion in keeping tire wear to a minimum.

The rubber chief said that, if possible, he would like to preserve such freedom of movement as is now permitted under mileage rationing in areas where the petroleum supply makes this feasible. Moreover, he added, passenger cars can use reclaimed rubber for recaps and for tire replacements, while trucks and military vehicles require crude and synthetic rubber.

Needs Plant Priorities.

Jeffers said the rubber program needs a clear priority go-ahead on at least 65 to 70 per cent of its plant construction to avoid a "disaster" in military and industrial transport.

That part of the program would suffice to keep the military machines of this country and the allied nations rolling as well as essential trucks and buses, he observed. But it doesn't leave any for the rank and file of motorists. These, he said, would have to get along with recaps and reclaimed rubber until completion of the remaining 30 to 35 per cent of the program for which no special priority aid is being asked.

"As our program now stands," Jeffers said, "the country's rubber inventories will skate right down to 120,000 tons this fall."

This, he said, is the danger deadline noted by the Baruch committee report, and it "is less than the working inventory of the industry in peace time."

The Baruch committee actually had expected there would be 224,000 tons of all kinds of rubber in the nation's reserves this September—the month when present supplies are expected to have reached their low water mark.

Follows Baruch Recommendations.

The official explanation for the new delegation of authority to Jeffers was that the move was in accord with the Baruch report which recommended appointment of a rubber administrator "with full charge of all matters connected with rubber within the WPB."

Previously the power to make the allocations of rubber was held by Ferdinand Eberstadt, Wall street investment banker who is WPB vice chairman in charge of materials distribution. Under the new setup Eberstadt keeps control over all other critical materials, while Jeffers will have charge of rubber allocations.

However, Nelson's new order does not give Jeffers any increased control over the flow of materials going into the construction of synthetic rubber plants. It gives him authority to grant or withhold rubber supplies, to keep rubber stockpiles above the danger point, but does not help him in his efforts to step up the rubber manufacturing program.

Oil Shortage Advances N. Y. School Vacation

New York, Jan. 8 [Special].—Ellsworth V. Buck, president of the board of education, announced today that as a fuel conservation measure all New York City's public schools will close from Feb. 1 to Feb. 5 instead of during the week of April 26 to 30, the usual spring vacation. The order will close about 800 schools with more than 950,000 pupils. Fifty-four of the 800 schools are heated by oil units, the others by coal.

Parity in Pants Issue Stirs Up Feminine Ire

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

A little drama, that might be called "Parity in Pants," began in the women's court yesterday morning and wound up in the council chambers late in the afternoon where the aldermen, tired after a tussle with the budget, considered the weighty problem of women wearing slacks and trousers in public.

Evelyn Bross.

The issue began in Women's court, where Miss Evelyn Bross, 19 years old, of 2754 Jackson boulevard, a machinist in a defense plant, was arraigned before Judge Jacob M. Braude on a charge of violating the city ordinance prohibiting persons from wearing clothes of the opposite sex.

Comfortable, Handy for Work.

A petite, dark-haired miss, whose placidity was inherited from a full-blooded Cherokee father and the fact that she is the eldest of 13 children, Miss Bross contended that she wore men's clothes because "they were more comfortable than women's and handy for work."

The young defense worker, who professed that she had never made any attempt to conceal her sex, as her neighbors and employer could testify, certainly looked comfortable, if a little on the masculine side. She was dressed in blue flannel trousers, a plaid sport shirt, a plaid mackinaw jacket and oxfords and wore a mannish hair cut. The judge thought it would be a good idea to have Dr. David B. Rotman, Municipal court psychiatrist, study the case and he continued the hearing until Jan. 15.

Finds Many Supporters.

Indignation ran high when the incident reached the ears of prominent women in the fashion world, industry, society, and volunteer war work. Women's suffrage and slacks ought to go hand in hand, they contended. Ald. William J. Cowhey [41st] thought so, too, and at the end of the budget conference in the council chambers when all the aldermen were ready to call it a day, he presented the matter to fellow aldermen.

The present city ordinance, listed under "Acts Contrary to Public Peace or Morals" and subtitled, "Indecent exposure, wearing clothing of opposite sex," states that no person may wear attire not belonging to his or her sex. Ald. Cowhey's amendment would clarify the issue by adding the words "with intent to conceal his or her sex."

And there the matter of women in trousers ended, with Miss Bross under the eye of a psychiatrist, with various representative women taking an affirmative stand, and with the city council deciding to let the judiciary committee study it.

SEIZED IN PLOT TO GET MONEY FROM ARMOURS

Suspect Claims Pay 'for Saving Life.'

An alleged extortion plot against Mr. and Mrs. A. Watson Armour III. was disclosed yesterday when it was revealed that Abe H. Brown, who described himself as a former real estate dealer, is being held at the state's attorney's office for investigation. The Armours reside at 850 East Deerpath, Lake Forest.

Capt. Dan Gilbert said that Brown admitted trying to obtain money from Mrs. Armour, the former Miss Jean Schweppe, asserting it would have represented part payment for saving the life of her father, Charles H. Schweppe, back in 1911. Mr. Schweppe, widely known investment banker and civic leader, committed suicide Aug. 26, 1941.

Armour, 34 years old, is a member of the meat packing family, and a sales official of Armour & Co. His wife, active in north shore affairs, is a granddaughter of the late John G. Shedd, pioneer merchant. Her mother, Mrs. Laura Shedd Schweppe, died in 1937, leaving a $5,000,000 estate.

Find Clippings in Room.

Brown, a tall, thin man, 56 years old, lives at 5534 Blackstone avenue. Search of his room there disclosed a collection of newspaper clippings running into the thousands. One-third related to men and women active in social affairs, the rest to swindlers and confidence men, including Yellow Kid Weil.

Hidden behind a closet also were found 30 cartridges but no gun. Elsewhere were packets of letters, some bearing women's names, and half a dozen bank books recording deposits up to a few years ago ranging from $200 to nearly $1,000.

Police asserted that Brown had been annoying the Armours and other relatives with requests for money since Schweppe's death, and that one telegram he sent was threatening in tone. More than a year ago Armour asked police to arrest Brown. Nothing further was heard from him until Wednesday night when he telephoned the Armours. Police again were notified, and when Brown appeared at the Armour home on Thursday, he was seized by Sergt. Earl Dunn and Policeman Richard Baldwin.

Charges Life Income Promised.

Questioned yesterday by Capt. Gilbert and Assistant State's Attorneys Francis McCurrie and Leslie Curtis, Brown admitted he had attempted to obtain money from the Armours.

He asserted that Schweppe had promised him a life income of $1,020 a year in 1924 and had made the annual payments regularly, in cash, until his death.

He traced his alleged friendship with Schweppe back to 1911 when he worked as a bellboy in Boston, and Schweppe was connected with the Lee Higginson corporation, investment bankers, in the same city. Schweppe was president of the company at his death.

Brown said that one night in a Boston hotel, Schweppe objected to the loud singing of another man and that this man, irate over Schweppe's objections, was about to strike him with a baseball bat. Brown said he disarmed the man and that later, as a reward, he received $5,000. The reward, he added, was arranged for thru John J. Starrow, a friend of Schweppe's, who later died.

Tells of Money Pledge.

Continuing his story, Brown said that he came to Chicago, entered the real estate business, and in 1924 returned to Boston. He met Starrow again, he related, and Starrow advised him, he said, that he was to receive $20,000 from Schweppe, and an annuity of $1,020. He never received the $20,000, but did receive the annuity, he added.

Police records at the detective bureau revealed that Brown had been convicted of grand larceny in 1914 at Michigan City, Ind., and had served two years of a 1 to 14 year sentence at the Jefferson City, Ind., reformatory. Brown admitted the conviction, but refused to discuss the details of the case other than to say that he had received the $1,400 involved from a "friend." He had been arrested in Chicago at the request of Michigan City police.

Sabotage 35 Army Tanks; Hunt Gang

Seals Broken on Unguarded Rail Shipment

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 8 (AP).—At least 35 large army tanks in a big shipment on a railroad siding in metropolitan Oakland were tampered with, army intelligence officers were informed today.

The seals on the conning towers of the hatches had been broken. There was evidence that all of those on which the seals were broken had been entered.

Army officers immediately removed these tanks from the shipment and began testing them to determine the nature of the tampering.

Gang of Men Sighted.

Other tanks in the shipment were also examined to determine whether they had been molested. Seals on the others apparently were unbroken.

Residents in the vicinity told police a group of men had been acting suspiciously in the vicinity of the siding. The men disappeared before police cars arrived. State highway patrolmen joined in the search for the gang, but found no trace.

Army guards were promptly stationed around the entire shipment. A separate investigation was launched into the reason why no guards had been stationed on the tanks previously.

FBI Joins in Probe.

Federal bureau of investigation agents joined army intelligence officers and state and local police in the investigation.

The tanks had arrived only a relatively short time before the suspicious group of men was noted.

Cops Are Very Much at Home with Mrs. B.

New York, Jan. 8 [Special].—This story concerns Mrs. Sara Bertisch. Mrs. Bertisch has cops. She has cops in the parlor, morning, noon, and night, 24 hours a day, seven days a week. And she's going to continue having cops until she gives up and moves to another apartment.

It's been going on since Dec. 12, when two detectives found Mrs. Bertisch and 11 friends playing poker in her Bronx apartment. The friends were fined $1 each and Mrs. Bertisch thought she was lucky to escape a fine. She wasn't.

Cops Move In.

Acting under a rule of the police department, which pertains to the continued surveillance of premises on which there has been gambling, the cops moved in the next day. They've been there ever since, a new one every eight hours, with sergeants bringing in food at meal times.

They just sit in the living room and read or listen to the radio or twiddle their thumbs. Mrs. Bertisch is upset, but she's been living 14 years in her apartment and she doesn't want to move.

"What can I do?" asked Mrs. Bertisch, small, gray-haired mother of three grown up children. "The cops themselves are nice. Sometimes they get hungry and I give them a cup of coffee. I would like to play a little cards with them to keep from loneliness, but that I'm not trying yet."

Neighbors Have Similar Trouble.

Mrs. Bertisch said a couple of her neighbors were also having 24-hour-a-day cop trouble. At police headquarters it was learned that 48 places are under surveillance in similar fashion.

"So La Guardia thinks he can stamp out gambling in the homes with this sort of business," said Mrs. Bertisch. "Phooey. And double phooey. It shouldn't happen under Hitler."

On the door of the Bertisch apartment is tacked a sign "police." Some one has drawn a swastika under it.

Girders Stolen; Workmen Blink as 34 Beams Follow

Just recovering from surprise over the theft of nine steel girders from in front of the Palmer House on State street, Kenny Construction company workmen yesterday blinked their eyes over the theft from a storage yard of 34 foot-square timbers weighing 9,540 pounds. H. L. Zook, yard manager, said it would take three husky men to lift one beam onto a truck. The timbers were valued at $218 in a report to police.

FLYNN TO GET POST AS ENVOY TO AUSTRALIA

Plans Quick Start on 'Roving' Job.

New York, Jan. 8 [Special].—Edward J. [Paving Blocks] Flynn today announced his resignation as chairman of the Democratic national committee to become ambassador and personal representative of President Roosevelt as minister plenipotentiary to Australia.

Edward J. Flynn.

Rumors had been current in Washington for several months that Flynn would resign and that he hoped to crown his public career with the rank of ambassador.

Some capital observers had expressed belief Flynn's plan to resign also was motivated by a desire to get out of the country before New York's new governor, Thomas E. Dewey, the former racket busting prosecutor, could start an inquiry into the scandal involving paving blocks on Flynn's country estate.

Courtyard Deal Investigated.

The Democratic leader was accused of having the courtyard of his estate paved by New York City employes with 8,000 paving blocks owned by the Bronx borough. After an investigation, Flynn bought 8,000 paving blocks for the borough and reimbursed the city for the wages of employes who hauled and set them on his estate, which is not far from President Roosevelt's family home at Hyde Park, N. Y.

Flynn's announcement of his resignation was made at a press conference at which he said he had called a meeting of the national Democratic committee in Washington for Jan. 18. He said he would announce formally his retirement at that meeting. He will resign as the Bronx county executive committee chairman tomorrow, he said.

"The President has today appointed me his ambassador and personal representative," he said in a statement, "and will send to the senate on Monday my nomination as minister plenipotentiary to Australia."

Opposition Foreseen.

It seemed virtually certain tonight that an attempt would be made to block confirmation of the nomination of Flynn by the senate. Sidney Baron, secretary of a citizens' committee to reopen the Flynn case, announced that he would go to Washington tomorrow to confer with senate leaders. The committee was formed after a Bronx grand jury had exonerated Flynn of any wrongdoing in connection with the paving episode.

"It is shocking to learn that the road to Australia is now paved with Belgian blocks," Baron declared. "It will be little comfort to our soldiers there to learn that their American representative is the same man who lavishly built for himself a beautiful courtyard with city owned material and labor while fellow soldiers were dying in Corregidor. This is an outrage which cannot escape public indignation."

Flynn took over the helm of the Democratic party two years ago after James A. Farley, master mind of the 1932 and 1936 campaigns, broke with President Roosevelt on the third term issue.

Gets "Roving" Commission.

"I have more or less a roving commission in the South Pacific as the President's personal representative and ambassador," Flynn said.

He added that he expects to leave for Australia the first week in February.

Flynn announced he would retain his post as a member of the national committee for the state of New York and said he had no idea who would be his successor as national chairman. Postmaster General Frank C. Walker has been mentioned as his probable successor.

In Washington the White House had no comment on Flynn's statement.

The rank of Nelson T. Johnson, present American diplomatic representative to Australia, is that of minister.

Johnson, a veteran career diplomat, is a former minister to China. There have been reports he may be transferred back to China.

SENATE CAUCUS OF G. O. P. SNUBS WILLKIE GROUP

Denied Place on Foreign Relations Committee.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—Attempts of the Willkieite interventionists to get a seat on the highly important senate foreign relations committee and to claim an "assistant minority leader" were rebuffed today by the senate Republicans in caucus.

"There can be no consolation for the Willkieites in the action taken today," commented one prominent Republican senator.

The minority members, with a new high during the present administration of 38 votes, met to choose their leaders for the present congress and to approve the new committee assignments, which afford the Republicans greatly increased strength and a working majority with anti-New Deal senators from across the aisle.

The Republicans in the senate have shifted in strength from roughly 2 to 1 in favor of the Democrats to 3 to 2 in the new lineup, by reason of nine Republican senators gained in the November election.

Austin Turned Down.

Hopes of the Willkie followers—with at least moral support from the White House—were dashed when Sen. Warren R. Austin [R., Vt.], an interventionist, failed in his efforts to get on the foreign relations committee.

Instead, the assignment of one additional Republican to the committee went to Sen. James J. Davis [R., Pa.], classed as a noninterventionist. Davis had requested a place on the committee and won thru seniority over Austin.

The committee will now consist of 15 Democrats and 8 Republicans, with the minority promised an additional seat as soon as the first Democratic vacancy occurs. At least three of the present Democratic members of the committee are considered noninterventionist, giving the committee a nip and tuck balance as between interventionism and noninterventionism—an issue of great importance in the consideration of peace plans and the post-war course of the United States.

Important in Post-War Affairs.

The peace treaty and any other binding commitments on foreign policy must be guided thru the senate foreign relations committee before reaching the senate for ratification or rejection, emphasizing the supreme importance of this group in the future.

Austin, the white hope of the interventionists and one of the few Republicans considered in good standing at the White House, was also stripped today of his self-imposed title of "assistant minority leader."

The Republican senators, as expected, reëlected Sen. Charles L. McNary of Oregon as minority leader, and renominated Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan as Republican candidate for president pro tempore. Neither of these senators is an interventionist.

Austin has been bearing the title of "assistant minority leader," but when McNary was questioned today about filling this post, he tartly replied:

"No such action was taken because there is no such office in the organization. I appoint some one to fill in when I'm not there [in the senate] and I'll do that when I get ready."

Austin Claims Title.

McNary has at times requested various Republican senators to substitute as leader when he had to be absent from the floor, but none but Austin had claimed to be "assistant minority leader" thereafter.

The Republican caucus was described as harmonious and a great spirit of enthusiasm was manifested. Increased voting power on important committees insures the closest watch over administration operations, especially concerning extravagance and incompetence, the senators said.

Republicans gained two new members on the appropriations committee, Senators Clyde M. Reed of Kansas and Harold H. Burton of Ohio, making the new membership 15 Democrats to 9 Republicans, but at least five of the Democrats are anti-spenders, assuring a close scrutiny of future appropriations. This committee also is scheduled to undertake a thoro investigation of the lend-lease operations under Harry L. Hopkins, the President's confidant and aid, who previously set a record for spending as WPA administrator.

The Republicans on the appropriations committee met after the caucus in the office of Sen. Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], ranking minority member of the committee, and discussed their future strategy.

"There was a grand spirit among the minority members of the committee," said Nye. "They're really going to get action. There will be no more rushing thru of appropriation measures without adequate consideration, and they're determined to know what has been done about past moneys appropriated."

Nye said he expected the utmost coöperation from Democratic members on this program.

Sen. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] has received two new committee assignments, audit and control and civil service. In addition, he is a member of the appropriations, interstate commerce, and pensions committees.

Brooks on Lucas Committee.

Brooks was the new minority member placed on the audit and control committee, of which Sen. Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.] is chairman. This committee controls the release of funds for conducting senatorial investigations and thus holds considerable power. It will now consist of five members: Lucas, Millard E. Tydings [D., Md.], Carl Hayden [D., Ariz.], Brooks, and Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.].

This assumes that the present Democratic members will be retained. The Democrats have not yet announced their committee assignments, altho the ratios of committee membership have been determined between the majority and minority leaders. The Democrats have informed the Republicans that their foreign relations lineup will be unchanged.

The Republicans also gained three seats on the agriculture and forestry committee, three seats on banking and currency, one [Brooks] on civil service, two on commerce, one on education and labor, two on finance, three on immigration, two on interstate commerce, two on judiciary, one on military affairs, two on naval affairs, and one on territories and insular affairs, among the major committees.

The committee on territories and insular affairs, which is slated to probe the administration of Gov. Rexford Guy Tugwell of Puerto Rico, will consist of 10 Democrats and 7 Republicans, 4 of the Democrats being anti-New Deal.

JOLIET SOLDIER AWARDED MEDAL FOR SAVING LIFE

A Joliet soldier, Pvt. Philip S. Varini, 27 years old, has been awarded the soldier's medal for heroism, the war department announced in Washington, D. C., yesterday.

He received the medal for pulling a fellow soldier to safety after the latter's arms and legs were drenched with flaming oil, the announcement stated. Pvt. Varini, who is attached to the military police, smothered the flames with his bare hands. The mishap occurred Sept. 4, 1942, at Detroit.

Pvt. Varini is the son of Mrs. Caroline Varini, 712 South Joliet street, Joliet. He has been in the army for approximately a year and worked in a wall paper company plant in Joliet in civilian life.

ARGENTINES SEE NEW COMFORT IN ROOSEVELT TALK

Brazil Press Bristles for Peace Reprisals.

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 8 (AP).—The pro-democratic press of neutral Argentina praised President Roosevelt's address to congress editorially today.

El Mundo said that his words contained a vital message not only for "the countries who are fighting at the side of the United States in this war of liberation but also for the peoples who remain outside the conflict."

"Never before has Mr. Roosevelt been able to offer us a vision more optimistic, more bright or more comforting for all" than in his picture of the post-war world, the newspaper said.

Called Optimistic View.

La Prensa said the President's speech was "a clear, optimistic, and valiant exposition . . . heard and read with real emotion in all the civilized regions of the earth."

La Nacion's Washington correspondent declared that Mr. Roosevelt's admonition concerning congressional coöperation in the conduct of the war and the peace "indicated a belief that the war will be won inside the two year life of the present Congress or at least that it will fall to this congress to draft the basis of future peace."

Brazil for Disarmament.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 8 (AP).—Brazil's newspapers gave prominent display today to President Roosevelt's address to congress, and in editorial comments advised the allies against giving "considerate treatment" to the defeated axis nations after the war.

The Diario Carioca said: "The allied nations must not commit the error of the last war—Germany imploring peace and keeping her arms, keeping arms to later forge the machinery of revenge."

Italians Fear Punishment.

BERNE, Switzerland, Jan. 8 (AP).—The German and Italian reaction to President Roosevelt's speech to congress adhered today to the officially designated line—that of universal reference to claims of continued successful submarine war against the allied nations. Italian newspapers went a step further to express concern for punishments that an axis defeat could bring.

Il Messagero of Rome asserted an allied victory would result in the "eternal slavery" of Italy, Germany, and Japan, and their complete disarmament.

Il Giornale d'Italia, also of Rome, noted only that the war still would be "long, complicated, and hard."

Comments of the Wilhelmstrasse and the axis press argued that Mr. Roosevelt spoke of the Russian winter successes and "forgot to mention the German successes during the summer offensive;" and that he "avoided going into the U-boat situation."

New Deal Blasted in House; Nobody Rises to Defend It

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—A series of sharp exchanges between Democrats and Republicans over administration policies marked criticism of the New Deal voiced in the house today as the chamber swung into the first full day of regular business in the new session. Failure of New Deal members to attempt a defense of the administration was termed significant by Rep. J. William Ditter [R., Penn.], chairman of the G. O. P. congressional campaign committee.

The outbursts were precipitated by Rep. Charles L. Gifford [R., Mass.], who spoke critically of yesterday's message from the President, asserting he doubts that congress can reassert itself as long as its leaders take their "orders" from the White House. Representatives Fred L. Crawford [R., Mich.], Daniel A. Reed [R., N. Y.], and Roy O. Woodruff [R., Mich.] joined in the attacks while the Democratic side remained silent.

Raps Defiant Burocrats.

"The last congress passed thru a period in which a tremendous planned assault was made upon the legislative branch of government," declared Woodruff. "Those who apparently believed they could persuade the people to discredit their instrument of control over the government had an awakening in the November elections. They have gone underground in their efforts to sap the foundations of our free American government but they will be no more successful in the future than in the past.

"Congress must move to take back its prerogatives to put an end to defiance by burocrats of the expressed will and obvious intention of the legislative body. Government by decrees is coming to a close and congress is going to have much more to say in the future about how the government is run, how the country is governed, and how the war is operated than it has in the past."

After half an hour of the one sided discussion, Rep. Ditter took the floor, observing that most of the G. O. P. criticism seemed directed at the New Deal as distinguished from the Democratic party.

"However," he continued, "it strikes me that not one gentleman on the other side who qualifies as a New Dealer has risen to reply. The silence that prevails is very significant."

TVA Hit as Socialism.

Rep. John E. Rankin [D., Miss.] thereupon leaped into the affray.

"I will undertake to answer any arguments against the TVA," he challenged.

"The TVA is one of the biggest examples of socialism in the present administration," Gifford replied.

"There are some people who cannot distinguish between socialism and what is not," said Rankin.

"How can you call so vast an expenditure anything else?" asked Rep. Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.].

"I'll say to the gentleman from Michigan," answered Rankin smiling, "that all the electrical energy the TVA can generate would not shed enough light upon his mind to enable him to understand my answer."

"Irrespective of all the light and power of the TVA, the highest percentage of people who can't read and write is still in your state, Mississippi," Hoffman shot back as a gale of laughter swept the chamber.

Stassen Plan Assailed.

Later, the question of a world parliament as a cure for the world's ills was injected in the debate, and the chamber was diverted by the spectacle of Majority Leader John W. McCormack [D., Mass.] defending the scheme which was proposed by a Republican governor, Harold E. Stassen, of Minnesota.

"The proposal deserves consideration from every fair minded person," said McCormack.

"It's all right if Stassen wants to be a stalking horse for Wendell Willkie and try to steal the Republican nomination," Hoffman asserted. "We know about it and we'll be ready."

The debate, first of the new congress, subsided finally as Rep. Jerry Voorhis [D., Cal.] arose to rebuke his colleagues for "playing politics" in a congress which he said "has the opportunity to become one of the greatest in history."

"We've got to do better than we have done so far today if we are to reach that high standard," he warned.

ASKS CONGRESS TO INVESTIGATE PEACE PROBLEM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—Rep. Jessie Sumner [R., Ill.] today introduced a resolution in the house asking for the creation of a special house committee for a thoro and orderly study of peace problems, offers, and settlements.

The resolution specified that the committee have a membership of 15. After its introduction, Miss Sumner was assured by various influential members of the house that they would give it support.

Duties of the committee, as detailed in the resolution, would be fourfold: To investigate and study the cause and prevention of wars likely to involve the United States; to recommend to congress legislation and other remedies the committee might deem desirable; to formulate peace offers which, if enacted by congress, might hasten the successful termination of the present war; and recommend such just and beneficial terms of peace settlements as to encourage enduring peace.

50 IRONWORKERS ON STRIKE 2D DAY AT ROLLING MILL

Fifty members of the Ironworkers' union remained on strike for the second day yesterday in the jurisdictional dispute which is halting construction of electric furnaces at the huge McCook rolling mill to be operated by the Aluminum Corporation of America.

E. F. Anderson, superintendent of construction, said he expected a peaceful solution of the dispute would be worked out between the ironworkers and the boilermakers' union, which contends its men should have the jobs.

All the strikers have been notified to appear for work Monday, Anderson said.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS POST NOT LIKELY FOR CLARE LUCE

Place Probably Will Go to Older Member.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—It became a virtual certainty today that Clare Boothe Luce, the playwright congresswoman from Connecticut, will not realize her dream of a seat on the house foreign affairs committee. One of the important matters which will be considered by the foreign affairs committee in the next few months is the question of extending the lend-lease act, which expires automatically on June 30.

Rep. Earl Wilson.

Republican leaders said an informal poll of the G. O. P. committee on committees showed overwhelming sentiment against granting special consideration to a freshman colleague, even tho she might be attractive, talented, and a commentator on world affairs.

Informed sources said the seat which Rep. Luce is seeking probably will be filled by Rep. Earl Wilson [R., Ind.], known here as something of an anti-feminist and an advocate of a 9 p. m. curfew for women in the government service. He is understood to be the choice for a vacancy to be given the middlewest.

Wilson aroused the feminine pay rollers several months ago when he charged that much inefficiency in federal agencies is due to lack of sleep on the part of the women employés. Nor did he endear himself to the capital womenfolk when he registered numerous complaints over the paying of government stenographers for time spent in sitting idly waiting for assignments to jobs.

Seniority Important.

Posts on top standing committees such as foreign affairs are reserved for veteran congressmen and are parceled out among the state delegations on the basis of seniority. The Republican committee on committees is scheduled to meet Monday to decide on most of the seats which are open to the party in the new congress.

The one important change affecting the Illinois G. O. P. members is expected to be the elevation of Rep. Charles A. Dewey of Chicago to the powerful ways and means committee filling one of two minority vacancies on that group. Dewey, regarded as one of the foremost fiscal authorities in congress, is a former financial adviser to the government of Poland. In the 77th congress he served on the house banking committee.

Most Retain Posts.

The majority of the other reelected Illinois Republicans will retain their present committee assignments, it was learned, while Rep. Ralph Church of Evanston, who was returned to the house after a two years' absence, is expected to win a place on the rivers and harbors and insular affairs committees.

Under the new apportionment of committee posts between Democrats and Republicans, agreed to yesterday by the majority leaders, the G. O. P. will have a total of three vacancies to fill on the foreign affairs group. One of these is the post given up by Rep. Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.]. He explained that he wished to be free to devote his full time to the rules committee of which he is ranking minority member.

Cites Her Experience.

Rep. Luce, who secured an office in the new house office building despite being a first termer, has indicated that she believes her experience as a writer and world traveler entitles her to a place on this committee. Elected as a Republican, it is reported that she went so far as to ask the Democratic house chieftain, Speaker Sam Rayburn, for the post.

However, it was learned today that Rep. James W. Wadsworth [R., N. Y.] will take one of the three places which apparently would prevent the naming of another easterner at this time. Also there are already two women, Representatives Edith Nourse Rogers [R., Mass.] and Frances P. Bolton [R., O.], on the committee already, which is seen as a further barrier to her hopes.

Beside Wilson and Wadsworth it is reported that Rep. A. C. Schiffler [R., W. Va.] has received G. O. P. approval for the foreign affairs committee, thus accounting for the three vacancies.

HUNT BANDIT AFTER SHOOTING.

Police yesterday sought a Negro bandit who fled Thursday night after shooting and wounding Barney Eisenstadt, 58, in an attempted holdup near his home at 6115 St. Lawrence avenue.

CHRISTINE LA RUE.

Judge Joseph Sabath of the Supreme court, yesterday warned Kenneth R. La Rue, 30 years old, 2049 West 70th place, to be more careful what he writes in his letters to his estranged wife, Christine, 26, of 6859 Ada street, who is suing him for divorce.

La Rue had been ordered to pay $7 a week for the support of his daughter, Carol, 5. He paid a little, then wrote a letter to Mrs. La Rue saying he'd "rather go to jail" than keep up the payments.

After hearing this story from Mrs. La Rue's lawyer, Harry X. Cole, Judge Sabath told La Rue if he didn't pay up $51 in arrears by Monday, he'd get his wish as expressed in his letter, namely, jail.

HOPE GIVEN UP FOR 12 TRAPPED BY MINE FIRE

Morgantown, W. Va., Jan. 8 (AP).—Harry McNary, senior engineer of the United States bureau of mines' mineral resources division, expressed doubt tonight that any of the 12 men, trapped by an underground fire in the No. 15 mine of the Purglove Mining company, were alive. McNary made the statement after a partial inspection of the workings where a fire in a motor caught 78 members of the night shift underground.

The body of one miner already had been recovered and 65 were known to be safe. Flames raged thruout the day and late tonight rescue crews wearing gas masks made slow progress because of the heat.

Company officials had earlier expressed hope that the 12 men might be alive after Guy Quinn, 38 year old night foreman and the father of two children, went back into the mine to open two ventilating doors. Quinn's body was taken from the flaming mine after it was found by rescue workers beside the second ventilating door he had succeeded in opening.

New Yorker Hangs Himself Over Pleasure Driving Ban

F. D. R. APPROVES RUML PLAN, BUT FEARS U. S. LOSS

Predicts Long Time Cost to Treasury in Tax Shift.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—President Roosevelt today came out in favor of placing income taxes on a pay as you go basis, altho he cautioned that such a shift involves many problems, including possible loss to the treasury.

Sen. Arthur Capper.

Discussion of the plan at Mr. Roosevelt's press conference was prompted by Republican initiation of a pay as you go tax program in congress yesterday.

Sen. Arthur Capper [R., Kas.] and Rep. Frank Carlson [R., Kas.] introduced identical bills, modeled on a proposal by Beardsley Ruml, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

Would Switch Tax Basis.

Under the Ruml proposal, taxpayers would write off last year's income as the basis of taxes and pay monthly on current income. Tax returns for last year would be filed as usual on March 15, and any differences in payments under the new system would be adjusted at the end of the year. Overpayments would be credited against next year's taxes, and the taxpayer would have to make up any underpayments.

Mr. Roosevelt said that forgiving of all or any part of last year's income taxes in switching taxes to the current income, would bring a loss to the treasury. He asserted that unless a portion or all of last year's taxes were canceled under the pay as you go plan, taxpayers would be subjected to heavy double taxation.

Fears Long Term Loss.

He said the real problem was whether the government would have to forgo any taxes. It might be fine for the individual to forgive part or all of one year's taxes in order to get on a pay as you go basis, but the poor old treasury might be out of pocket.

Mr. Roosevelt was asked if there would be any loss to the treasury if the pay as you go plan were made a permanent thing. He said there might not be any immediate loss, but that the treasury would not get as much in income tax receipts over a 10 year period.

When a series of involved questions were raised, Mr. Roosevelt threw up his hands, emphasizing that he had not gone into the plan in detail.

More Security Information.

The President disclosed that he probably will send congress additional information on the "cradle to the grave" social security expansion he advocated in his message yesterday.

He told the press conference that there is a threat of black markets in the United States, adding that we haven't many now and that a reference to them in his message to congress yesterday was intended to forestall them.

Miss Marioka, a native of Los Angeles, was released from a Japanese relocation camp at Poston, Ariz., in December, and has since been a domestic at Fort Sheridan. The ceremony was performed by the post chaplain, Lt. Erling C. Grevstad.

THUGS INJURE RADIO ACTRESS AND CRITIC IN N. Y.

New York, Jan. 8 (AP).—Actress Zina Provendie was in a hospital tonight wth a fractured skull and George Jean Nathan, dramatic critic, was at his hotel nursing injuries each received in separate encounters with thugs near the heart of the town's night life.

Miss Provendie, who appeared in "Kiss the Boys Goodbye" and "The Goldbergs" radio show, was said to be in a critical condition. She was struck on the head last night on West 53d street, near 5th avenue.

Nathan said he was assaulted New Year's eve as he was walking along 5th avenue near 52d street. He said he was knocked down by two men and a rib injured. Police said they would question Nathan tomorrow, adding that he had not reported the attack.

DISPEL MYSTERY OF FAHERTY'S LETTER TO KELLY

Note Merely in Praise of Service Centers.

Roger Faherty, Republican candidate for mayor, yesterday destroyed his foes' "mystery letter" weapon by making public the note which he as a former soldier sent to Mayor Kelly last Armistice day.

On Thursday night Arthur F. Albert, a former alderman and now an opponent of Faherty in the coming primary, made much of the letter when he said:

"Just think of it, Mayor Kelly now has in his possession a document that insures his reëlection in the event that Mr. Faherty should become the nominee of the Republican party."

Faherty's letter was written in connection with the city's service centers which make it known as the soldiers' and sailors' "heaven." The centers are supported mainly by contributions from business men and other citizens, altho Mayor Kelly's name appears prominently in the centers.

Praises Service Centers.

In his letter to Mayor Kelly, Faherty acknowledged receipt of a request to contribute to "Chicago's Own Christmas Benefit" fund, the money to go for the support of the city's service centers. He indorsed use of the money for this purpose and said he would contribute.

Faherty commended the service centers for their work among soldiers, sailors, and marines, which he said enhanced the reputation of the city for hospitality. He also praised Mayor Kelly and Mrs. Kelly for their activities in connection with the centers.

John T. Dempsey, chairman of the Republican Cook county central committee, went to Springfield yesterday to discuss the mayoral campaign with Gov. Dwight H. Green. Authentic sources denied a report published by a former Republican newspaper that Dempsey was about to walk out on Faherty, terming it untrue and impossible.

Doubt He'll Manage Campaign.

It is unlikely that Dempsey will manage Faherty's campaign, however, because G. O. P. leaders consider it would be normal political practice to link a non-Irish name with Faherty's.

Albert, meanwhile, occupied the second floor quarters at 100 North La Salle street, abandoned by the so-called Independent Voters committee, which vainly sought to stem the tide of defeat for Raymond S. McKeough, Democratic nominee for United States senator.

Ald. John S. Boyle [16th], who on Thursday announced he will be the opponent of Mayor Kelly in the Feb. 23 primary, said last night that his supporters have decided not to run candidates for city treasurer and city clerk. Aldermanic candidates will enter the fight under the Boyle banner in most of the 50 wards, he said.

BUROCRATS HUSH SECRET SEEN BY THOUSANDS DAILY

Scrap Rubber Gathered in Drive Lies for Months.

This is a story about a story of a rubber stockpile in Chicago. THE TRIBUNE has been trying since Dec. 15 to obtain the story and a picture to illustrate it.

Both the pictures and the story were obtained despite officials of the federal bureaus controlling the mountain of rubber, who made every effort, including interference by armed guards, to prevent THE TRIBUNE from photographing the stockpile or learning anything about its size and disposition even after the office of censorship in Washington had given its approval.

The stockpile consists of thousands of old tires stacked in endless rows about 12 feet high in the old Deering works of the International Harvester company at 2624 Clybourn avenue, near Fullerton avenue. It occupies an area about one block wide and two blocks long.

Part of Yield from Drive.

It has been there since last September and represents part of the old rubber collected during the salvage drive in Illinois last summer. The drive netted 38,480 tons of scrap, of which 60 per cent was in old tires.

Thousands of passengers riding trains on the North Western railway pass within a few feet of the stockpile each day. They have no trouble seeing it from train windows because the long rows of old tires are piled high in the open. Some of the passengers have remarked that for several months now the mounds of rubber have not seemed to increase or decrease in size.

Wilbert H. Rueter, Chicago examiner for the RFC, which owns the government owned Rubber Reserve company, which in turn owns the rubber stockpile, said this isn't true. "Shipments are moving in and out all the time," he said. To this he added: "Once in a while we get held up, tho."

How Much Shipped? No Answer.

Asked how much rubber has been shipped to reclaiming plants from the pile, he answered: "That's none of your business."

Asked how much rubber the pile contains, he said: "I'd estimate it was in the neighborhood of 10,000 tons."

Told that other estimates had placed the size of the pile at higher figures, he said: "I could be wrong, ha, ha."

Here follows a review of THE TRIBUNE'S efforts to obtain the pictures and story on the rubber pile:

Dec. 14—THE TRIBUNE is apprised of the presence of the rubber pile in a letter from an officer of a steel corporation.

Dec. 19—THE TRIBUNE meanwhile having been advised that control of the rubber pile is held by the Rubber Reserve company, an RFC subsidiary, goes to Rueter requesting permission to take photographs of the pile. Rueter says "No," explaining that the pile of old tires has the same status as a war plant.

No Regulation, But a Policy.

Dec. 20—Rueter, asked to cite the regulations forbidding pictures of the rubber pile, says it isn't a regulation exactly, but a "declared policy." Permission, he said, would have to come from R. D. Young, executive vice president of the RRF, or China R. Clarke, assistant to the president of the same RRF subsidiary in Washington.

Dec. 21—THE TRIBUNE asks the office of censorship in Washington for permission to take the pictures and run a story on the rubber pile.

Dec. 23—THE TRIBUNE'S Washington office replies: "Office of censorship says it has no objection to running picture and story on pile of rubber tires at the International Harvester plant inasmuch as they are along the railroad track and in daily view of passengers on trains."

Dec. 24—TRIBUNE reporter and photographer are refused permission by guards to take pictures of rubber pile. Rueter says permission granted by office of censorship does not apply and that he will grant permission only when notified by his bosses at RRC in Washington. James Hopkins of the Chicago office of war information promises to intercede with RRC headquarters in Washington.

OWI Makes a Suggestion.

Dec. 28—Hopkins reports he has not heard from RRC headquarters, but suggests that photographer take the picture from railroad tracks without permission. "Suppose some overzealous guard shoots the photographer?" he is asked. "That's one of the hazards of your business," Hopkins says.

Dec. 29—Hopkins says Washington office of OWI has been denied permission by RRC to take the pictures.

Dec. 31—Hopkins wires OWI Washington office again and request is now in hands of Washington headquarters of the RRC.

Jan. 2—The Chicago OWI reports Washington office is unable to obtain permission from RRC in Washington, nor can it get a refusal.

Jan. 4—Ben Regan, executive secretary for Illinois on general salvage for the WPB, who supervised collection of the scrap rubber making up the pile, says he does not know how much rubber is in the pile or how much has been removed from it. Regan said: "I don't know. Our authority ended when we turned the rubber over at the end of the drive last summer. Call the procurement office of the treasury department. They own it and have charge of it." Eric King, treasury procurement officer, says: "I don't know who owns the rubber. No, it hasn't been declared with this office."

Four Guards Go Into Action.

Rueter, informed that THE TRIBUNE has permission from the office of censorship to take pictures of the rubber pile, replies: "Look here, I've been all over that matter with your paper. You're not going to take them." OWI says it probably won't get permission for THE TRIBUNE to take picture, but says rubber scrap pile is not military secret.

Jan. 5—Photographer takes pictures at gate of rubber pile yard and from across river with telescopic lens. Guard house at entrance to yard emits a police sergeant and three watchmen, who race out to photographer's car. Two jump on the running board of the car. One demands camera and photographic plate.

Reporter: "We have permission from the office of censorship in Washington to take the picture."

Guard: "That doesn't mean a thing. You'll have to come inside and talk to Charles Buckholz [the yard foreman] on the phone."

Buckholz on telephone: "What do you mean by taking those pictures? You're not going to get away with it. I'm going to call downtown. There'll be plenty of trouble about this. I don't care if the office of censorship did approve the picture. I don't take orders from the censorship office."

OPA Aids Report Licenses in War Against 'Fun Drivers'

New York, Jan. 8 (AP).—Gasoline ration books were seized and thousands of license numbers jotted down for possible investigation as the government sought rigid enforcement today of its pleasure driving ban in 17 Atlantic seaboard states.

Office of price administration agents here took up nine ration books and police announced that 46,237 license numbers had been listed.

Russell H. Potter, acting OPA district manager, said owners of 50 automobiles will be called in to explain why their cars were parked last night in the Manhattan theatrical and night club district.

Seize Diner's Book.

Potter said books were seized from: A man whose car was parked outside a restaurant in which he was dining with two companions; a chauffeur waiting for his woman employer, attending a Carnegie hall concert; a youth who said he was a Virginia military school student and had stopped to visit friends; a night club patron who left his car outside; a man who said he had stopped in a restaurant to visit his sales manager, and a man who said he was entertaining a friend in military duty.

Ask License Refunds.

I. James Brody, deputy motor vehicle commissioner, said 50 New York motorists had requested refunds for 1943 licenses. He said only 23,500 license applications had been filed since Dec. 18, compared with nearly 126,000 for the same period last year.

Elsewhere thruout the east OPA agents were busy. Forty-three gasoline ration books were seized in Binghamton, Johnson City, and Endicott, N. Y. Books were taken from Rochester, N. Y., motorists attending a philharmonic concert.

The OPA said inspectors had reported 350 "violations" in northern New Jersey. Miami, Fla., motorists were summoned to explain their presence at sports events.

A number of parties for debutantes were reported canceled in Jacksonville, Fla., due to the pleasure driving ban, but a night club in New York rose to the occasion and announced it would furnish free horse and buggy transportation to its patrons tonight.

Meanwhile, a new warning came from Washington, D. C., of still further action to avert "serious hardships in many places" during January or February. The petroleum industry war council adopted a report of its economics committee saying that additional measures would be inevitable unless more military requirements could be taken from sources other than the east coast or unless a few more tankers could be spared. The committee predicted the situation would become more comfortable for a few months after February.

List Oil Developments.

Developments today on the fuel oil front were as follows:

A spokesman for the fuel oil industry here said the situation still was critical and would not immediately be affected by the driving ban. New York City's 1 million public school children faced the possibility of a week's vacation beginning Feb. 1 to conserve oil.

Release of 1,000,000 gallons of kerosene alleviated a critical situation at Boston, Mass.

Gov. J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island announced a proposal for Monday closings for all nonwar businesses.

In Washington, D. C., senators investigating a threatened midwest fuel shortage were told that a major program of natural gas pipe line construction would be necessary if "adequate supplies are to be maintained." Director E. Holley Poe of the war petroleum administration's natural gas and natural gasoline administration testified that the demand for fuel and the necessity for full time operation of war plants had made the situation acute.

Capital's Social Whirl Halts

BY MARCIA WINN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—Washington as the social capital of the world is doomed.

Guillotined by one swift edict of the OPA banning the use of cars for pleasure driving are those cozy little $3,000 dinners at the Carlton; Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury's simple little buffets for 600; those casual Sunday night suppers for 100 or more "interesting people" at Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean's "Friendship" estate; those elegant diplomatic receptions where cold eye meets cold eye across a field of caviar and gold braid; those sterile teas for somebody you are afraid to offend by your absence, where you shake limp hands hour after hour and swill down the last tea of our time.

Calling Custom Dies.

Guillotined forevermore, perhaps, is the ubiquitous, but genteel, custom of calling at the home of every one who outranks you or your husband in the congressional, executive, judicial, or diplomatic merry-go-round to drop a newly dogeared card [or two or four or six] on the silver salver extended by a butler who wouldn't let you in even if you wanted in.

Gone, gone, are all these dubious delights, if the participants in them have what an OPA spokesman today termed "patriotic honor." If they have that patriotic honor they will use cars only for business purposes. "The question," he added, "is how much honor do diplomats and others have?"

The OPA has not banned these pleasures. Do not misunderstand. The OPA has merely banned the customary means of getting to them. All "pleasure driving" by gasoline driven conveyance presumably stopped at noon yesterday, even altho Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Harry Hopkins did jump out of a White House limousine eight hours later to attend a Marian Anderson concert.

Washington hostesses, fully aware of the unpopularity of riding street cars, today predicted complete disruption of social activity for the joy of which many continue to live here in war time discomfort.

Many already are beginning to call off their parties. Today's mail brought a typed notice to prospective guests at the open house Sunday of Daniel Bell, under secretary of the treasury, and Mrs. Bell that the event has been cancelled because of "the problems of transportation."

The biennial reception at the Congressional club for the wives of new senators and congressmen took place today as scheduled, but many of the women came by street car. Among them was Mrs. Robert A. Taft, who announced firmly that hereafter not only would she be going to all affairs by street car, but that she would be going in a short dress, no matter how formal or august the occasion. Mrs. Charles S. Dewey predicted that all Washington will adopt this.

White Ties Missing.

"As a matter of fact," Mrs. Dewey added, "I haven't seen a white tie in Washington in two years and no evening dresses in a long time. Women are wearing dinner dresses with high necks.

"From now on, only the hostesses who live on car lines will have any guests."

Many Washingtonians believe they can continue to get to social events by taxicab, but a cab driver today quickly dashed this hope.

"Not in my cab," he said flatly. "Think I want to get a ticket? Or a fine? You won't see me driving up to any of those clubs. They haven't made it clear how we'll know whether people going to private homes are going there for business or what, but I'm not risking my license.

"Me, I'm going home to my farm. I can raise everything I need there, and I won't be getting mad all the time."

Dennis was stationed at Great Lakes for several years. Miss Margaret and Miss Mary Dady of Waukegan are aunts of the two men.

FOREIGN TONGUE PAPERS ASSAIL PRESSURE GROUP

Think Reds Engineered 'Victory Rally.'

New York, Jan. 8 [Special].—Louis Bromfield, novelist recently associated with various Communist front activities; Charles Poletti, 29 day governor of New York; Raymond Gram Swing, radio commentator; Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer, and a variegated group of 26 others have aroused sharp hostility among the non-Communist foreign language newspapers in New York City by lending their names as sponsors of a so-called victory conference of the foreign language press of New York at the Hotel Roosevelt tomorrow.

The conference will be held under the auspices of the American Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born. This committee, which at various times has enlisted the support of liberals, is regarded as a Communist party line organization since its inception in 1937.

Established Papers Protest.

Ten of the long established foreign language papers here have assailed "the attempts of self-appointed individuals and groups outside our profession" to "prod" or "organize" the foreign language press here with the implication that it "is not meeting its patriotic obligations."

Few of the 30 sponsors are connected with the foreign langage press. The list includes Prof. Gordon Alport of Harvard, Congressman Louis Capozolli, Edward L. Parsons, retired Protestant Episcopal bishop of California; Kenneth Leslie, editor of the Protestant Digest, and Virvinius Dabney, Richmond Times-Dispatch editor.

Bromfield is generally credited as being the moving spirit behind the projected conference. He was a resident of France for 15 years until the approach of war in late 1938.

The 10 protesting newspapers, all of which have fought Fascism and Nazlism within their own language groups, have warned the other foreign language papers here against rallies "engineered" by individuals "with some ulterior objective."

Several of the editors expressed the opinion that behind the conference are the Communist foreign language papers here, numbering about 22, which bitterly opposed American defense policies and called the allied cause "imperialistic" during the Hitler-Stalin pact.

Several Nationalities Represented.

The language groups represented by the 10 protesting papers are Polish, Hungarian, Croat, Slovak, Czech, Russian, Norwegian, Finnish, Italian, and German-American. They include La Parola, the Staats-Zeitung und Herold, Novoye Russkoye Slovo, Amerikai Magyar Nepszava, and Nowy Swiat.

One of the three speakers scheduled for tomorrow, an editor pointed out, is John Roman, editor of Magyer Jovo, Communist Hungarian paper.

The Inter-Racial Press of America, Inc., meanwhile said that "not a single foreign language newspaper publisher is included among the sponsors of the conference."

Queries about the conference all have been referred to the American Committee for the Protection of Foreign Born, among the principal backers of which are Rep. Vito Marcantonio [America Labor party, N. Y.] who consistently opposed rearmament measures in congress prior to the German attack on Russia, and Mrs. Carol King, one of the incorporators of the Daily Worker, Communist organ.

Routs Robbers

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Lucille Holtzman shows how she drove away four bandits who tried to rob currency exchange.

Screams, kicks, and a bowl of hot soup were the weapons Miss Lucille Holtzman, 35 years old, 1023 Argyle street, used yesterday to rout four would-be robbers of the currency exchange in which she works at 328 West Erie street.

Miss Holtzman had stepped into a restaurant next door for a bowl of soup. Four men dressed in working clothes entered the exchange, and Patrick J. O'Malley, the owner, called to her to wait on them.

She returned with the bowl of soup in one hand; as she was about to unlock the door of the money cage, one of the men grabbed her and spun her around, while another pointed a pistol at O'Malley.

Screaming and kicking, Miss Holtzman flung the soup into her assailant's face. All four fled.

Hear Nazis Link North Norway, Finland by Rail

LONDON, Jan. 8 (AP).—Authoritative sources reported today that Germans were constructing a railway line from north Norway to Finland. War prisoners were reported being used on the road, first to link the two countries. The line's start was described as being at Nord-Reiss, about 50 miles northeast of Tromsoe. The Finnish terminus was not disclosed.

UNIONISTS FREED WITHOUT INQUIRY BY PAROLE BOARD

N. Y. Gov. Poletti Acted Summarily.

New York, Jan. 8 [Special].—Of the 15 commutations of sentence granted by Former Gov. Charles Poletti in his 29 days as governor, the only cases which the state board of parole was not asked to investigate were those of three persons convicted of union terroristic practices.

This was revealed today on the heels of the board's decision forbidding Alexander Hoffman, who was among those released from prison by Poletti, from resuming his powerful job in his union.

Besides Hoffman, who was convicted of attempted arson during efforts to organize a Queens dry cleaning chain, the commutations were those of his secretary, Mrs. Pearl Spivack and Carl Gilmore, Negro prizefighter, convicted of slugging in a Binghampton strike.

Lehman Refused Clemency.

In Washington Former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman revealed that he had turned down requests for Hoffman's release before he was succeeded by Poletti on Dec. 3. He acknowledged that the case was one of those brought before him and that he took no action on it. "You can draw your own conclusions," he added.

At the Albany office of the parole board it was said that to complete its records it was now investigating Gilmore's record which includes a previous felony [a burglary conviction] in Jersey City and five misdemeanors, mostly petty larceny.

Gilmore, who Binghampton authorities charged was a strong arm man for the teamsters and chauffeurs' AFL local there, held no position of prominence in the union, comparable to that of Hoffman.

Barred from Union Job.

It was a result of the board's investigation of Hoffman that the order came thru from Parole Commissioner Sanford Bates ruling that "it would not be in the interest of the public or for the benefit of the parolee" for him to continue in his union job.

As soon as Hoffman was freed last month by Poletti after serving less than eight months of a four to eight years sentence, he stepped back into his former position as general manager of Cleaners and Dyers local 239, Amalgamated Clothing Workers, until the parole board barred him.

A possible clew to Poletti's future rôle in the Washington administration, where he now holds a civilian post in the war department, was seen in reports from one Albany source that he is being kept in readiness for the collapse of Italy in the war. In that event, according to some of Poletti's friends, the former governor would be sent to Italy as ambassador, goodwill emissary or personal representative of President Roosevelt.

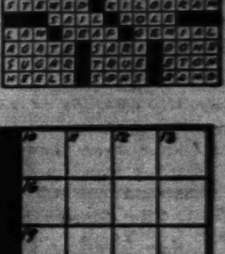
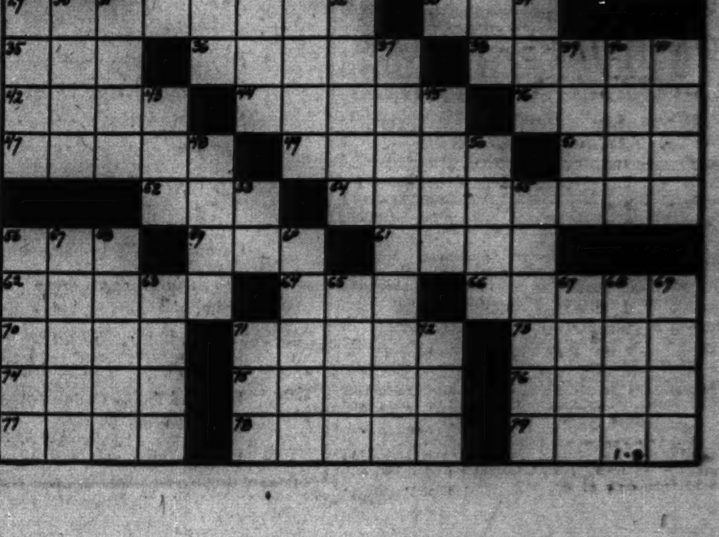
PUZZLE OF FRIDAY, JAN. 8, SOLVED





PREDICT EXPORT FOOD SHIFTS TO EASE SHORTAGES

Butter and Evaporated Milk Already Freed.

The vast supplies of food controled by the government for lend-lease shipment and military use may be tapped to relieve the acute shortages developing in various sections of the United States, spokesmen for the food industry in Chicago predicted yesterday.

Their prediction followed disclosures that war workers in certain areas, particularly on the east and west coasts, are going without such staples as meat and butter while warehouses in ports are bulging with supplies awaiting shipment to Great Britain and Russia.

Within the last few days the government has released evaporated milk and butter from the huge reserves which it owns or controls into civilian distribution channels.

Lend-Lease Official's View.

A federal official, connected with lend-lease activities in the Chicago region, said that in his opinion if food shortages increase supplies from lend-lease accumulations will be released to civilians. He predicted further that if domestic food scarcities become "intense," lend-lease purchases and shipments will be reduced to meet home needs.

The food industry has recommended diversion of government owned foodstuffs to meet shortages. It was observed that food which cannot be used for lend-lease or military purposes within a reasonable length of time could be distributed, then replaced at a later date.

Finds Faults in Federal Buying.

The industry advocates more planning in federal buying and earmarking of foodstuffs. It is charged that in many instances the lend-lease and, to a lesser extent, military agencies hurriedly accumulate supplies out of proportion to needs or ability to handle the supplies. The result, it is asserted, is impairment of production and distribution machinery, with consequent shortages in certain areas.

The Evaporated Milk association, Chicago, cited the example of the government's whipping the industry into peak production to supply evaporated milk to Great Britain. After the attack on Pearl Harbor, shipping space was needed badly for other supplies and dried milk supplanted evaporated milk because less space was required by the former. The association said that this left the evaporated milk industry keyed to a high pitch with no outlet for its production.

Huge Evaporated Milk Surplus.

To aid the industry, the government continued to buy the concentrated milk until by July of last year it had accumulated about 25 million cases of 48 cans each with a value of 80 million dollars. Recently 2 million cases were released to relieve shortages which had arisen from increased demand and the seasonal decline in milk production.

An official of the Evaporated Milk association said, however, it is doubtful if all 2 million cases would be purchased by the manufacturers to whom they were offered because during storage by the government some had spoiled. The government now holds about 17 million cases, having reduced its stocks thru lend-lease, military use and distribution at schools.

Free 2 Million Pounds of Butter.

The release of butter amounted to 2 million pounds from reserves frozen for federal use in November. When the government recently earmarked 30 per cent of production beginning Feb. 1 for its use, the action was criticized by members of the butter trade as "overshooting."

E. O. Pollock, administrator of the food distribution administration for the Great Lakes region, conferred in his Chicago headquarters yesterday with officials of the distribution divisions of the administration. The meeting will result in organization of state committees of federal and food trade representatives and, if needed, area committees.

REPORT CANADA CONDEMNS BEEF SEIZED FOR ARMY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 8.—Considerable quantities of beef which federal food authorities seized last week at the civic slaughter house here have been rejected by the Canadian army as unfit for consumption, it was reported today.

Seizure of the beef followed the recent Ottawa dictum that the war services must get "first call." The meat rejected for "staleness," it was said, had been held over from the Christmas season when there was little demand for beef. Fowl is the predominant Ontario dish at Christmas and New Year's.

Meanwhile, civilians generally have been unable to obtain beef in retail stores and there was strong indication tonight that beef would be added to the rationing list.

WINCHELL HOME ON CLIPPER FROM DUTY IN BRAZIL

Miami, Fla., Jan. 8 (AP).—Lt. Comm. Walter Winchell, radio commentator and newspaper columnist, returned here by Clipper last night from an official assignment which kept him in Brazil for several weeks.

Winchell declined to comment on the nature of his trip, saying merely it was a "tour of duty" with the navy, and that he would report to the commandant of the 7th naval district here for further orders.

Winchell helped dedicate a new radio station at Rio de Janeiro.

Action Demanded in House to Save U. S. Dairy Farmers

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8 (AP).—Representatives from rural areas vigorously demanded on the floor of the house today that congress or the administration act to protect dairy farmers and to save their herds from the meat market.

From both Republican and Democratic sides of the aisle came assertions that a shortage of farm labor, resulting from the demands of industry and the army and navy, was causing thousands of farm auctions and wholesale slaughter of dairy cows.

Joining in the appeals for help were Representatives Frances P. Bolton [R., O.], Daniel A. Reed [R., N. Y.], Edwin Hall [R., N. Y.], Jerry Voorhis [D., Cal.], Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.], and John E. Rankin [D., Miss.].

Hall waved an auction notice and declared that one would be posted on every dairy farm unless the farmers were supplied with man power and better prices. Voorhis urged a boost in prices to stimulate production.

Sabath Objects.

Rep. Adolph Sabath [D., Ill.] protested that farmers already were getting sharply increased prices, and argued that they were selling their herds because they were getting three times the normal price for their cows.

Rep. Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] inquired where Sabath acquired his dairy experience and where he pastured his cows—"In Chicago's city hall?"

The outburst ended only after Majority Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts took the floor and told of experiences of a marine officer who was wounded at Guadalcanal, and of his slim rations there.

54 Hour Week Urged.

Leaders of four national farm organizations later called upon congress to raise farm product prices and increase the present industrial work week to at least 54 hours, "eliminating any requirements for overtime payments."

The leaders, in a joint statement, asserted the nation faces acute food and fiber shortages and possibly actual hunger unless action is taken to increase labor supplies and provide farmers with higher prices to meet increasing production costs.

The leaders were Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation; Albert S. Goss, master of the National Grange; Charles C. Teague, president of the National Council of Farmers Coöperatives, and John Brandt, president of the National Coöperative Milk Producers federation.

Put It Up to President.

An official request to President Roosevelt to boost farm prices and release agricultural labor from military service is being considered by congressional farm spokesmen.

Senators John H. Bankhead [D., Ala.] and Elmer Thomas [D., Okla.] said preliminary efforts to reconcile differences between the administration and the farm bloc indicated that "the real decision is up to the President."

SHIPPING CRISIS CAUSES COFFEE PINCH FOR EAST

New York, Jan. 8 [Special].—Despite rationing, an acute shortage of coffee is developing here, it was learned today. Imports have declined sharply in recent weeks—notably so after the launching of the North African campaign with its demand on shipping—and since the first of the year no cargoes of any important size have been received, coffee roasters reported.

Total stocks in the country are now estimated at less than 1,000,000 bags, compared with normal annual consumption of about 14,000,000 bags, or enough to last about 30 days under ordinary conditions.

Rationing Helping.

By reason of rationing now in effect, this supply is probably sufficient for an additional 15 days, but because of uneven distribution thruout the trade, is certain to become unavailable in many areas.

Many coffee roasters already have begun to refuse further orders from grocers and are unable to honor ration stamp 27 now being presented by retailers seeking further supplies. The stamp, which ceased to have value for consumers on Jan. 3, should, in the normal course, be turned in to the suppliers for redemption by next Wednesday or it will no longer be valid. Both retailers and roasters are much concerned and have asked the office of price administration for some adjustment of regulations.

A number of roasters, unable to obtain supplies, have reached a point where they must soon liquidate their organizations, it was reported. Some have less than 10 days' supply on hand, and soon will be unable to provide any coffee for their retail outlets. The consumer, unless his favorite grocer is lucky, will suffer accordingly.

The situation might be eased temporarily if regulations covering maximum stocks which a roaster may hold is amended to reduce permitted inventories still further. The effect of such action, it is held, would be to spread total stocks thruout the trade, but the over-all shortage, of course, would remain.

REFUSES TO LIFT UNION'S BAN ON MILK DELIVERY

Judge John J. Lupe in Superior court yesterday refused to issue an injunction to restrain officers and members of local 753 of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union from interfering with the delivery of milk by the Borden company to Svend Nielsen's restaurant in the Ahlberg Bearing company plant at 3025 47th street. The company is engaged in war work.

Judge Lupe urged union officials to do everything possible to facilitate the delivery of milk to the restaurant.

The union won its fight on an open competition argument. It charged that the Ahlberg company in authorizing Nielsen to open a restaurant had specified that only the Borden company could deliver milk. The union asserted that such an arrangement infringed the rights of dairies to free competition, preventing all but the favored company to bid for Nielsen's business.

WICKARD'S FOOD PLAN BOGS DOWN; HELD INADEQUATE

Reorganization, Ordered Dec. 6, Still in Air.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—Critics of Claude R. Wickard, who opposed his appointment as food czar, today revealed he was exactly where they said he would wind up—in the midst of an embarrassing muddle over food production.

H. W. Parisius.

The planning for food production has been bogged down for a month because, according to persons close to the agricultural situation, of Wickard's indecision on the administrative reorganization of the department of agriculture's food production agencies.

Reorganization Ordered Dec. 6.

The reorganization was ordered Dec. 6 in President Roosevelt's designation of the secretary of agriculture as food administrator. The order directed the consolidation of the following agencies under H. W. Parisius, Wickard's director of food production:

The agricultural conservation and adjustment administration, the farm credit administration, the farm security administration, and part of the division of farm management and costs of the bureau of agricultural economics. The bureau is the production section of the office of agricultural war relations.

Even Wickard's critics conceded that consolidation of this bewildering array of agencies and the pooling of their funds, which the President also ordered, would be a tough job. But Parisius went to work and soon had a plan for the reorganization on Wickard's desk.

Plan Fails to Materialize.

But the reorganization wasn't announced. It's anybody's guess why not. Wickard's critics say the high officials couldn't agree on who was to get the big job plums in the reorganization.

Wickard hesitated and the food production program mired down, in the opinion of those acquainted with the farm problems.

It is reliably reported that there are other obstacles in the way of the reorganization, even if an agreement is reached on who gets the jobs. There is a lively dispute among the agricultural chiefs as to whether the production plans already made will be adequate.

Less Eating Predicted.

Many think the nation is going to do a great deal less eating unless the production of meat, milk, butter, eggs, fats, and canned goods is vastly increased. Advocates of greater production warn that there has been insufficient provision against a bad crop year and possible heavy demands for food supplies from War Relief Administrator Herbert Lehman.

Officials say that James F. Byrnes, director of economic stabilization, may have to step in unless Wickard acts promptly. The department of agriculture has been raising prices to stimulate production, but Byrnes is understood to favor a scientific production program instead of higher prices.

BRICKER BACKS ECONOMY IDEAS BY ECONOMIZING

Saves Ohio 75 Millions—and Gets the Votes.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Columbus, O., Jan. 8.—Gov. John W. Bricker in four years has transformed Ohio's 40 million dollar deficit into a surplus of 35 millions, a net gain of 75 million dollars, accomplishing this without new or increased taxes.

The governor, one of the possibilities for the Republican nomination for President in 1944, is a champion of local government as a fundamental of the American system. He says that to win the war conclusively is the task of all people and all branches of government, and that state and local governments can best promote the war by putting their financial houses in order to meet the demands of the war and prepare for the post-war period.

Bricker, who enters upon his third term Monday, is the first Republican elected to three consecutive terms as governor in Ohio's history. In the Nov. 3 election his majority was the largest ever given a governor in this state—377,338. He polled 61 per cent of all votes cast for that office.

Carried Entire Slate.

Ohio Republicans in November also elected 20 out of 23 congressmen, obtained control of the legislature, and swept the entire state ticket into office. It was the largest Ohio Republican landslide since 1928.

Gov. Bricker interprets the November G. O. P. sweeps in this and other states as due to resentment against arbitrary burocratic government.

"It was a revolt," he said, "against the arbitrary action on the part of so many government representatives, coördinators, agents, and the rest.

"Farmers want to run their farms the way they want to and not be told what they must plant. For more than 50 years we have taught farmers how to grow more and better crops, and the agricultural program of destruction and scarcity started the revolt."

Bricker's prospects for the 1944 Republican Presidential nomination were strengthened by the announcement last month of Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., O.] that he would support his fellow Ohioan's candidacy. Two years ago Bricker supported Taft.

Two Leading Assets.

Two of Gov. Bricker's outstanding assets most often cited as making him "available timber" are his career as a vote getter and his accomplishments in turning minus 40 million dollars into plus 35 million in four years with a complete absence of scandal and a high record of efficiency.

When Bricker took office in 1939 the state had unpaid bills of 2 million dollars and was in default to school districts for 18 millions, while 20 millions owed local governments from various excise taxes collected by the state were being spent in advance of collection. "Earmarking" of funds, leading to future spending, was the habit.

Bricker, soon after his inauguration, submitted a balanced, all-inclusive budget, and said to the legislature that Ohio must meet its obligations and operate within its income without new or increased taxes.

The practice of borrowing and spending against future tax collections was stopped, as was most of the earmarking. Nonessentials were given the ax. So were pay rolls. Within a few weeks 3,000 state employés had been dropped as "unnecessary."

Aids Local Governments.

"Ohio returns to local government a larger percentage of taxes than any other state," he said. "The state does not dictate the method of using it.

"As I said before the American Bar association last August, the task of winning the war is a task of all the people and all branches of government. In the face of a staggering national debt, we must win the battle for solvency and integrity against the lure of inflation on the one hand and repudiation on the other. State and local governments can win the first phase of that battle now. They can do it by putting their own financial houses in order."

The governor, a tall, husky man who works long hours at his job, is a grassroots Ohioan, born in 1893 on a farm near Mt. Sterling, 25 miles from the state capital. He spent his youth on his father's farm and entered Ohio State university in 1912.

In 1917 Bricker was commissioned a first lieutenant in the chaplain corps of the army and served until he was honorably discharged in December, 1918.

After the war, Bricker served on the utilities commission, as counsel, later as a member. He was elected twice as attorney general, each time getting the Republican nomination without opposition.

Bricker ran four times for governor, each time being given the Republican nomination without opposition. He lost in 1936, in the Roosevelt landslide. In 1938 he was elected by a majority of 118,000 and the Republican state ticket was swept in. In 1940, he won a second term with a majority of 364,467, a record in Ohio up to that time, and despite the fact that Roosevelt carried the state by 146,366.

On foreign policies and the question of what may occur at the peace table after the war is won, Gov. Bricker preserves silence:

"My job is to do the job I was elected to," he said.

THE QUESTION.

What has happened to the student in your class who it was predicted would become most successful?

WHERE ASKED.

Mather Tower, 75 East Wacker drive.

THE ANSWERS.

Lorraine Heintz, supervisor filing department, 2519 Winnemac avenue—A popular girl star athlete was selected in our class. We thought she'd make athletics her profession and become a great Olympian champ, but she didn't. She was a bank clerk until she joined the WAVES the other day.

Victor F. Peo, milk salesman, 4744 North Rockwell street—The student of our choice was an eloquent speaker and was interested in law. We all predicted a great future for him in that field; but he joined the army in the other World war and became interested in tanks and machines. Now he is president of one of the largest tractor companies.

Jackie La Flaur, model, Hotel Sherman—A girl in our class was chosen not only because she was so talented but because she was most popular and versatile. We all thought she'd be a great movie star. We were right. She is Peggy Moran of the movies and she has made quite a name for herself.

Mary O'Brien, office girl, 5259 Sunnyside avenue—We were all sure that the beautiful valedictorian in our class was going to be somebody great. She married one of her classmates, of whom nobody ever thought very much, and now she is no more important than he.

J. C. Woodley, president asphalt company, 616 Noyes street, Evanston—Twin boys took the limelight in our school. We were sure one would be President and the other Vice President of the United States. One is president of a big publishing company; the other is president of a grain elevator contracting company.

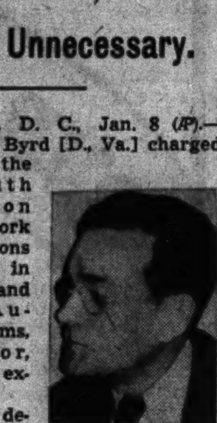
Tom D. Machures, manager flower shop, 6353 Broadway—The boy who was selected in our class had a political pull, I think. His father was a senator. All of us figured he'd follow in his father's footsteps. The son passed his bar exam to become a lawyer in a small town.

Perpetrator of Shipyard Bomb Hoax Gets Year

Newark, N. J., Jan. 8 (AP).—A year in prison and a $100 fine were the penalty imposed today on Bernard J. O'Donnell, 21 years old, who assembled a bomb in the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company's Kearny plant and then announced he had discovered it.

TRAINING UNITS OF NYA EXCEED TOTAL TRAINEES

Byrd Cites List; Brands Agency Unnecessary.



Aubrey Williams.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8 (AP).—Sen. Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] charged today that the national youth administration had more work training stations than trainees in some states and confronted Aubrey Williams, NYA director, with specific examples.

The NYA defines a work training station as the equipment, other than instructors, needed to teach one trainee to do a specific job. If the equipment is used to train one person, it is designated as one station and if used to train two persons it is known as two stations.

Sen. Byrd said at a hearing of the joint congressional economy committee which he heads that budget bureau figures show that 55,000 NYA work stations have been established in comparison with the 53,000 trainees who Williams said were taking work courses in October.

1,085 to 809 in Iowa.

He said that in Iowa the budget bureau reported there were 1,085 NYA work stations and 809 trainees. Statistics for other states included Delaware, 24 and 16; Rhode Island, 50 and 16; Maryland, 487 and 405; Wisconsin, 2,786 and 1,826; Kansas, 695 and 560; Wyoming, 190 and 64; California, 628 and 523; Oregon, 162 and 86, Washington state, 211 and 158.

Sen. Byrd contended the NYA was not essential at this time, but Williams said the current fiscal year appropriation of 50 million dollars should be increased and the law liberalized to permit greater use of NYA facilities. The appropriation for last fiscal year was 160 million dollars.

Sen. Kenneth McKellar [D., Tenn.] told Williams that from testimony given last year "I came to the conclusion that you were the fifth wheel on the wagon and not doing any good."

"You're doing something that we're paying half a dozen other agencies of government for doing, and I doubt if it helps the boys a particle," McKellar said.

Knows Arguments, Says Williams.

Williams said that only approximately 38,000 of the 55,000 work stations were in active use because of the reduced appropriation.

Williams told the committee he was familiar with all the arguments against his agency, including the one that it was depression-born and was not needed now. He said public schools were the product of depressions, too, and counseled against condemning the NYA.

"During the last decade it has taken a war or preparations for a war to bring full employment to all civilized nations of the world," he said.

He added that he believed widespread unemployment may recur at the end of the war unless provisions are made now.

He said opportunities for employment for young people have declined steadily for the last 50 years. Byrd asked whether that wasn't because more of them were going to high schools and colleges.

Reports 3 Million Out of School.

Williams replied that of 10 million boys and girls of high school age, more than 3 million were not in school and declared the reason 90 per cent of them were not was that their families couldn't afford to send them.

Rep. Robert Doughton [D., N. C.] said he thought most youngsters who did not go to school stayed away because they would rather work or didn't want to go to school.

Sen. Byrd told Williams the latter was trying to justify continued appropriations for his agency on conditions which do not exist today.

PROTEST LIMITING UNION MEETINGS TO 12 MEMBERS

A protest against the officers of local 1009 of the Hod Carriers' International union, AFL, for not holding membership meetings in a hall large enough to hold more than 12 members was sent yesterday to Peter Fosco, international representative of the union. There are 1,200 members in the union.

The protest was made in a letter sent by Slim Brundage, secretary of the council for union democracy. A previous protest by the council, that no meetings were being held at all, resulted in a ruling by Fosco that monthly meetings must be held. The letter states that since the ruling was made only one meeting has been held in a hall large enough to accommodate the membership.

A. F. O'Brill, secretary of local 1009, said when he learned the contents of Brundage's letter yesterday that the basement hall of the union will accommodate 100 persons. Arrangements have been made for the meeting scheduled for Jan. 13 to move to a larger hall near by if more than this number attend, he said.

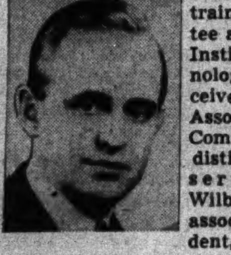
Those engaged in war work or about to be inducted by the army need not apply. Applications may be filed at room 1107, United States postoffice, or at any first or second class postoffice. PROF. JOHN I. YELLOTT WINS JUNIOR A. OF C. AWARD FOR SERVICE



Prof. J. I. Yellott.

Prof. John Ingle Yellott, director of mechanical engineering and chairman of the war training committee at the Illinois Institute of Technology, will receive the Junior Association of Commerce 1943 distinguished service award, Wilbur J. Peak, association president, announced yesterday. The award, made last year to the association's 35 members in the army and navy, will be presented at a banquet later this month.

A. M. Sprowles, chairman of the committee which selected Prof. Yellott, cited these accomplishments by him during 1942: Organized last March the first program to train women for specific technical war jobs; organized the first ordnance inspection school and produced 300 graduates before the Chicago Ordnance district asked that a school be begun; organized the first program to train white collar men for war jobs; formed a safety program so large that its 1,100 trainees numbered one-fourth of the national total; set up a signal corps "feeder" program; has been responsible for the training of more than 26,000 war technicians since December, 1941.

Prof. Yellott, 34 years old, has been mechanical engineering director at Illinois Institute since 1940. Previously, he was at the University of Rochester and the Stevens Institute of Technology.

WPB BANS PAPER ICE CREAM CUPS AND POKER CHIPS

Confetti, Books Also Curbed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—The war production board today prohibited the use of paper for manufacturing a large number of common items ranging from ice cream cups to poker chips and bird cage bottoms.

At the same time, other restrictions on the use of paper were ordered by WPB as follows:

1. A 35 per cent reduction for 1943 in the production of boxes used by retailers for packaging merchandise. This order prohibits the sale of empty boxes at retail and cuts out frills in holiday and gift boxes.

Fly Paper Curbed.

2. A 10 per cent cut for this year in paper used for facial tissues, napkins, envelopes, writing paper, fly paper, towels, dishes, plates, and spoons, ribbons, and waxed paper.

3. A limitation on the amount of paper used by book publishers to 90 per cent of the tonnage used by each publisher in 1942. Publishers were also ordered to reduce by 10 per cent the weight of paper for reprinted copies of books printed after today.

4. A limitation on paper used for commercial printing to 90 per cent of the amount used in 1941.

Some Types Unrestricted.

The WPB revised its quota system for the production of certain types of paper products to permit unrestricted output of certain items including cigaret paper, photographic paper, currency paper, cotain board made from waste paper, building board, sanitary napkins, and stencil and lense paper.

Items for which the use of paper is prohibited altogether include aprons, ash trays, doilies, bouquet-holders, finger bowl liners, shirt boards and collar protectors, costumes, hats, table decorations and place cards, streamers, confetti, table mats, punch boards, table cloths, venetian blinds, and window drapes.

The order restricting paper for packaging prohibits the making of boxes for butter, lard, and oleomargarine having a capacity of less than one pound. It limits ice cream cartons to one pint, one quart, 2½ gallon sizes, and larger. Boxes for packaging alcoholic beverages are ruled out altogether but no restrictions are placed on tobacco boxes.

AUTOISTS URGED TO FORM UNITS IN GROUP RIDING

Holders of A and B gasoline rationing books were urged to combine into units of four or five persons for group riding yesterday by Charles E. DeLeuw, co-administrator of the Chicago office of defense transportation. The ODT head pointed out that such a step not only would be patriotic in effecting a rubber saving, but would allow the ordinary motorist to use his car more frequently for driving other than to work.

"If you drive your automobile to work, make certain that there are four persons in it if at all possible," DeLeuw reiterated. "By stepping up the average load of each automobile to four persons, the wear and tear on passenger car tires can be reduced 75 or 80 per cent."

Office of civilian defense personnel will conduct a house to house campaign to organize group riding clubs, it was announced. Ralph H. Burke, OCD head, appointed seven divisional chairmen to carry out the latter program.

TOWN IN KANSAS IS BOMBED! ARMY BEG ITS PARDON

Reading, Kas., Jan. 8 (AP).—Residents of this tiny town in east-central Kansas, know the actualities of war. They were bombed—by mistake.

On a night practice recently, bombers from the Topeka air base mistook lights of the town for lights of the bombing range. Several bombs fell in or near the town.

No damage was reported, other than the craters left by the explosions.

Army officials assured the town it wouldn't happen again, but just to make certain, city officials are placing a red light atop the water tower.

U.S. CAMEL CORPS CAPTURES DESERT POST IN TUNISIA

French Aid Rout of 400 Italian Defenders.

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 8 (AP).—The capture by a French and American camel corps of Tanout Maller, a settlement 14 miles from Tiaret in the southern Tunisian desert near the Libyan frontier about 200 miles southwest of Tripoli, was announced today by a French military spokesman.

The desert corps, thrusting to the south of the main enemy line, attacked against heavy odds, the spokesman said, but put Tanout Maller's 400 Italian defenders to flight, killing about 250 of them.

South of the Fondouk-el Aouareb area, about 50 miles southwest of Sousse, axis forces made an attack with tank support, Gen. Henri Giraud's French headquarters reported, but were repulsed.

Increased patrol activity was reported south of Pont du Fahs, 30 miles south of Tunis, the French said.

Squeeze Axis on All Sides.

It now is apparent that the Germans and Italians are being squeezed from all sides—by the British 8th army in Libya, by the French in the south, and by the allied forces in Tunisia—and they now control only a comparatively narrow strip along the coast from Tripoli south, then leading northwest toward Tunis and Bizerte.

[British headquarters in Cairo announced during the day that allied planes attacking Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Libyan army in its retreat to the west had machine gunned his transport along a stretch of coastal road only 40 miles short of Tripoli.]

There was limited air activity. American planes attacked Kairouan, the inland Tunisian traffic junction thru which the Nazis have been trying to supply their forward troops, and the axis held port of Gabes.

Allies Lose Three Planes.

The RAF reported that its forward anti-aircraft guns shot down four German planes raiding allied airdromes yesterday, and that another German plane was destroyed last night.

The British lost two planes and the Americans one in escorting the bombers that attacked Gabes.

A new British bomber, the twin engine Bixley, was mentioned for the first time on the front. The Bixleys bombed the docks at Tunis Wednesday night.

[The Bixley is an improved type of the Bristol Blenheim bomber, which it resembles. It is powered by Mercury air cooled radial engines. Other specifications are military secrets.]

Yanks Bomb Palermo.

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 8 (AP).—Palermo, the big axis air base in Sicily and the mainspring of the German and Italian air effort in Tunisia, was subjected to a heavy and destructive bombing by American four-motored planes by daylight yesterday.

A great yellow explosion mushroomed up from the harbor installations, an American communique said, but otherwise the results could not be observed because of clouds low over the area. All the raiding force returned safely.

RAF planes also attacked sulphur factories at Licata on the southern coast of Sicily, causing violent explosions, and raided an airfield on the tiny island of Lampedusa, midway between Malta and Tunisia.

Claim Four Ships Sunk.

BERLIN, Jan. 8 [from German broadcasts] (AP).—A single German submarine sank an allied sub-chaser and torpedoed a large sized freighter in the Mediterranean near Algiers yesterday, the high command reported today. During the night German fighter bombers were said to have sunk two merchant vessels totaling 16,000 tons from an allied convoy off Bougie.

BRITISH LEFTIST PAPER DISCOUNTS CLAIMS OF REDS

LONDON, Jan. 8 (AP).—The Tribune, left wing British weekly, which has most vigorously espoused Russia, today analyzed the Russian claims of materiel captured in the past six weeks and concluded that "the Russian figures must be taken as an impressionist, rather than as the realist, form of conveying information."

The Tribune said the Russians claimed to have captured 5,800 German guns and 3,200 tanks in the Stalingrad, middle Don, and Kotelnikovo counteroffensives and said, "These figures are extraordinarily high by any comparison."

The paper pointed out that at Dunkirk the British lost only about 1,000 guns and in the Moscow counteroffensive last year the Russians claimed the capture or destruction of only 2,700 tanks and 4,800 guns in five weeks.

HEAR JAPS AND SOVIETS PARLEY ON FISHING PACT

BERLIN, Jan. 8 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—A Tokio dispatch reported that Tomokazu Hori, Japanese government spokesman, said today that discussions were under way with the soviet government for a new Russian-Japanese fisheries agreement. The old pact, extended thru last year, expired last month.

[Last year the two governments negotiated for three months before reaching an agreement for the 1942 extension of the pact which permits Japanese to fish in some waters off the Siberian coast.]

GEN. HURLEY LEAVES CAIRO.

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 8 [AP].—Brig. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, on a special mission to the middle east theater of war, left Cairo today after a three day stay here en route from Russia. He conferred here with American and British commanders.

New Force Strikes Toward Tripoli

(Story in adjoining column.)

This German tank was said to have been knocked out of action during recent heavy fighting in northeast Tunisia. It is resting by a roadside near Mateur, in the vicinity of Jebel Azzag, where British troops captured a strategic position on Jan. 5, but retired from it Jan. 7.

BRITISH ACCUSE U.S. IN N. AFRICA NEWS BLACKOUT

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Jan. 8.—Early enthusiasm over Lt. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's expedition in North Africa has dwindled with the stalemate in fighting and now is yielding to misgiving and anxiety. Altho no one seems to fear that the expedition will not drive the axis out of Africa, there is concern lest it take so long that the allied timetable for 1943 will be upset.

Chief cause of the deep-seated dissatisfaction with the North African campaign springs from an almost complete black-out of reliable news from the African theater of operations. This leaves the public dependent mainly upon axis broadcasts to fill the gaps in the disjointed scraps of news which the American censors permit correspondents on the scene to report to their newspapers.

Papers Lash Censorship.

This censorship policy was the subject of a concerted attack in this week's issues of the Spectator, Time and Tide, and the New Statesman and Nation.

The weekly newspapers said suppression of the true picture of what is happening in North Africa not only adds to public uneasiness over the situation but also is endangering British-American relations.

The Spectator said:

"There has been altogether too much concealment about certain matters. The mystery of [Adm. Jean] Darlan's assassination remains a mystery; so does the series of arrests ordered by [Gen. Henri] Giraud as soon as he had become high commissioner. In this country we have suffered particularly from the lack of information for, since the North African enterprise is under an American commander in chief, the censorship is purely American and it has been exercised with a rigor which is unusual in the case of British armies in the field. There are signs of some relaxation now and they are welcome. Meanwhile, the broadcasters, who seem to have been permitted more freedom than the correspondents, are saying a great deal that is badly needed to be said."

Lack of Successes Cited.

The Statesman and Nation declared:

"The mistakenly cautious American censorship in Algiers has emasculated correspondents' comments about a setup on which the British no less than the American army depends."

Thru this censorship, the magazine complained, the British public, "disquieted by the absence of a military success in Tunisia," has had to rely on a "curious patchwork" of incomplete and often contradictory news.

Time and Tide said:

"More news must come from Africa, where a more than usually incompetent censorship is breaking the hearts of men who understand the situation only too well and who are driven to desperation to the second best of private letters. More frankness must be shown to inquirers in this country if mischief makers are to be kept harmless and, above all, full liberty must be given to American correspondents here to tell fully the reactions to the present crisis of the British people."

1ST YANK PILOTS IN TUNISIA STILL HIT NAZIS HARD

Hinsdale Flyer Tells of Their Experiences.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AN ADVANCED U. S. AIRFIELD IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 6.—[Delayed.]—No praise is too high for the young men flying American Lightning fighters from this primitive landing field to attack Tunis and Bizerte, or to join the daily harassing raids over the axis ports of Sousse, Sfax, and Gabes.

The pilots of German Messerschmitt 109s and the Focke-Wulf 190s have developed a great respect for these twin engined fighters, with their cannons and 50 caliber machine guns and their hard fighting flyers who ask no quarter.

Our pilots also have a healthy respect for the enemy fighters, but believe that with an even chance they can beat the enemy.

More Planes Arrive.

Since the first American fighters arrived here on Nov. 20, two squadrons have borne the brunt of the fighting. Now many more Lightnings are here, and since Christmas our Warhawks have been striking the enemy hard, too.

The two original squadrons, whose pilots were flying on three or four missions a day from Nov. 20 to New Year's day, accounted for the large number of axis planes destroyed.

"In addition we knock out tanks, strafe troops and truck columns, shoot up railroad marshaling yards and warehouses, and even strafe ships," said Capt. Mark Morne of Hinsdale, Ill., who is in charge of operations and complains because he doesn't get much flying time.

Tells of Pilot's Escape.

"The other day Capt. Andrew Jackson Bing, a southerner, was shot down near Kairouan. He crash landed between the lines during a battle and saw two groups of soldiers rushing toward each other. He picked out the one he thought to be French and ran that way, hiding in some bushes until they arrived—and happily found that they were French.

"One day three 190s came over the field. Two of our ships were in the air and took out after them while two more scrambled up from the field. Our boys shot down two. The week before we got two JU-88s near the field before they could unload their bombs."

RED JUGGERNAUT SMASHES CLOSER TO VITAL ROSTOV

Russians Only 60 Miles from Key to Caucasus.

LONDON, Jan. 9 [Saturday.] (AP).—Russian troops smashing along the 138 lower Don river and rolling up the vulnerable Nazi salient deep in the Caucasus captured more than a score of villages and railway points yesterday, including Zimovniki, 125 miles southwest of Stalingrad, two soviet communiques announced early today. Meanwhile, Stalingrad began its 138th day of siege.

A special bulletin broadcast by Moscow and heard by the soviet monitor said Zimovniki, 30 miles beyond Kotelnikovo on the Stalingrad-Tikhoretsk railway, fell after a stubborn fight.

The midnight communique said 20 settlements and railway stations fell to other Russian troops pushing westward along the Don valley and northward from the Caucasus.

Only 60 Miles from Rostov.

The Russians now were believed to be less than 60 miles from Rostov, at the mouth of the Don, after capturing Strakhov and pushing directly westward toward the Nazi communications hub whose capture would cut off huge Nazi forces retreating in the Caucasus.

Ten more populated places fell to the Russians in the lower Don valley yesterday, the midnight communique said, and an equal number of points were taken in the Caucasus.

Among the latter points was Nikolskoye, 45 miles northeast of Georgievsk, on the Baku-Rostov railway. Its capture represented an 18 mile advance since Thursday, when one Red column occupied Stepnoye, to the southeast. Also captured was the rail station of Zolsky, only 10 miles from Georgievsk.

Chide Nazis About Retreat.

Russian Caucasian troops were harrying the retreating Germans relentlessly, sending tanks and mobile infantrymen around the Nazi flanks to attack from the rear. In one such attack 400 Germans were slain yesterday, the communique said.

The soviets officially chided Berlin for the German radio's admission on Thursday night that Nazi troops in the Caucasus were withdrawing and "shortening" their lines.

The communique said it was "common knowledge" that in a few days in that sector the Red army "advanced between 68 and 88 miles," capturing large quantities of equipment and many prisoners. The Germans used the same "shortening of line" announcement during last winter's Russian offensive, the communique said, and are doing it again in an effort to conceal from the German people the true status of their armies in Russia.

German troops along the lower Don were admitted by the Russians to be putting up a more determined resistance in an effort to keep the Red army from Rostov.

On the central front, northwest of Moscow, the communique said the Russians still were consolidating positions in the captured Veliki Luki area, while others beat off enemy counter-attacks.

Russian troops were said to have seized more Nazi blockhouses in the factory area of Stalingrad yesterday.

REDS REPULSED: NAZIS.

The Germans yesterday said they had repulsed the Russians in "heavy but successful defensive fighting" in the central Caucasus, in the areas of the Don and northwest of Stalingrad, and on the Lake Ilmen front in the northwest.

The British radio said the Germans had evacuated the Russian civilian population of Rzhev, a stronghold on the upper Volga 130 miles northwest of Moscow, as a "precautionary measure." The Russians have virtually surrounded Rzhev.

BRITISH ROUT 4 NAZI ATTACKS ON RUSSIAN CONVOY

Destroyers Fight Superior Force; Save All Ships.

LONDON, Jan. 8 (AP).—British destroyers four times fought off a superior German force, including a pocket battleship, in the Arctic dark north of Norway and then shepherded their convoy safely and intact to north Russia after a stronger squadron joined the defense and routed the Nazi men-o'-war, the admiralty announced today.

The 1,350 ton destroyer flotilla leader Achates was lost and the new destroyer Onslow was damaged, but the merchant ships, loaded with "important military supplies" for Russia, reached their destination without loss or damage, the communique said.

Nazi Destroyer Sunk.

A German destroyer of the Maas class was sunk and one of the larger ships was damaged, it said. These losses were announced Dec. 31 when the battle still was raging. The admiralty said then that a heavy German cruiser had been damaged so badly it retired. The fact that the announcement today said "one of the larger ships" was damaged suggested it might have been the 10,000 ton pocket battleship.

The Germans acknowledged the loss of a destroyer on Jan. 2 and said an allied destroyer was sunk, several cruisers and destroyers were damaged by gunfire and that torpedoes hit four merchant ships.

Hazards Defeated by Convoy.

The admiralty said the successful convoy passage was made "in spite of almost continual darkness, extreme cold, and navigational hazards due to ice and low visibility, and interference from the enemy."

The admiralty said the first contact with the enemy was made on the morning of Dec. 31 off North Cape, at the extreme tip of Norway. Beside the pocket battleship—probably either the Luetzow or Admiral Scheer—the German force included a cruiser and "a number of destroyers."

Capt. R. St. V. Sherbrooke in the Onslow led the destroyers into the attack "and closed on the enemy with great gallantry," the admiralty said.

Battle for Two Hours.

"In the semi-darkness and with visibility further reduced by frequent snowstorms, the contact was fleeting and intermittent. The fighting continued for about two hours.

"By resolute and skilful handling of this small force of destroyers, he succeeded in driving off four attempts by strong enemy forces to destroy this convoy.

"More powerful forces then arrived in support and engaged the enemy, who escaped in low visibility and returned in high speed to the safety of their bases on the Norwegian coast."

MOROCCO GROWS RICHER, BUT ASKS MORE U. S. HELP

Needs Cloth, Medicine and Machinery, Pasha Says.

Marrakech, French Morocco, Dec. 26 [Delayed]—(AP).—The people of French Morocco already are benefiting from American products altho the country was occupied less than two months ago. But they still need "machinery, cotton goods, and medicines—most of all medicines," said the strongest pasha of the land.

At tea in the splendor of his palace in this old story-book city which the one-time fierce fighting men of the Atlas mountains, the fertile plains, and the desert still consider the capital, Haj Thami Glaoui If Mezouari spoke these words at about the same time the axis radio was broadcasting that he was leading his strong tribes against the Americans.

In power when the French took over about 30 years ago, he is second to the sultan in Morocco, holding the allegiance of even those chieftains who do not recognize Sultan Sidi Mohammed.

Chieftains Fête Party.

During a four day tour from Rabat, the Europeanized capital of French Morocco, to the tribal headquarters in the foothills of the snow capped Atlas mountains, an American press party, conducted by French officials, was shown the system of rationing, the scant supplies of cotton cloth, sugar, candles, and soap.

The newspapermen were received, entertained, and fêted most hospitably. The tribal chieftains apparently sought to outdo each other, the biggest feast ending with a virtual spray of perfume while censers filled the air with an aroma of burning sandalwood.

In the main room of the pasha's palace, which is richly furnished with silver, divans, pillows, oriental rugs, and Moorish tile, the pasha sipped hot mint tea and refreshing milk of almonds with his guests and expressed his deepest pleasure that now Morocco and France were fighting together with the allies.

Get U. S. Gas and Oil.

The nation's virtually stalled administrative machinery has been revitalized, with officials able to get around on American gasoline and the fishing fleets are at sea once more, thanks to the oil supplied by the United States army.

More fuel is needed as soon as possible, the pasha said, to operate the farming and mining machinery already in the country as the agricultural and mineral industries need to be developed. Morocco's minerals include iron ore, graphite, phosphate, manganese, and copper. Citrus fruits, olives, grains, nuts, and sheep are the principal agricultural products.

In regard to food, Morocco is a land of plenty. By all previous standards the natives apparently have more money than ever before, but they can't buy such simple needs as sugar and clothes—which virtually are nothing but cotton cloth—and candles.

Use Camels to Plow.

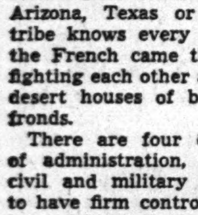
Despite her crude agricultural methods—camels still draw wooden plows in most places—Morocco supplies enough grain for her own needs.

Altho Morocco is a vast, sparsely settled land not unlike New Mexico, Arizona, Texas or Colorado, every tribe knows every other, for before the French came they were usually fighting each other and burning their desert houses of bamboo and palm fronds.

There are four different systems of administration, but the French civil and military authorities seem to have firm control. First there is law within tribes as interpreted by elders. Then tribal law is administered by caids and pashas. Next, there is religious law thru the sultan, and finally military and civil regulations enforced by the French whether the tribes are loyal to the sultan or not.

2 CHICAGOANS DRIFT 15 DAYS AFTER SINKING

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 8.—The navy announced today that six survivors of a United States merchant vessel, torpedoed in mid-Atlantic, were landed here Christmas eve after drifting 15 days in an open lifeboat with scant rations. They are the only members of the crew of 58 known to have reached safety.



Bernard Patock.

Seventeen men were in the boat with the six who reached Philadelphia. A log kept by Herman Otto Fischer, seaman second class, of 1543 North Keeler avenue, Chicago, one of the six, told of mountainous waves which upset the little lifeboat twice in less than an hour. Only nine men remained after it was righted the second time. Three died later. Among the others rescued were Bernard R. Patock, 26 years old, wiper, of 2232 Southport avenue, Chicago.

The sinking was the 584th in the western Atlantic area since Pearl Harbor, according to an unofficial tabulation by the Associated Press. The attacks have cost the lives of 3,788 persons, 2,458 are missing, and 1,597 have been rescued.

RECUPERATING IN CHICAGO.

Bernard R. Patock, 2232 Southport avenue, one of the survivors of an Atlantic ship torpedoing, arrived home in Chicago unheralded New Year's day, his legs lame from exposure. Daily walks, ordered by navy physicians, are slowly erasing the limp. His mother, Mrs. Mary Patock, said he expects to return to sea as soon as possible.

India Gets Too Much Money, Too Few Goods—and Headache

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW DELHI, India, Jan. 8.—The war has thrown the whole economic machinery of India and the entire middle east out of gear. The cost of living has about doubled here since the beginning of the war, and the volume of currency, I am informed, has nearly trebled. Along with prices, wages are rising, too, but as usual everywhere, there is a considerable lag between the two. Salaried persons complain of their difficulties.

Imported manufactured articles naturally are scarce. The most annoying is matches, which at the moment are almost unobtainable here. Shortages are due to the diversion of manufacturing facilities everywhere to war purposes, and a lack of shipping space to bring articles to India.

In addition, in various parts of India, it is difficult to obtain the necessities, such as grain, which is the basis of the average Indian's nourishment, and cheap cotton cloth. The price for the latter is double the prewar price.

Price Controls Fail.

Cries have been raised against hoarders and profiteers. So, the government of India has created elaborate machinery for controling prices and assuring an equitable distribution of goods. It has not succeeded so far.

Some critics assert that officials fail to show proper energy in dealing with profiteers, and there exists a suspicion, common among eastern peoples, that high circles are cornering markets on extremely good terms. But I have seen no melodramatic demands, as in the Egyptian press, that convicted profiteers be publicly whipped.

One obvious reason for the ineffectiveness of economic controls is the complexity of the governmental machinery, which reminds an American that he comes from a country with 49 different administrations, some of which frequently are in conflict. In India, the latitude allowed the various provincial governments results in a lack of uniformity of economic regulations. Each one tends to think only of its own province or district, with no regard for the country as a whole.

Like France of Old.

Consequently, one province may forbid the export of its surplus stocks, and actually have more grain than is needed, while the province next door is suffering from a scarcity. It is a system like that of France before the 1789 revolution, when famines were made worse by the excessive local autonomy, and the people of Bordeaux had plenty while the people of Paris were starving.

The situation here is not improved by the conviction of the military occupying authorities, including Americans, that they are being fleeced by the local inhabitants. This belief is held even by some British civilians.

It is true, of course, that the soldier pays high prices for his amusements and sundries. Small business people undoubtedly try to chisel the last penny out of him.

Majority in Distress.

In this way, some proportion of the local population undoubtedly is benefiting from the war. The rest, the overwhelming majority, is distressed by the phenomena of scarcities of goods, high prices, and mounting volume of currency.

Voluntarily or involuntarily, the Indians are making their contribution to the war in their increased burden of living.

PHILLIPS ARRIVES AS PRESIDENT'S ENVOY TO INDIA

Silent on His Share in Ending Deadlock.

NEW DELHI, India, Jan. 8 (AP).—William Phillips, former United States ambassador to Rome, arrived here today by air from Karachi as President Roosevelt's personal envoy to India, and said that he hoped to see representatives of all her political parties during an extensive tour of the country.

He avoided answering a newspaper man's question: "How do you intend to see those who are detained in jail?" Neither did he reply to a question of whether he sought a formula to end the deadlock on the Indian problem. He said that, besides studying India, he had the job of coördinating American civil activities in the country.

Guest of Viceroy.

Phillips was driven to the home of the viceroy, where he will be a guest.

The text of a statement which Phillips read at a press conference included:

"Never before have I visited this vast country, but my association of almost 40 years with the department of state has given me an intense interest in India and her people.

"I have come to study and learn as much as I can of India today and the India of the future which has such an important rôle to play in world affairs. I shall report my findings to Washington.

Says Victory Assured.

"We Americans, together with the people of the allied nations, are determined to carry on the war to final victory. That victory is now assured. Our troops are proud to be associated with the magnificent soldiers of India.

"We have much to learn from one another, Americans from Indians and Indians from Americans, and I am confident that I shall find here the friendly guidance so necessary to help me understand, coöperate, and thus fulfill my mission for the President."

LONDON FINDS REBUILT AREAS FILL RAPIDLY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 8.—The return of evacuees to London rapidly is filling up even the most ravaged parts of the city. In the suburbs agents long have displayed notices, "No Houses for Rent." Now, says Mayor A. C. Starr of the heavily bombed Bermondsey district of southeast London, there are more applicants than houses available.

When the Bermondsey council distributed parcels from the United States and Canada to old people in the borough for Christmas and New Year's, Starr said he was amazed to find 2,000 recipients, almost equal to the residents before the war.

BRITISH RAID FRANCE AFTER NIGHT ATTACK AGAINST GERMAN RUHR

LONDON, Jan. 8 (AP).—Large formations of fighter planes streaked across the cannel in almost continual attacks on France today in what apparently was a large-scale daylight followup to another night bombing of Germany's Ruhr. Most of the daylight assaults appeared directed at the Calais area.

The air ministry, announcing the night assault on the Ruhr without detail, said all the attacking force returned safely. The specific targets were not announced. This was the third attack of the year on the Ruhr.

Meanwhile seven German planes dropped light bombs on a southwestern coastal town today. Four Spitfires broke up the attack.

REPORTS JAPAN IMPROVES FORTS ON CORREGIDOR

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

BERNE, Switzerland, Jan. 8.—Japan is converting Corregidor Island into the strongest military bastion between Pearl Harbor and Gibraltar, says a special dispatch to the Deutsch Allgemeine Zeitung from Manila.

The correspondent was afforded exceptional accommodations for inspecting Japanese undertakings on the island, and claims he was permitted to use one of Gen. MacArthur's military cars, now piloted by two of the general's former drivers interned on the island.

Corregidor, asserts the German writer, was more strongly fortified than Singapore. The Japanese, says this German, had no illusions as to the strategic importance of Manila's outpost. Aerial photographs taken by the Japanese shortly after the war broke out, says the correspondent, showed that Corregidor would prove the strongest obstacle in their path of conquest this side of the international date line.

ITALY BANS FILM OF POPE'S LIFE; 'TOO PACIFISTIC'

BERNE, Switzerland, Jan. 8 (AP).—A Rome dispatch to the Basler Nachrichten said today Fascist authorities had withdrawn the film "Pastor Angelicus," showing the life of Pope Pius XII. before his coronation as well as his average working day during the war, apparently because it was considered too pacifistic.

The film had its première last Dec. 18. It was planned to exhibit it for several months in theaters thruout Italy and later in Catholic countries thruout the world. The film "did not live up to expectations," the newspaper's correspondent said. He quoted Fascist circles as declaring it had a pacifistic tendency and therefore was regarded as "not timely."

AMERICAN SUBS BLAST 150 JAP SHIPS, SAYS NAVY

70 Pct. Sunk; Only 5 U. S. Undersea Craft Lost.

New York, Jan. 8 (AP).—American submarines are taking a heavy toll of enemy shipping in the war, the navy announced today, but the total of ships destroyed undoubtedly is much larger than has been revealed.

The publicly announced figures were given as 150 Japanese ships listed by the navy as hit, with 70 per cent sunk and the balance sunk or damaged.

Against that record, only five United States submarines have been reported lost, the navy said. The Sea Lion was destroyed at Cavite navy yard in the Philippines, the old S-26 was lost in a collision off Panama, and the Shark, Perch, and Grunion were listed as "overdue and presumably lost."

How Destroyer Was Sunk.

The navy quoted a bare department communique: "United States submarines have reported the following results of operations against the enemy in far eastern waters—a destroyer sunk."

Then this story of the operation was told:

"On the bridge of a United States submarine, a few weeks before this communique came from the navy department's press section, the officer of the deck chatted with one of his lookouts.

"Kelly, what do you make of it?" he asked.

"Cat's Eyes" Finds the Foe.

"Looks like the topworks of a destroyer, sir."

"I can't see it, but I'll take your word for it. How you can see a 'can' tonight is beyond me."

"Kelly's last name was Anastasia. His other nickname was 'Cat's Eyes.' Tho his vision in the daytime was somewhat on the myopic side, at night this little lookout was without an equal."

The zigzagging Jap destroyer headed toward the patroling United States submarine, which dived and watched the enemy vessel.

"Looks like a setup," said the skipper. "She'll never know what hit her."

The captain jockeyed the craft into position. "Fire one," he said. "Fire two."

Two Blasts Rip Jap Ship.

A pair of tremendous torpedo explosions lifted the Jap warship, ripped her hull, and sent her down in the moonlight.

Aboard the submarine—Lt. Com. Theodore C. Aylward, U. S. N., commanding—there was jubilation. This sinking, it was learned later, meant a navy cross for the skipper, a soft-spoken Kentuckian from Ft. Thomas. It also meant promotions for four of the crew and a line in the department's communique.

CHINESE RETAKE ANHWEI CAPITAL FROM JAPANESE

CHUNGKING, China, Jan. 8 (AP).—The Chinese command announced tonight the recapture of Lihuang, provisional capital of Anhwei province, and said that 1,000 Japanese were killed and wounded in the fighting and others were cut off northwest of the city. The Japanese occupied Lihuang earlier this week in a drive which carried thru the town and on to the north.

There, in the vicinity of Yehchiachi, the enemy column was stopped by Chinese defense forces, a communique said. Meanwhile, it added, other Chinese troops closed in behind the column, cutting off the Japanese road of retreat and winning back Lihuang yesterday noon in fierce fighting. The communique said the isolated Japanese column was trying to fight its way out to the northwest.

The Chinese announced that the Japanese had occupied Shancheng, in southeastern Honan, Tuesday night, but said fighting continued in the suburbs.

ENGINEER SHOWS FLYERS HOW TO PUT OUT A FIRE

AN ADVANCED U. S. AIRBASE IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 6 [delayed]—(AP).—American fighter pilots who usually use every opportunity to disparage ground troops dropped their guards the other day and conceded that 1st Lt. Robert Parker of the engineers has "got everything it takes."

The gasoline and ammunition dump on this makeshift fighter airdrome was blazing fiercely after a German raid. Shells were exploding and gunners were preparing to fire a 37 mm. gun at the fire in an effort to cause an explosion that would extinguish the flames. Then Parker intervened.

The youthful engineer calmly started a big bulldozer used for leveling the runways. He lowered the blade into the dirt and charged at the blazing dump. The daring gamble worked. The fire was smothered as the earth was pushed ahead, and the bulldozer rolled over the dump. Parker escaped injury.

CHICAGO AIRMAN IN AFRICA WINS DFC FOR HEROISM

Among 49 Decorated by Gen. Brereton.

CAIRO, Jan. 8 (AP).—On windswept desert air fields strewn with the wreckage of axis planes, 49 additional American air force members received the distinguished flying cross today from Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton, commander of United States air forces in the middle east.

Lt. Frederic E. Whitker of Bowling Green, O., got a special citation for bringing home a badly damaged medium bomber from a raid in October after he was wounded in the leg.

Enemy anti-aircraft fire hit Whitker and killed his bombardier. His plane burst into flames as he made a forced landing, but he helped extinguish the blaze. Whitker also received the Purple Heart, for his wound.

Chicagoan on List.

Among those decorated was 1st Lt. Harvey S. Tamon of Chicago. Others from the middle west were:

Maj. William W. Wilcox, Oskaloosa, Ia.; Maj. Gordon E. Ahil, Wapella, Ill.; Capt. Virgil Ingram Jr., Greenville, Ind.; Capt. R. G. Bert Barnum, Lake City, Mich.; 1st Lt. Albert Zipser, Milwaukee, Wis.; 1st Lt. Donald E. Mathews, Pontiac, Mich., and Sergt. Cecil G. Barnes, Gravity, Ia.

MacArthur Decorates Three.

ALLIED HDQ. IN AUSTRALIA, Friday, Jan. 8—(AP).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur today awarded the distinguished service cross to three enlisted men of the United States army for "heroism in New Guinea when Japanese planes bombed and strafed several small American boats proceeding along the coast Nov. 16."

The men receiving the decoration were Staff Sergt. John R. MacGowan, Clinton, Wis.; Corp. Gordon C. Snyder, Detroit, Mich., and Sergt. Howard J. Weiss, Edgerton, Wis.

When enemy planes attacked and set fire to several small boats carrying personnel and supplies, the citation said, MacGowan, Weiss, and Snyder, with other men, "volunteered to man a lifeboat and go to the rescue of the survivors. Despite repeated bombing and strafing by enemy planes and danger from explosions of ammunition which threw flaming débris in all directions, each made two trips to the burning ships."

Four in Navy Honored.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8 (AP).—Three navy officers and one enlisted man have been awarded decorations by President Roosevelt for heroism in action.

They were: Lt. Leonard E. Ewoldt, 29, of Coronado, Cal.; Ensign Harry Wood, 25, of Coronado, son of William Wood of Noble, Ill.; Lt. Hoyt D. Mann, 30, of Roanoke, Ala., and Glen F. Slipsager, 31, pharmacist mate first class, of Houston, Mo. Lt. Wood is listed as missing in action.

NAZIS LEVY 500 MILLION FRANCS A DAY ON FRANCE

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

BERNE, Switzerland, Jan. 8.—An additional 100 million francs daily is understood to be the German claim on France for the cost of total occupation. This raises the total to 500 million francs a day.

During the late Adm. Jean Darlan's tenure of office in Vichy it was represented that the armistice total of 400 million francs had been reduced to 300 million. But the truth came out that this was a play on words—the Germans received 300 millions in French francs and the remainder in foreign currency, which obviously cost the French much more.

French finances can scarcely bear this additional burden. Inflation is the only resort—in reality it began months ago. The inescapable fact is that Vichy is bankrupt, however much it may juggle with figures. France has no foreign trade except with the axis and virtually no revenues from customs. Industrially its production is destined almost entirely to supply German demands. Today the French franc has no real value.

Syrian Premier Resigns, Says French News Agency

LONDON, Jan. 8 (AP).—The Damascus correspondent of the independent French news agency tonight said Prime Minister Nusni Bey Berazi of Syria had submitted his resignation to President Sheik Tajjedine el Hassani. The outgoing premier took office last April. The correspondent said he would be succeeded by Djemil Ulcmi, who headed the government in 1920, and that the cabinet otherwise would remain unchanged.

Tunisia Air Score: 344 Axis Planes Downed; 147 Allied

LONDON, Jan. 9 [Saturday] (AP).—The total air score in Tunisia for the first two months of the campaign stands at 344 axis planes destroyed against 147 allied planes lost, a Reuters news agency dispatch from allied headquarters in North Africa reported early today. The dispatch said that 150 axis planes were shot down by the R. A. F., 140 by the United States army air force, 20 by anti-aircraft fire, and 34 at night by undisclosed means.

JAP PRISONERS FALL FOR OWN FUNNY MONEY

Joe Doakes, Hamstrung Harry, Willie the Weeper, Ivan Awfulitch, and sundry other Japanese prisoners on Guadalcanal will learn eventually that the funny money used by their country isn't so funny after all.

The prisoners were eager conspirators in a marine plot of high finance, described in Chicago yesterday by Lt. Col. J. J. Gannon, who has returned from Guadalcanal.

Captured with a number of Jap prisoners in an engagament was a bulky safe containing thousands of dollars of crude imitation shilling notes evidently used by Japs in paying laborers, Col. Gannon said.

The notes were about to be thrown away, he said, when Capt. Mike Davidovich, who was in charge of prisoners, intervened. Capt. Davidovich had the prisoners lined up before his tent, and thru his interpreter announced that every man would have his salary doubled and exceptional work would be rewarded with raises. Buck tooth grins and sweeping bows, Gannon said, attested that the captain's plan had struck home.

Prisoners were given English names, such as Hamstrung Harry, to keep the pay roll straight. Spurred by the thumping wages they were willing to work on a 24 hour basis, Col. Gannon related.

"On pay day, their pockets bulging with phoney currency, the Japs felt that dying for the Rising Sun was never like this," the colonel said.

URGES SPEEDIER ARMY DISCHARGE FOR MEN OVER 38

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8 (AP).—Rep. George H. Bender [R., O.] today urged the army to adopt new regulations governing the release of men over 38 years old.

"Under present regulations it is clear that men over 38 are, generally speaking, less adaptable to modern military conditions than our younger soldiers," he said on the house floor. "To release these men from military service, the army now requires advance information that a position is open to them in a war plant.

"I propose that these men, whom the army is seeking to release, be honorably discharged and directed to the United States employment service offices nearest to their homes where work shortages exist."

SINK THIRD OF 4 JAP TRANSPORTS HEADED FOR LAE

MacArthur Flyers Battle 102 Zeros, Down 20.

ALLIED HDQ., Australia, Jan. 9 [Saturday]—(AP).—A third Japanese transport out of a total of four in a New Guinea bound convoy was sent to the bottom and 20 Jap Zero planes were shot down in an allied aerial blitz, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

While this air triumph was scored, Gen. MacArthur returned from the Papuan peninsula of New Guinea, praising American and Australian officers and forces and himself receiving congratulations for a victorious campaign which destroyed a Jap army once estimated to have totaled 15,000.

Battling an aggregate of 102 Japanese fighter planes attempting to screen the landing effort of the 10 ship convoy, allied fighter bombers knocked down 20 Zeros for certain, probably destroyed 7 and damaged 15 others in a 24 hour battle ending yesterday afternoon.

Only One Afloat.

They sent another Japanese transport to the bottom and scored direct hits on a fourth. Only one of four transports first attacked off Gasmata, New Britain, remained afloat yesterday afternoon. Today's noon communique indicated the convoy may have landed some Jap troops but that those who might have reached shore were subjected to the full fury of an allied air blasting.

Thruout the afternoon and night of Jan. 7 and the morning of Jan. 8, Flying Fortresses, Liberators, Billy Mitchells, Marauders, Bostons, Beaufort bombers, Beaufighters, Hudsons, Lightnings, and Kittyhawks joined in the fray.

The communique said: "In the meantime our fighters and attack types strafed the landing area, barges, and beachheads, causing numerous fires, explosions, and heavy personnel losses. Two medium bombers and two fighters were destroyed on the [Lae] airdrome."

The downed Zeros raised to 38 the price paid by the Japs for the reënforcement effort.

Allied planes bombed and started fires on the Jap airdrome at Gasmata, New Britain, and scored a direct hit on a torpedo boat in the Kai Islands.

Patrol activities were reported for the campaign at Sanananda, where 32 Japs were slain.

Gen. MacArthur, on returning to his general headquarters from the campaign in the Papua peninsula, highly praised the work of the American 32d and 41st divisions and the 5th American air force.

Allied Chiefs Cited.

In an order of the day conferring the distinguished service cross on several high allied officers, Gen. MacArthur said, "Victory which has been achieved would have been impossible of accomplishment without the invincible leadership which they have provided." Those decorated were:

Gen. Thomas Blamey, Australian commander of allied land forces; Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney, commander of the allied air forces; Lt. Gen. Edmund Francis Herring, Australian field commander; Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, commander of United States troops in Papua; Maj. Gen. Richard K. Sutherland, chief of staff, general headquarters of the southwest Pacific area; Maj. Gen. George Allen Vasey, Australian field commander; Brig. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, United States army chief of intelligence; Brig. Gen. Ennis C. Whitehead and Brig. Gen. Kenneth Walker, American air force commanders, Australian Brigadiers F. G. Wootten and Kenneth Eather, and Australian Group Capt. William Garing.

"While all ground troops have performed admirably," the citation continued, "elements of the 6th and 7th Australian division, of the 32d and 41st United States divisions, the 6th independent Commando unit, mountain artillery batteries of the 1st Australian corps, squadrons of the armored division [Australian] and native Papuan carriers have been especially prominent. To the American 5th air force and the royal Australian air force, no commendation could be too great."

Congratulations for MacArthur.

The triumph of Gen. MacArthur's troops in wresting the Papuan peninsula of New Guinea from a Jap army of 15,000 brought the general messages of congratulation today.

Gen. George C. Marshall, United States army chief of staff, wired: "Heartiest congratulations for capturing Buna and on entire campaign in Papua. With the very limited means available the amount that you have accomplished is a tribute to your leadership and to the fighting qualities of your soldiers. The wonderful work of your air force was an outstanding feature of the operations."

Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, commander of the British forces in India, wired: "Your success in the Papuan campaign elicits my warmest congratulations."

ARMY BOMBERS HIT MUNDA AND KISKA JAP BASES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8 (AP).—The navy reported today that army air forces had again bombed Japanese bases at Kiska in the Aleutian Islands, and at Munda in the Solomons, but that no results were reported.

The communique said that on Jan. 6 a forces of Liberator heavy bombers dropped bombs on shore installations at Kiska. Clouds prevented observation of results.

On Jan. 7 a force of Marauder medium bombers attacked the airfield and installations at Munda on New Georgia Island. Results were not reported. Naval spokesmen professed to have no information about these operations other than that given in the communique.

GUINEA CONVOY SMALL PART OF RABAUL ARMADA

Fear Other Jap Attacks in South Pacific.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, Jan. 8.—The Japanese attempt to land reënforcements at Lae, New Guinea, is considered by the press here to lend emphasis to Prime Minister John Curtin's warning of the threat inherent in the huge concentration of enemy shipping at Rabaul, New Britain.

It generally is believed that the Jap move toward New Guinea comes under the head of defensive maneuvers, rather than an attempt to launch a new offensive in this area.

One enemy motive in reënforcing Lae is to protect the Vitiaz straits, where only 80 miles of water separate New Guinea from New Britain.

Third Motive Listed.

Another motive is to dig and continue the delaying action designed to increase the difficulties facing Gen. Douglas MacArthur's troops in clearing the Japs from this area, which must be preliminary to any thrust against Rabaul—provided any such thrust ever is launched from New Guinea or Australia.

As long as the Japs can hold bases in New Guinea, they can add to the difficulty of air attacks from Buna on Rabaul.

The 10 ships involved in the reënforcing of Lae comprised a very small part of the heavy concentration at Rabaul.

Information Not New.

There is nothing new about this concentration, which has been common knowledge in informed circles. However, it is one of the fundamental principles of military intelligence not to let the enemy know just how much information has been obtained on his activities, which explains why stories haven't been written about it before.

Some observers believe that the smallness of the Jap convoy sent to Lae indicates that the major thrust by the concentration being built up at Rabaul will not be toward Australia, but that the enemy instead plans a containing action here for the time being.

It is self-evident that if the Japs made a thrust at New Guinea or at the Australian mainland with a large percentage of their Rabaul forces, they would leave their own left flank open to attack from the Solomons.

Hear Nazis Fail to Deliver Arms in Deal with Turks

BERNE, Switzerland, Jan. 8.—Germany, according to information received in diplomatic quarters here, has failed to complete her pre-payment deliveries of armaments to Turkey, in exchange for which the Turks were to begin deliveries of 45,000 tons of chromium by the beginning of February. Neutral sources in Germany and Turkey say the Turks may inform Berlin within 10 days that, pending a more concrete demonstration of Germany's good intentions, no chromium deliveries will be made.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 9, 1943.

Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press, and that cannot be limited without being lost.—Thomas Jefferson.

THE STORY OF 1942.

The best the Nazi radio propagandists could do was to dub them "fantastic," but there was not an American who was not thrilled by President Roosevelt's report of American achievements in the battle of production during the last year. Never, since the industrial revolution, has there been anything like it. What American plants have done is the greatest feat in the history of the machine age.

It is an achievement attained in spite of bad planning by the government, attained by industry, which has for 10 years been subjected to the utmost harassment by government. The bright spot in the President's report on the nation was made possible by the system of free enterprise which the political group that he heads has been doing its utmost to destroy. The only excuse that need be made for American industry is that one must have faith in its potentialities not to be fooled by the Nazi assertion that the factual report of its accomplishments is fantastic.

Excuses the President had to reserve for the burocrats. He confesses that the burden of red tape, of "too many complicated forms and questionnaires," has been a mistake, and he promises that the mistakes will be remedied. They will be, if not by the executive department, then by congress, for the spectacle of a nation threatened with want in the midst of plenty, because normal distribution systems have been upset or destroyed, has demonstrated to the nation the futilities of the planned economy. The lesson should be taken to heart—the New Deal abandoned, and American principles reëmphasized.

The optimistic language of the President's analysis of the military situation cannot conceal the fact that our progress militarily has been as discouraging as our progress industrially has been encouraging. Encouragement, it is true, can be found in the present Russian counter-offensive. It is winning back a substantial portion of what was lost to the Nazis during the summer, and it carries the promise, which every one hopes will be realized, of still greater and more significant victories.

But it is ridiculous to assign to the Russian developments the primary place in the strategic picture of a year which saw Japanese bandits seize two-thirds of the Pacific against little more opposition, aside from that offered by the heroes of Bataan and Corregidor, than might have been put up by the local constabulary in the conquered countries. President Roosevelt said that our objective in the Pacific during the last year was the day-to-day destruction of more Japanese war material than Japanese industry could replace, and that objective, he asserts, was attained. Perhaps so. We may have destroyed more material than Japanese industry could replace, but we certainly did not deprive the Japanese of more material than their army could steal. In spite of Guadalcanal and Buna, in spite even of Midway, the Japanese tide shows little evidence yet of receding.

We now have the largest army in our history, nearly twice the size of our maximum force in 1918. The President said that we have a million and a half men overseas. The armies raised by our associates are by no means inconsiderable. Those of Russia and China, in fact, outnumber the enemy they face. We have the great preponderance of naval strength everywhere but in the western Pacific. We can match, and probably overmatch the axis in the air. Yet with all these superiorities we have not been able to get a decisive superiority in any one theater of the war. Never, probably, has the world seen worse generalship.

The President showed his awareness of public dissatisfaction at the subordination of the Pacific theater of war in his promise that "this year we intend to advance in that theater." The promise is welcome, but evidence of intention to perform would be even more so. Gen. MacArthur's campaign in New Guinea is significant morally, for there we began to take the fight to the enemy, and it may develop strategic importance, but it is not a major effort. The battles have been little more than skirmishes. They could not be more because MacArthur has not been given the resources.

Our want of military results, in spite of our tremendous achievements in the raising and arming of armies, points to the necessity of taking the strategic direction of the war out of the hands of the armchair Napoleons of Washington and placing it in the hands of a professional military man. Gen. MacArthur, by his brilliant use of the crumbs of man power and equipment dropped to him, has demonstrated that he is the man for that job.

CHEW ON THESE AWHILE.

Informed that war workers in many areas were going hungry for meat, butter, and other foods essential to the laboring man's diet, Mr. Roy F. Hendrickson, food distribution administrator, began talking in the characteristic vocabulary of the burocracy. The shortages, he said, are "mainly the result of temporary maldistribution attributable to a variety of causes." That seems clear. There are shortages because we are short. We are short for one reason or another.

So what to do about it? One might think that the straightest line between the two points of an empty butcher shop and an empty stomach would be to rush a few beefsteaks to the scene. That isn't the way the burocracy does it, however. First, said Mr. Hendrickson, the regional administrators "should establish publicly announced centers to receive complaints." That may take a little time, but in the long run the famished citizenry, if not too weak to crawl to the complaint desk, may appear and state they are strictly weak from hunger.

Second, said Mr. Hendrickson, "salient facts should be communicated to our state chairman, who will work with appropriate state committee members." Remember, the facts must be "salient" and the committee members "appropriate." It will not do at all to submit appropriate facts, for instance, to salient committeemen.

Third, if the chairman and appropriate committeemen can't figure out how to rustle up some grub, the chairman "should immediately report the salient facts for appropriate action and if unable at regional level to obtain such action communicate to headquarters" in Washington. As you see, the facts are still salient but appropriateness now is merged with action. There may not be any action, however, so the chairman, by an act of levitation, will take himself off his usual regional level and float up into the rarefied Himalayas of Washington. All out, end of the line.

Perhaps in the meantime the patient will be able to sustain himself on a few edible roots. It is rather more likely that he, too, will have sought a new level, not being able to eat words. Somebody may have patted him down, in the interim, with a spade.

WHO'S DOING THE INFLATING?

Chicago is now a bigger financial center than New York was 18 years ago. The financial resources exceed those of the entire country at the time of the Spanish-American war. These facts are indicated by the summary of the statements of the banks published in THE TRIBUNE last Tuesday, showing that bank deposits here amounted to 5 billion 719 million dollars at the end of last year.

Further examination of available records shows that all our banks taken together had just a billion dollars in deposit liabilities when the war broke out in 1914. There was a gain of a half billion dollars during the war. The 2 billion dollar stripe was crossed in 1922 for the first time. At the bank call in October, 1929, when the stock market was at the peak, deposits stood at 2 billion 842 million dollars. There was no important reduction in these figures until 1931 when the bank failures began. By the end of 1932, the amounts to the credit of depositors here was down a billion from the peak. What the moratorium low was is not definitely known. At the call of March 25, 1933, shortly after the banks had reopened for business, 1 billion 419 million dollars was to the credit of banking customers here.

The expansion in the size of our banks has been phenomenal since 1937. There was an increase in deposits of 407 million dollars in 1938, 351 million dollars in 1939, 440 millions in 1940, 404 millions in 1941, and 908 million dollars last year.

Chicago banks are taking a leading part in the financing of the government and the war industries. The facilities here are vast and the present generation of bankers are men of great capacity and vision.

However, in candor, it must be pointed out that banking figures now are illusory. Recent increases in deposits are the result of bookkeeping magic. A bank buys a million dollars' worth of bonds from the government, and pays the government by crediting the amount to the treasury's checking account. When the treasury has issued checks for the million to airplane builders, railroads, farmers, and others, the bank buys another million dollars' worth of the bonds and gives the treasury credit for another million. Thus the debt of the government was increased 50 billions last year and bank deposits everywhere rose to heights previously unknown.

There isn't any one holding any important position in the government who has not expressed great concern about the inflation. All give the impression that they are doing everything possible to prevent inflation, but the people don't seem to understand. The fact is that it is the government itself which is doing the inflating. The danger of an explosive rise in prices lies in the rapid increase in bank deposits brought about by government borrowing from the banks. This could be avoided if the government would confine its sale of bonds to individuals. If bonds are sold to individuals who draw upon their deposit balances to make payment, the result is not inflationary. Existing deposits are simply transferred from one account to another. No new deposits are created.

To sell its bonds freely to individuals, the government would have to pay a higher rate than it has been accustomed to pay. But the price is certainly worth it if as a result the risk of inflation can be avoided. Secretary Morgenthau is congratulating himself upon the success of the drive in which nearly 13 billion dollars was borrowed. But about half of the total came from banking sources, and most of the remainder constituted an addition to the floating debt, consisting of tax notes and war bonds which can be presented for redemption after 60 days. Only an insignificant portion of the financing consisted of long term bonds placed outside of the banks. Our finance minister should heed the counsel of Lord Kindersley, assistant to Sir Kingsley Wood, Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, when he recently said "what the government needs is loans for as long a period as possible so that we shall not be faced at the end of the war with an unmanageable floating debt."

Editorial of the Day

ENTER THE GERIATRICIAN.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

Grow old along with me!
The best is yet to be.
The last of life, for which the first was made. . . .

Since Robert Browning wrote those lines, in 1864, medical science has made such progress that the percentage of persons who reach the age of 65 has almost doubled. Between 1930 and 1940 alone, the number of Americans in the past 65 bracket increased from 6,600,000 to nearly 9,000,000. This was an increase of 35 per cent, while the general population increased only a little more than 7 per cent in the same decade.

Yet, according to a study recently issued by the Northwestern National Life Insurance company, these older persons' "health after 50 has been improved little, if any." Instead, there has been a steady increase in the number of helpless and disabled people in this population group. There are about 18,000,000 men of 45 or older in this country; 14,000,000 of them are now employed, while three-fourths of the remainder are unfit to work because of ill health or other disability.

Such a fate is surely not what the poet pictured when he wrote that "the best is yet to be." To safeguard the health of the older group is the work of a relatively new field in medical science known as geriatrics. The science of pediatrics, devoted to the health of infants and children, is far better developed. Dr. Walter B. Cannon of Harvard medical school said more than a year ago in an address that "almost none of the most prominent disorders of senescence is understood."

The geriatrician's function would be to guide older persons in diets and other health essentials, and thus to prolong their vigor and happiness. "Normal ageing need not be deterioration," says the insurance company's study.

It would be a great gain for the nation's man power supply if the skilled, responsible workers now forced out by illness could be enabled to carry on by widespread application of geriatrics. The cost of old age pensions, an increasing responsibility all over the country, would be reduced if the health level of the older genration were improved.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

MR. PEPYS TAKES IT EASY.

9th Jan.—Spent this week slithering over ice and trudging thru snow. Found that the coming of the new year had stirred up the town like an ant-heap, every one hurrying hither and thither, carrying bundles, satchels, pairs of skates, schoolbooks, briefcases, and whatnot. Wondered why, and decided that the human race was trying to face in two directions at the same time, like the Roman god Janus, from whom the month of January gets its name.

Took things easy, except when fighting my way into and out of public conveyances. Went to see Zasu Pitts in a detective play while all other first-nighters were stampeding toward "This Is the Army," and thought her quite droll, but her play nothing to talk about. On Twelfth Night went to a party at a friend's house, expecting to find old English folklore, but neither host nor guests knew it was Twelfth Night until I told them. I might have added that the eve was also called Little Christmas and Old Christmas.

Dined several times with cronies at my club, and heard an extraordinary tale about a public character which no other journalist knows. Decided to keep it dark until the time is ripe, which may be never. Perhaps I will save it for the plot of the murder mystery novel that every one is supposed to write after retiring from active practice among the ink-pots.

Last night visited Vincent Starret, the author, for the founding of an esoteric circle, of which more anon.

OPEN SESAME—PLEASE?

(Note on a keg of California dates: "To open without damaging stopper or barrel, hammer gently on a block of wood around the outside of stopper.")

Go fetch me a block, and go fetch me a hammer;
I'll give this a gentle rap.
The directions are simple, with no verbal glamor,
And, as for these fruits I incessantly clamor,
I'll take me my hammer and modestly bam 'er—
Tap, tap-tap, tap-tap!

Go fetch me a mallet, and maybe a pliers;
I'll give this a lustier whang.
Deep in my appetite burn all the fires
That feed upon me and my dately desires.
(I'll get this thing open, or else I expires!)
Bang, bang-bang, bang-bang!

Go fetch me a crowbar—some dynamite—fuses—
This monster incarnate I'll smash!
This keg to relinquish its stopper refuses!
A fight to the finish it thereupon chooses!
So be it, m'lad! You know one of us loses—
Boom, boom-bang, bang-CRASH!

Go fetch me an aspirin—ointments—a wrap;
I think I shall rest for a wee.
A curse on the fiend who invented this trap;
He must be an agent for Nazi or Jap!
A split-second more and my mind would go snap!
(Ah-ha-ha-ha-hee-hee!)

Reverie in Swing Time.

"The thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

It was August. It was noon. The sun was high. It shone thru the leaves of the great maple trees and made little patches of golden light on the ground, which moved quietly with the swaying branches.

Two little boys sat in a swing suspended from a large branch of a maple tree. Arthur was 16 and Roy was 9, and they were brothers. Arthur spoke, saying, "Tomorrow I go far away to Osman, Ill., to work." It was six miles to Osman, but it might as well have been six thousand, for he would be out of sight of home, and of her who stood in the doorway and beamed upon us.

I did not quite know what to say, so I stood up in the swing and big brother stood with me. We interlocked our feet and "worked up" to heights we had never reached before, until the thick ropes swung out almost straight from the strong branch of the great maple tree. Back and forth the swing moved, like the huge pendulum of an enormous clock, and over us passed quickly patches of sunshine and of shadow.

I used to think when we reached the summit of "working up" we might be catapulted into space, up . . . up . . . into the very clouds, up among the stars, where we would live and breathe and be free from mundane childish worries.

No, it did not work that way. Instead of being tossed away from the swing I am drawn toward it more and more, and altho my thoughts are long, they are strong and not weak; stronger each year they are longer.

Back and forth the swing is moving, like the huge pendulum of an enormous clock, but it does not measure time.

The two little boys I see never grow any older.

THE TANTALIZING TOUCAN.

(A Brookfield Ballad.)

This bird, the ariel toucan,
Is truly a phenomenon!
Black and yellow, red and white,
His color scheme is quite a sight;
But stranger still we find the beak
That dominates his whole physique,
And all the multitudes that come
And, lost in awe, are stricken dumb,
Ask how he lives with so much vim
With such a bill confronting him;
For soon the income tax comes due
And we'll all have a big bill, too!

To close the season on white and gray horses: There is, or was, a gray horse battery of the United States field artillery at Fort Myer, Va., across the Potomac from Washington. Whenever a prominent military man was buried in Arlington cemetery, news pictures of the funeral would show a caisson drawn by six gray horses. C. O. R.

PINWORMS IN CHILDREN.

ONE of the most bothersome invasions suffered by infants and children is the pin, thread, or seat worm. In unhygienic surroundings, youngsters may pick up their eggs from the floor, and carry them to the mouth via dirty fingers.

The crawlers develop in the small intestine, passing later into the colon. When the females are mature, they crawl out of the anus and wander about on the surrounding skin. The process is accompanied by considerable irritation [itching]. If scratching is indulged in, thousands of ova will be liberated.

A vicious cycle is then established. The eggs will impregnate clothing and be scattered about the home. Later they may be gathered and transferred to the lips. Thus a constant supply is maintained.

Infestation is common and, in certain groups, as many as 80 per cent will be found to be victims. Besides the annoyance caused by the parasite, the general health may be influenced. Some children will exhibit nausea, vomiting, and restlessness.

Altho these pests range from 4 to 12 millimeters in length, they may escape observation. Nevertheless they are prolific. A single female may produce 10,000 offspring. This explains the wide prevalence of the culprits.

It is scarcely necessary to emphasize the importance of obliging boys and girls to wash their hands before coming to the table. In fact, fingers should be kept out of little mouths always. If one youngster in the family has become a victim, spread to others will be the rule.

If infection is suspected or discovered, there are two procedures. The first involves careful personal cleanliness. This means scrubbing the anal region with soap and water after every visit to the toilet. This must be practiced faithfully to destroy eggs deposited on the skin.

Recently gentian violet has been advocated as a drug which will so nauseate these "varmints" that they will "give up the ghost." Tablets are coated so that they will not dissolve until they reach the bowel. Doses vary from one-sixth to one-half grain, depending upon age. If the amount is too large, nausea, vomiting, and abdominal pain may appear.

Fortunately, the toxic effect of this chemical will pass away quickly, and no serious harm will follow even an overdose. Sometimes rectal injections are advised. Various solutions have been recommended, including a tea made from quassia chips.

But some one may remark, "Millions of us have grown up despite these critters, so why all the fuss?" The answer is that it is never wise to house a menagerie within the body. Furthermore, the chances are that toxins may be elaborated to which the tot may react unfavorably. At any rate, we can make sure that sanitation in the home is such that it will not encourage the propagation of these animals.

COLD DAMP FEET.

Mrs. J. B. writes: Why do the feet perspire only during the wintertime? My husband has this trouble even tho his feet are cold.

REPLY.

The chances are that the rate of perspiration is the same, regardless of the season. Reduced evaporation during the colder months makes the parts feel clammy and damp. Heavier footgear is a factor.

SWOLLEN EYE.

C. W. K. writes: For some time my right eye has been puffing during the night. In the morning I cannot open it for a few minutes. My vision and kidneys are normal. What is the cause?

REPLY.

Probably an infection—conjunctivitis. The catarrhal form is called "pinkeye." See your ophthalmologist.

SOME SEE DOUBLE.

L. W. K. writes: Will overindulgence in alcoholic beverages cause night blindness?

REPLY.

Yes, if the session continues until 3 a. m. The cause is improper diet, which implies a vitamin deficiency. Occasionally, alcohol is used as a substitute for food.

BOSOM COMPANIONS.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—In recent months much has been heard on the subject of a united world after the war. One group in particular wants the United States to be the flagbearer toward a world united into one democratic government, with the United States and Great Britain as the figureheads.

This is a very fine plan except for one thing—it won't work. No person who has studied history would support a plan such as this. Even as we fight this war, we are having trouble keeping our allies satisfied. The Chinese are dissatisfied, the Russians are dissatisfied, and we ourselves are having trouble with the English and French. In the Balkans a civil war is being fought with the English backing one side and the Russians the other. One ex-president of a European republic has made a plan which again divides Europe into sections, as after the last war, without regard to the thoughts of the peoples or the countries to be divided.

If these are examples of the feelings among the so-called united nations, then can you imagine all the nations taking Germany and Japan and making bosom companions of them? Yes, sir, it's going to be a mess. J. J. JR.

WHEN HASTE IS JUSTIFIED.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—Rather than be censured for their excessive spending of money, or, as reported in THE TRIBUNE Jan. 1, the "waste" of millions, those persons who are in charge of construction at the new Dodge-Chicago plant should be commended for the zeal with which they are playing their war rôles. It was gratifying to read that, in the preparation of bomber engines to help bring the war to a successful close, the Dodge-Chicago people consider time, not money, as the important factor. Speed in getting the plant built, rushing the engine into the plane itself and thence to Tokio with its full load of bombs, is the essence of this particular all-out effort. The spending of a few more millions of dollars to achieve this end can hardly be considered a "waste." Surely the taxpayers do not begrudge the paying out of a few more pennies to hasten their vengeance for the atrocities of Pearl Harbor, Bataan, Corregidor, etc.

Let's not have a package from Chicago, U. S. A., marked "too little" or "too late." KEN HART.

FINDS 20 CENTS ENOUGH.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—I have just finished reading of "J. E.'s" plight, receiving only two 10 cent defense stamps for his tires, which "still had from 5,000 to 8,000 miles." I worked about 75 hours at an express office, taking in tires and tubes, tying them into bundles, and affixing labels, and over 90 per cent of the tires turned in weren't fit to use on a car. C. R. W.

CRUEL, BUT USUAL.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—My friends and myself have designed a super-horror torture for Adolf, Benito, Tojo, and their stooges. Put them in a small room with their hands tied behind their backs, so they can't cover their ears, then play on a phonograph nothing else but sneak-in radio commercials. This, I am sure, will crack the worst of them. J. S. F.

TWENTY-FIVE WASTED PAGES.

White Pigeon, Mich., Jan. 2.—While you and the editors of other daily newspapers are tightening your belts under the new order from Washington cutting the use of newsprint paper 10 per cent, you may be interested to learn something more on how the Washington price czars themselves are saving paper and ink.

Every board of village dads in Michigan where the population is under 5,000, and every chairman of the county board of supervisors has just been given a fresh headache reading a sheaf of 25 closely printed pages of expensive high grade bond paper, telling them what the little state of New Hampshire is doing to curb the mileage of its official cars. The same thing evidently has gone to village governments all over the United States, and the cost of paper and printing must have run into many thousands of dollars.

It's not that the Washington burocrats have adopted the New Hampshire plan. They just want the village dads to think it over and maybe hit on some other plan. Just how they can apply it, you can guess from this. Probably not half of the villages in the United States of under 5,000 population own as much as one police car, and few of them own cars for any other public use. In other words, three-fourths of this expensive printing is utterly wasted. Even if it is not, the gist of the whole batch of 25 pages could just as well have been printed on one page of low priced bond paper, accomplishing the same object with a fraction of the expense.

But it's taxpayers' money that is being wasted, and what do the burocrats care? If there's a paper famine, maybe THE TRIBUNE and other newspapers that criticize government waste and extravagance won't have so much space for criticism. Yours for better paper czars,

LEON E. REED.

NEW DEAL ACCOLADE FOR ORR?

Braidwood, Ill., Dec. 31.—Do my eyes deceive if they seem to disclose the New Deal's O. K. on "Waiting for the Leavin's," Mr. Orr's cartoon of Dec. 30, editorial page, or do I merely imagine it, since I heard Mr. Claude Wickard in his speech of Sunday evening say that the English public is better fed today, thanks to lend-lease, than before the war?

TAXES ON TRAILER CAMPS.

Maywood, Ill., Dec 30.—The suggestion of one of the writers to this column, in which he advises that tires on trailers be taken over by the government, is certainly worth while. But why stop there? Why not have our assessors raise the taxes on the property that they are located on? The owners could then get a higher rental for the space and the additional taxes would help to defray the costs of schooling, etc., furnished these transients. Many of these trailer camp inhabitants are making real money in the war plants in and around the city. But Mr. J. Q. Public, taxpayer, is forced to educate the trailerite's children for him. Then when the bubble breaks and work ceases Mr. Trailer Camp can just pick up and move on to better pickings, but can J. Q. pick up and leave? Of course not. He is tied with a piece of property for which there is no market, but on which he has to pay high taxes and stay put.

GALLIVANTING.

Manteno, Ill., Dec. 31.—I see where Mrs. Roosevelt is now directing her thoughts to Bolivia. How can she obtain enough gasoline to fly by plane thousands of miles and accomplish nothing? Why should she take necessary space running around the world when mothers and fathers can't get standing room to go see their sons a few hundred miles from home? I am a registered nurse, doing three people's work in a state institution, and cannot obtain enough gasoline to cover the mileage to and from my work.

GARNISHMENT.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. I should like information regarding a garnishee or a court injunction on one's pay. My husband's salary has been garnisheed a number of times and never, at any of these times, has he received any of his salary. 2. Doesn't the law require that some of his pay be given him after a certain amount has been taken out? 3. Under a court injunction, can the entire salary be held back or must a certain amount be paid? 4. Would the fact that we live with my husband's parents be a reason for withholding the entire pay? M. F.

1. Garnishment is not in order until the creditor has obtained judgment against the debtor.
2. The Illinois exemption to the head of a family is $20 per week.
3. An injunction would be exceptional. Its effect would depend on its wording and on the surrounding circumstances.
4. No. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

NEWEST MARINE ACE DOWNS SIX JAPS OVERNIGHT

How Guadalcanal Flyer Won First 2 Fights.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GUADALCANAL, Solomon Islands, Dec. 25 [Delayed].—The newest ace among the crack marine pilots who have been outsmarting and outfighting the Japs since last August is Maj. Donald Yost, 31 years old, who won the honor overnight by downing six Japs in two fights.

Yost, a graduate of Princeton university in 1934, and a resident of that New Jersey town, arrived here only a week ago. He made his first contact Dec. 23, over the new Jap air field at Munda, New Georgia Island.

Wildcat and Airacobra fighters were accompanying marine corps scout bombers on a raid against the air field. The Grumman Wildcats started down to protect the bombers during their dive, Yost said, and his wing man failed to follow.

Finds Himself Alone.

"Apparently he saw something coming in," said Yost, "and I never saw him again. Just after our bombs were dropped, and we were past the air field, I saw six Zeros. I guess our other fighters were into other Zeros, because I never saw another Grumman during the fight.

"I got a couple of flamers—they burst into flames right in front of men. It seemed as tho the fight lasted for hours, but I guess it actually was only a few minutes. It was purely defensive for me. They were doing plenty of shooting, but missing. I got only one bullet in a wing.

"Finally I found a cloud, gained altitude, and when I came out I saw two of the bombers with two Zeros on their tails.

"So I charged down and chased off one. I do not know what happened to the other; he probably was after me. Then I found myself alone and headed for home.

Tangle at 3,000 Feet.

"Yesterday we were at Munda again with scout bombers and Airacobras. This time the Grummans stuck together when we went down and tangled with I do not know how many Zeros. We tangled at about 3,000 feet.

"The Japs were working well together. I shot down one and his partner came in and shot at me."

Newsmen asked Yost how he got four Zeros in this second fight.

"Just by tangling up with 'em," he said. "We were between the Zeros and our bombers. We got 10 within less than 10 minutes, and the Airacobras got at least a couple of others.

"I got my first two less than 5 or 10 seconds apart. One came right into the middle of us and put a bullet into my left aileron. He really was flaming as he came in, too. Every gun he had was flashing right at me. We missed each other by three feet."

Makes His First Contract.

Yost said he got the other two without any difficulty, and added that the second pilot of the flight shot down three. He is Lt. Kenneth Kirk Jr., 23 years old, of Barre, Vt., who said:

"It was my first contact, altho I have been flying for six months in Guadalcanal—amphibians and every other thing. I had been on other fighting missions, but this was the first time I had seen any Japs.

"The major and I got four in about 6 seconds. The Airacobras above us said the Grummans never were more than 150 yards apart during the fight. And the army boys sure as hell helped."

DEFENSE OPENS CASE IN SEDITION TRIAL OF THREE

The defense opened its case yesterday in the sedition trial of Atty. Newell Mecartney, Elmer W. Soller, and Elmer Hartzel after Federal Judge William H. Holly overruled a motion for a new trial on behalf of Hartzel.

Atty. Ode Rankin contended that altho the material contained in pamphlets written by Hartzel and mimeographed by Soller in offices occupied by the latter and Mecartney at 800 West North avenue contained extreme ideas they did not obstruct the war as the government has charged.

Hartzel, the first defendant to take the stand, testified as a witness for Mecartney after being called by William Powers, who represents Mecartney. He testified that he did not know Mecartney until he saw him in the courtroom last Monday and denied discussing material contained in the pamphlets with him.

Soller, who followed Hartzel to the stand, denied that he had intended to hinder the war in mimeographing material Hartzel had given him and testified that he regarded the work as ordinary business. Atty. Powers introduced into evidence the records of 73 other accounts handled by Soller in his mimeographing business.

ARMY'S GLIDERS TESTED BY PILOTS BEFORE LONG HOP

The first two gliders scheduled to be flown directly from factory to army training base were tested over Lockport airport yesterday and, weather permitting, will be flown to Chicago airport today on a series of hops to Denver, Colo.

The motorless aircraft will be used by the University of Denver glider training school. Previously gliders were delivered by train, but because of urgent need and freight congestion, the gliders in the future will be delivered by air.

The tests yesterday were held to acquaint the glider pilots, Stanley R. Corcoran of Chicago and Ben Kunz of Denver, and the towing pilot, Harry Combs of Denver, with the craft. Flying at 80 miles and hour, the three ships will stop at Des Moines, Ia., Lincoln, Grand Island, and North Platte, Neb., and Sterling, Colo., en route to Denver. The gliders were designed by Corcoran and produced by the Lockport Sailplane company.

MRS. CHARLES MORTIMER.

Reconciliation of Mrs. Virginia Mortimer, 28 years old, and Charles Mortimer, warehouse executive, who separated last summer, was disclosed yesterday when her suit for separate maintenance was dismissed before Judge John J. Lupe in the Superior court.

The dismissal was asked by Mortimer's lawyer, Robert E. Cantwell Jr., by agreement with Mrs. Mortimer's lawyer, Fred A. Gariepy.

Mrs. Mortimer filed her suit last June. She charged her husband with intoxication. They have a son, Charles Jr., 2. Mrs. Mortimer is the daughter of Harry D. Crooks, president of the Crooks Terminal Warehouses, Inc. The Mortimers live at 4940 East End avenue.

THREE SONS DIE IN ACTION: F. D. R. WRITES PARENTS

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 8 (AP).—President Roosevelt extended the sympathy of the nation for the loss in battle of their three sons to Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Rogers of Birmingham.

The President's letter followed by nearly a month a letter from the commanding officer of the three men, all first class seamen in the navy, which informed the parents they had been killed in a naval engagement in the Pacific.

"I have just been advised of your loss of three sons who gave their lives in the performance of their duty in action against the enemy," the President said in his letter.

"There is little that I can say to lessen the burden of your grief. However, I want you to know that your great sorrow is shared not only by myself, but by the entire naval service. Your sons, Jack Ellis Jr., Edward Keith, and Charles Ethbert, gave their lives in the service of our country which owes to you and them a debt of undying gratitude. As commander in chief, I express to you a nation's sympathy. I pray that God will comfort you and give you strength to bear this great sorrow."

SECOND VINCI DEATH SUSPECT GIVES SELF UP

Joseph Di Caro, 26 years old, 604 West 25th place, who with his brother Sam was recommended held as an accessory to the murder of Charles Vinci, deputy sheriff and 11th ward political leader, surrendered yesterday and was sent to the county jail. His brother has been held there since the inquest last Tuesday.

The recommendation was contained in the verdict of the coroner's jury, which also named Michael Rancatore, 36, of 734 West 35th place, Vinci's partner in the Point Inn tavern at 2501 South Halsted street, as the slayer. Rancatore is still sought.

The verdict was based on testimony of Policeman Patrick Connelly, who said witnesses told him Rancatore shot Vinci during a dispute in which Vinci insisted that no more drinks be served the Di Caros. The shooting occurred in the Point Inn tavern last Dec. 3.

BABY LIES DEAD IN CRIB 5 DAYS; MOTHER SEIZED

Cleveland, O., Jan. 8 (AP).—Kenneth Krashevec, 5 months old, lay dead in his crib five days because his parents could not agree who should call an undertaker, his mother, Mrs. Theresa Krashevec, 33, told police today. She said she found the baby dead when she returned from a New Year's eve celebration.

"My husband was in bed when I got back," she told detectives. "We got into a fight over who should call the undertaker."

She said she and her husband quarreled until Krashecev left Monday and that she had been seeking him since. The landlord, Morris Goldberg, stopped for the rent yesterday and called police, who held Mrs. Krashecev for questioning. Coroner S. R. Gerber said the baby died of neglect and exposure.

3 EX-SOLDIERS DIE IN GAS CELL FOR TAXI SLAYING

Florence, Ariz., Jan. 8 (AP).—Three Negro former soldiers were put to death today in the state prison gas chamber for the murder of a taxicab driver. They were J. C. Levice, 22 years old, Goose Creek, Tex.; Charles Sanders, 22, Nacogdoches, Tex., and Grady B. Cole, 29, St. Louis, Mo. The three pooled their last $5 to buy a burial plot.

They beat Coy Carroll Qualls to death a year ago while A. W. O. L. from Fort Huachuca, Ariz. They drove his cab to San Antonio, Tex., where they were seized.

Report Nazis Build New Defenses on Meuse River

LONDON, Jan. 8 (AP).—The Belgian news agency here reported today that the Germans were establishing an inland defense line along the Meuse river in case of an allied attack thru northern France and Belgium. It also said the Germans were requisitioning labor in Belgium to build new fortifications in the province of Namur.

ALLIED VICTORY RESTS ON SHIPS, SAYS ADM. STARK

Submarines Our Greatest Peril, He Warns.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—Allied victory revolves around shipping. Adm. Harold R. Stark, commander of the United States naval forces in European waters, declared today in voicing the opinion that the war will be "long and tough."

Adm. H. R. Stark.

The admiral said the greatest enemy is the submarine because the undersea boats are taking a heavy toll of shipping vital to the transport of troops and war supplies.

"Are we knocking out submarines fast enough?" he asked.

"I could wish we were knocking them out faster," he said grimly.

Need for Improvement.

He said the submarine situation around the coast of Britain has been good for some time because the British made it hot for the undersea boats some time ago. He left the implication that there is need of improvement in the anti-submarine campaign in American waters and along trans-Atlantic routes.

The admiral warned against the thought that the Germans may crack.

"We should be agreeably surprised by an axis blowup," he said. "I don't think we will be. If we look for a blowup that will be wishful thinking. I still think the war will be long and tough, any other premise on which to work would be an utterly false one."

The admiral, who was chief of naval operations at the outbreak of the war, was not as sanguine as President Roosevelt. Earlier in the day the chief executive reiterated the hope expressed in his message that the war might end in 1944, but cautioned that was only the expression of a possibility.

Allies Growing Stronger.

Stark said the allied nations are growing stronger and should by 1944 be strong enough to smash the foe almost anywhere.

Asked when he thought the war might end, Stark pondered a moment and then replied: "We will win only when Hitler and all his gang and the Japanese military machine are completely broken—and I mean completely."

Stark expressed hope for a showdown battle with the German fleet during the coming year, altho he cautioned that such a battle could not be expected.

In response to a question he said the Germans are building up their fleet, particularly submarines. He indicated that he did not regard the German fleet as a menace, but said that the fact that the Germans have a fleet necessarily tied up a number of allied ships, which must be prepared to head off any sudden moves.

MURRAY OF CIO OPPOSES SALES AND POLL TAXES

Washington, Jan. 8 (AP).—Legislative objectives of the CIO in 1943 will include abolition of the Dies committee and the poll tax, enactment of a tax bill without any form of sales tax, and universal rationing.

President Philip Murray, discussing these subjects in a statement to a special CIO legislative conference today, said:

"A united people must be secured against disruptive attacks from individuals and groups, under no matter what screen or immunity they may be operating. For this reason, the Dies committee should be denied further sanction and funds from the congress."

Saying that unity for victory "must be based on full democracy for all," Murray said the poll tax was keeping "ten million Americans out of our democracy." He called for a "sound and adequate" tax bill and said such a bill "must reach more deeply into big profits and inflated incomes, must close present loopholes and enforce the desired $25,000 net income level. Any form of sales tax, however labeled, must be avoided as a direct threat to workers' health and efficiency and consequently to war production."

ONLY 103 READY FOR 517 VACANCIES ON POLICE FORCE

Of the 200 men on the police patrolmen's eligible list who were called to report for final physical examinations yesterday only 103 appeared, Dr. J. P. O'Connell, chief medical examiner for the civil service commission, said yesterday. This is the largest group of men failing to report in the history of the commission, Dr. O'Connell said. He blamed it on army and navy enlistments and high paying jobs in war industries.

The 103 men taking their examinations yesterday are from the list of applications made in 1936 and had passed a preliminary physical and mental examination. Upon successful completion of the final test they were finger printed at police headquarters and will be sworn into service this morning.

Police Commissioner James P. Allman said the men were called to replace the 517 members of the police department who are now in the army and navy. Others in the department are expected to enlist within the next few weeks, he said.

Strong, brother-in-law, Trenton, Mich., and Sergt. William David Wendt, whose mother, Mrs. A. W. Wendt, lives at Westport, Minn.

URSULA PARROTT IS CHARGED WITH SUBVERSIVE ACTS

Indicted on 3 Counts in Desertion Case.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 8 (AP).—Ursula Parrott, the novelist, was indicted today by a federal grand jury on three counts in connection with the escape of a soldier from an army stockade.

One count charged her with "subversive activities in undermining loyalty, discipline, or morale of the armed forces."

URSULA PARROTT.

Other counts accused her of enticing Pvt. Michael Neely Bryan into a desertion from the army and of harboring a deserter.

May Face 10 Years.

Ernest L. Duhaime, assistant United States district attorney, said the penalty on the surversive count could, upon conviction, be as high as 10 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Mrs. Parrott, according to Duhaime, visited Bryan Dec. 28 at the stockade in Miami Beach, where he was serving a term on an absent without leave charge, and drove off with the soldier concealed in the rumble seat of her car.

Returns Bryan Next Day.

She surrendered Bryan to federal authorities the following day and was taken into custody.

At a preliminary hearing before the United States commissioner, the author said that she acted "on an impulse" and absolved Bryan from any blame. However, she entered a plea of innocence and since has been free under $1,000 bond.

Mrs. Parrott's trial is scheduled for the February term of federal District court.

SEVEN INDICTED IN LOTTERY BASED ON THE WEATHER

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 8 (AP).—A federal grand jury late today returned indictments charging that seven men conspired to violate interstate commerce laws in operating an ingenious lottery based upon daily weather data in a Chicago newspaper.

The seven were charged with conspiring to transport lottery tickets from Moline, Ill., to points in Indiana and Tennessee in violation of interstate commerce laws.

George Kennedy, assistant United States attorney, said the tickets were sold at 60 cents each in blocks of 10,000. For each block, prizes ranging from $2 to $250 each and totaling more than $1,000 were awarded.

The indictment charges that Carl W. Peterson, Moline, printed the tickets and deposited them with an express company for delivery to the other six.

Defendants named are Peterson; Hugh M. Brummett, Jackson, Tenn.; Charles Baker, Clinton, Ind.; George Milner, Lafayette, Ind.; Lorien V. Johnson, Kokomo, Ind.; William Hain, Danville, Ill., and William E. Fairfield, Fort Wayne, Ind.

WOMAN INDICTED FOR HER POSE AS EMPLOYE OF FBI

Miami, Fla., Jan. 8—A federal district grand jury here today indicted Elsa Von Stahremberg on charges of impersonating an FBI agent. The indictment said she obtained $300 from Lawrence Dodd, a Hungarian refugee, in Miami Beach last March.

The woman, who calls herself a countess, has been under arest in Los Angeles for some time, Assistant District Attorney Ernest L. Duhaime said, and a certified copy of the indictment is being forwarded to the district attorney there with a request for her immediate removal to Miami. The trial has been set for the February term of court.

Duhaime said the woman, who is a German born naturalized citizen, and who married an Austrian, represented herself as a translator on the staff of the FBI. Dodd gave her the $300 for safekeeping, Duhaime reported, and when he asked its return she did not have it. Dodd complained to the FBI, and the indictment followed.

WAR FORCES FEW OF AUTO DEALERS OUT OF BUSINESS

Based on an average of 423 automobile dealers in Cook county during 1942, only 13 per cent went out of business during the year, Ben T. Wright, president of the Chicago Automobile Trade association, said yesterday. The "mortality rate," based on average membership, was 11.9 per cent in 1941 and 11.2 per cent in 1940.

Wright said that the comparatively low 1942 rate proved wrong the many prophets who early last year predicted war would force many out of business.

There were 409 dealers in business Jan. 1 in Cook county—262 in Chicago—compared with 464 on Jan. 1, 1942, 490 two years ago, and 483 three years ago.

Used car sales were reported to be unusually slow during December, largely because of severe weather, which restricted driving, customary holiday slack, and rationing of gasoline, the least important.

On the other hand, service business was reported to be unusually good. There remains the problem of finding an adequate supply of mechanics.

SALES TAX ADDED TO PRICE CEILING O.K., RULES OPA

Attorneys of the office of price administration in Chicago ruled yesterday that Illinois merchants will be permitted to add the 2 per cent sales tax as a cost of business without violating federal price ceilings.

The ruling followed a state Appellate court decision denying merchants the right to collect the tax separately from the total sales price. The OPA warned, however, that merchants must not include the tax in determining price ceilings which must be posted in public view near the commodities affected.

Alex Elson, regional OPA attorney, said the OPA recognized the tax must be paid by the merchant and that he can add it to a sales price as part of the cost of doing business. He said the Appellate court decision held that the sales tax cannot be collected as a tax, but may be collected as part of the cost of business. He said the tax will be recognized as an added cost, but the addition should not be shown in the posted price ceilings except where the ceiling are determined by March, 1942, prices.

F. D. R. REPEATS HOPE FOR ALLIED VICTORY IN 1944

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—President Roosevelt today reiterated the hope that victory will be won by the allied nations in 1944.

He was asked at his press conference whether he intended to convey the implication in his message to congress that the war might be won in 1944. The message stated it was "within the realm of possibility" that the new congress might have "the historic privilege of helping greatly to save the world from future fear."

The chief executive said he was only expressing the hope and that he could not further define his use of the word "possibility."

OPA STILL HOLDS FUEL OIL IDEAS AFTER 19 DAYS

Frank E. Spencer, president of the Burning Oil Distributors' association, received a letter yesterday from Joel Dean, director of the fuel oil rationing division of the office of price administration. The letter said:

"Your telegrams of Dec. 20, 1942, to Mr. Leon Henderson [price administrator] and Mr. Donald Nelson [head of the war production board] have been handed to us for attention. Thank you for your constructive suggestions. We have turned them over to our program and planning section for immediate consideration."

Spencer, who has criticized the rationing program as unworkable, said Dean's letter spoke for itself.

"I wired Dec. 20," he said. "This is Jan. 8. And he has the effrontery to say 'immediate attention'!"

The elapsed time was 19 days.

WOMEN IN WAR GIVEN BENEFITS EQUAL TO MEN

WAVES, SPARS, but Not WAACs Are Insured.

American women in the nation's services derive benefits equal to those received by service men, except in the case of women's army auxiliary corps members, who serve with the army—not in it.

Members of the WAVES, the navy's women's auxiliary, and the SPARS, the coast guard auxiliary, have access to national life insurance, which is available to all active members of the land and naval forces of the United States, including commissioned officers, warrant officers, and enlisted personnel. It is also available to army and navy nurses.

[For details of women in war work see page 14.]

Also available to members of the various auxiliaries and to members of the army and navy nurse corps are the benefits provided by the soldiers' and sailors' civil relief act of 1940, as amended by congress on Oct. 6, 1942.

The basic purpose of the act was to relieve members of the services of worry over their inability to fulfill their contractual obligations after entry into military services. It was with the understanding that all obligations were entered into in full faith by the contractor, but that sharply curtailed incomes necessitated some orderly procedure for protecting the rights of all concerned.

The law also extends to the dependents of the men and women in service and to the same extent as to the members of the army, navy, marine corps, and auxiliaries. One instance of the benefit of the law is in court proceedings to foreclose upon or repossess real estate or contracts to buy real estate—if made before entry into service. Action may be stayed by the court or the court may make some other equitable disposition of the case, depending largely upon the ability of the person to pay the original payments or adjusted payments that the court may decree.

Government Adds to Sum.

Enlisted members of all auxiliaries may make allotments for dependents, by providing that a certain sum be taken each month from their pay. The government adds to the sum before it is sent to the designated dependent or dependents. Members of the WAACs qualify under the relief act, because they are permitted to make allotments.

A WAAC, WAVE, SPAR, or army or navy nurse, if injured while on duty, or while traveling to or from duty, or in any way in her service, will be treated and housed in a hospital or medical center by United States personnel.

Members of the WAVES and SPARS, the two services permitted to serve only within boundaries of continental United States, are entitled to benefits when they are totally or partially disabled while in service. Legislation to provide the WAAC with the same benefits is still pending.

SAVACHKA JOINS ARMY; INDICTED WITH CALDWELL

Union Boss Is Named by Federal Jury.

Michael Savachka, former secretary and treasurer for the retail clerks' union, was inducted into the army last night, only a few hours after a federal grand jury in Miami, Fla., had returned a joint indictment against him and Max Caldwell, ousted boss of the clerks' union, on a charge of violation of the selective service act.

Savachka appeared before local board No. 102 at 4624 Emerald avenue, was ordered to take his physical examination Jan. 12, and walked outside and into arms of the state's attorney's police, who served him with a subpena ordering him to appear before the grand jury Monday to tell what he knows of missing union records and the mishandling of $910,000 union funds during Caldwell's régime.

Balks at Union Fund Quiz.

The one time fugitive and accused draft dodger was questioned yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney Joseph Burke, who said Savachka disclaimed any knowledge of the missing union records or funds, and refused to answer further questions on the advice of his attorney, George Callaghan.

Caldwell had previously told the grand jury that only Savachka knew where the union records were. When Savachka disappeared in June, 1941, investigators found only $62 in the union treasury. The account books were missing. Caldwell moved to Florida, where Savachka was arrested last October. The former union secretary said Caldwell had told him to hide there, and had paid part of his living expenses.

Savachka was returned to Chicago as a draft dodger. Last Wednesday, Judge William J. Campbell ordered him into the army and indicated the draft evasion charges would be dropped against Savachka after his induction.

Caldwell Indicted in Conspiracy.

The joint indictment in Florida charged Savachka with violation of the selective service act, and named Caldwell for conspiracy. In a second indictment, Caldwell was accused of harboring a fugitive by concealing Savachka. The maximum penalty on the conspiracy charge is a $10,000 fine and three years in prison. The maximum penalty on the second indictment is a $1,000 fine and six months' imprisonment.

After his induction, Savachka said he had been living at 5130 Dorchester avenue, had spent 11 days in a hospital here, and didn't know who had paid his hospital bill or his attorney.

Savachka also is under subpena to appear Monday before Master in Chancery Daniel Covelli to testify in a suit for accounting of the union funds brought by attorneys for the CIO clerks.

5 PER CENT TAX DEDUCTED FIRST TIME FOR MANY

For a large share of Chicago area employés, pay checks and pay envelopes distributed yesterday and today were the first of the year to contain the victory tax deduction. Many companies that normally pay their employés at the end of the week advanced last week's pay day because of the New Year's holiday, and thus did not make the tax deduction.

Company personnel managers reported little confusion over the new tax, because most of the employers had notified their workers of the impending deduction. There was little grumbling on the part of the workers.

The tax—5 per cent of all salaries or wages above the exemption of $12 a week or $624 a year—will be partially refunded after the war or applied in part against regular income tax payments to be made next year.

JUDGES FINISH COUNTY JOB CUT FOR 1943 BUDGET

Judges of the Circuit court, after three hours of secret deliberation yesterday, approved the report made by their committee on help, which fixed the number of employés in 13 county fee offices. Chief Justice Thomas J. Lynch said the report would not be made public until Monday.

Judges Julius H. Miner, John Prystalski, and Denis Normoyle made up the committee that requested county officials to cut their office staffs as recommended by the county budget survey.

Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, which has been held up in its budget making while the judges formulated their rolls, has estimated that a general cut of 10 per cent in county jobs is nearly all that may be expected.

U. OF I. FINISHES LARGEST MEDICAL CLASS IN NATION

U. of C. and Northwestern Also Break Records.

More than 5,000 new doctors will be graduated from the medical schools of the nation in March—three months ahead of regular schedule, Dr. Fred C. Zapffe, executive secretary of the Association of American Medical colleges, said yesterday.

In Chicago, as a result of a speed-up program, two of the city's four major medical schools will have their largest graduating classes in history, while a third, the University of Illinois school of medicine, will have the largest graduating class in the country.

The accelerated program, the adoption of which by medical schools a year ago has stricken annual vacations, was further fortified by three local universities' recent moves to change the pre-medic requirements from three to only two years of academic study. Northwestern university adopted such a plan two weeks ago, the University of Chicago approved the plan a month ago, and the dean of the University of Illinois Chicago schools has said adoption here is only a matter of formalities.

Classes Increased 10 Pct.

"Most medical schools have increased their classes 10 per cent this year in compliance with the war program recommended by the association," Dr. Zapffe said. "Further, many schools are already drawing upon premedic students with only two years of academic work.

"Under the recent war man power program, which will send 150,000 enlisted men back to the universities, the medical schools will get about 6,500 students a year who will have 13 weeks of military training before entering medical training. These men will attend classes in uniform, and be paid, housed, and clothed by the army and navy. We do not expect this program to get into operation before 1944, however."

585 Students Enrolled.

At Northwestern university, Dr. J. R. Miller, dean of the medical school, said the school has the highest enrollment in history—585 students. On March 21 a graduating class of 125 medical seniors will complete their formal education there, he said. This is three months ahead of schedule, the students having worked thru their vacation period last summer.

The University of Chicago school of medicine also has the largest class ever to graduate, said Dr. Victor Johnson, dean of students in the medical school. There, as elsewhere, a new class is now entering the medical school every nine months, so that while this year's senior class will graduate three months ahead of the normal commencement, the class next year will be six months ahead, and so on until all classes will be graduating in three years.

Quality of Courses to Stand.

"We wish to stress," Dr. Johnson stated, "that neither the quality nor quantity of medical courses is being lowered. A student graduating during the war period will have had all the work he would have taken during peacetimes. What he will have done is to save a year of study by attending school during vacations."

Dr. Raymond Allen, dean of the Chicago schools of the University of Illinois, which includes the medical school, announced the school's March graduating class will be the largest in the country. The class has 150 students, an increase of 5 per cent over previous years. This September 170 freshmen were admitted, he said. Under the nine months' program, a new freshman class will be taken in this June. Freshman classes at the other schools will also start in June, instead of the regular date in the fall.

AGREE TO SUBMIT TRUCK DRIVERS' DISPUTE TO WLB

Wage contract negotiations between two truck drivers' unions and the Cartage Exchange of Chicago and the Illinois Motor Truck Operators' association broke off yesterday when by agreement they asked B. M. Badenoch, federal conciliator hearing the dispute, to certify it to the trucking and transportation division of the war labor board for settlement. The unions agreed not to strike.

Local 705, International Brotherhood of Teamsters and local 705 of the Chicago Truck Drivers union have been negotiating for a new contract for several months. The old contract expired Dec. 31.

The unions demanded a 15 per cent basic weekly wage increase, time and one-half for overtime, two weeks' vacation with pay and a reduction in weekly hours from 51 to 48. The operators offered a $5 increase and a 15 cent increase in hourly overtime pay.

CAR THEFTS DROP IN 1942; 75 TIRES LOST IN MONTH

Auto thefts in Chicago declined during 1942, according to the annual report of the stolen car section of the detective bureau submitted to Commissioner Allman yesterday by Capt. George Teeling.

The report showed 3,417 cars stolen, as against 3,947 in 1941. The police recovered 3,583 cars, and 390 were stripped. Capt. Teeling explained that more cars are frequently recovered than stolen in Chicago, as cars taken in other cities are picked up here. The record disclosed a marked decline from the high year of 1932, when 34,789 automobiles were stolen, and 31,011 recovered.

Gasoline rationing brought a sharp curb to the theft of tires, the figure falling from 707 in June, to 75 in December, when rationing became effective. In all, 5,087 tires were stolen in 1942.

Council Passes New Budget; City Employes Get Pay Raises

BY BRYCE ENGLE.

The city council approved yesterday a 1943 city budget of approximately $161,125,000, or $325,000 more than provided for city functions in the budget previously submitted by its finance committee. More than half the $325,000 is in pay increases for several hundred city workers. These are in addition to general wage increases previously written into the budget by the finance committee, which averaged more than 10 per cent and totaled nearly 6 million dollars.

The council's action, by a vote of 38 to 1, came just two days after a public hearing on the budget in which the Civic Federation, seconded by half a dozen civic and property owner organizations, had demanded a cut of at least 2 million dollars in the appropriations and flatly opposed the general wage increases.

Proposes Appropriation Cuts.

The only dissenting vote came from Ald. John S. Boyle [16th], who announced his candidacy Thursday for the Democratic nomination for mayor. During the course of the meeting Boyle demanded reductions in several appropriations, his proposed cuts amounting to nearly half a million dollars. Each time he was voted down as all other aldermen went along with the administration.

Because of the numerous changes made yesterday, it will be a week before exact budget totals will be available, the finance committee staff said.

Many higher paid city employés, earnings from $3,000 to $7,000 were among those benefitting by the new pay raises. Tom Garry, head of the city sewers department, and known as the "Voice of the Sewers," was given one of the largest increases. Garry will be paid $7,000 this year, compared with $6,000 proposed earlier by the finance committee.

Yesterday's increases hiked appropriations in the city's corporate [operating] fund to approximately $59,090,189, or $250,000 more than previously recommended by the finance committee and $3,579,126 more than appropriated in this fund for 1942. A $73,000 increase in the traction fund over the earlier finance committee estimate will boost this fund to about $11,765,000. Appropriations in other funds, the finance committee staff estimated, will be about the same as the committee had proposed.

Tax Levy About Same.

The total budget of $161,125,520 is about 6 million dollars lower than in 1942, principally because of a $5,255,000 cut in the traction fund, but the total tax levy for city purposes will be about the same.

Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], finance committee chairman, introduced a three page statement which defended the city's financial policies and charged misstatements were made by the civic groups at the public hearing. It was referred to the finance committee, after Ald. George D. Kells [28th] suggested the statement be published in daily newspaper advertisments.

Employés to Be Reclassified.

Ald. Bowler announced a reclassification of civil service ratings of city employés will be undertaken during the year, and named Ald. John J. Duffy [19th] chairman of a subcommittee to handle the job. Any pay changes resulting from the reclassification will not become effective until 1944, he said. Thousands of city workers will be affected, Bowler predicted.

The council passed ordinances cutting in half the filling station tank license fees of $50 a 1,000 gallons, and the parking lot license fees of $4 a motor car parking space. The council also passed a resolution, to be forwarded to state officials, asking amendment to the state motor fuel tax law so these funds can be used for construction and maintenance of sewers and street lighting on arterial highways. Ald. Walter J. Orlikoski [35th] introduced a resolution demanding the state legislature cut the 2 per cent state retailers' occupational tax to 1 per cent or eliminate it. It was referred to the taxation committee.

MOTHER OF TWO AIR CADETS IS ARMY TEACHER

Mrs. Agnes L. Thompson, mother of two army aviation cadets, went to work yesterday as an instructor of radio mechanics in the air force radio school at the former Stevens hotel. She is the wife of D. W. Thompson, superintendent of the Warren Township High school in Gurnee, Lake county, for the last 21 years.

The Thompsons were married in 1920 when both were students at the University of Illinois. Mrs. Thompson, who was majoring in mathematics and physics, completed only three years of her course, but later obtained a degree by taking correspondence courses. To fit herself for her new teaching job she took a three months' course at St. Louis university. She is 43 years old.

The Thompsons have three sons. Rex, 21 years old, is an aviation cadet at Santa Ana, Cal. Ralph, 19, is a cadet at Maxwell field in Alabama. John, 18, plans to join the air forces when he is graduated from high school in June. Mrs. Thompson plans to commute daily between her home in Gurnee and her classes in Chicago.

Donnelley Labor Hearing Is Postponed for a Week

War labor board hearings on the labor controversy involving the R. R. Donnelley & Sons company of 350 East Cermak road have been postponed a week until Jan. 18 because of difficulty in obtaining a complete panel, N. M. Di Pietro, secretary of the Chicago printing trades unions, was advised last night in a telegram from the WLB. The hearing had been originally scheduled for Monday. The Donnelley concern prints a number of magazines.

LIBRARY WILL RAISE 1,078 WORKERS' PAY, BUT DECREASE BUDGET

The Chicago public library will operate on a smaller budget in 1943, but it is expected to include a 10 per cent raise in salary for 1,078 employés, Joseph B. Fleming, president of the library board, announced yesterday.

Fleming's announcement came after a joint meeting of the finance and administration committees, which recommended a 10 per cent increase for all employés earning not more than $3,000 a year. He said the raise was expected to meet approval by the board in its vote on Monday.

The salary raise means $105,000 more will be spent this year for wages, but the budget will total only $2,301,302, compared with $2,366,413 in 1942; Fleming explained this was possible because the board would waive the building levy, normally $200,000, and because there was a cash surplus of approximately $290,000.

Gov. Green to Pass 46th Birthday on Train Today

Gov. Dwight H. Green today will spend his 46th birthday on a train bound for Tulsa, Okla., where he will be the principal speaker tonight at a banquet honoring Sen. Ed H. Moore [R., Okla.]. The governor will return to Springfield in time to attend the inauguration ceremonies Monday for two incoming state officers. They are William G. Stratton, treasurer-elect, and Vernon L. Nickell, elected superintendent of public instruction. Both are Republicans.

GOLF BAG HUNT IS ACQUITTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Freed After Three Juries Fail to Agree.

Golf Bag Sam Hunt.

Golf Bag Sam Hunt, who won his nickname thru his ingenious habit of carrying shot guns and machine guns in a golf bag while a minor member of the old Capone gang, was freed last night of a murder charge by a jury in the Criminal court of Judge Rudolph F. Desort.

It was the fourth time that Hunt had gone to trial on the murder charge, which grew out of the slaying July 4 of Michael Wade, a Negro houseman of Winnetka, during an altercation over a traffic accident at Indiana avenue and Cermak road.

In his three previous trials, the juries had failed to reach a verdict and had been dismissed. In the interims between his appearances in court Hunt was confined without bail in the county jail.

Plan Assault Charge Trial.

Last night's not guilty verdict was reached by a jury of eight men and four women after two hours and forty minutes of deliberation.

Hunt's court worries, however, were not ended with the verdict. Immediately after it had been read prosecutors asked Judge Desort to set a date for trial of Hunt on a charge of assault with intent to kill James Baxter, also colored, who was wounded in the affray, and who was the state's principal witness. Judge Desort said he would decide on the trial date Wednesday, and Hunt was released on $5,000 bond.

Attorneys said the money for the bond had been provided by "friends" of Hunt. The defendant's wife, Patricia, 29, who had sat thru all four trials was present last night when the verdict was read.

Hunt in Jail Since July 11.

Hunt had been in jail since he surrendered July 11, a bullet wound in his leg, after hiding in the stables at the Lincoln Fields race track. He contended in his trials that the shooting occurred as he struggled with Wade and Baxter for possession of a revolver owned by Wade.

The weapon never has been found, altho police found a revolver belonging to Wade in the glove compartment of his car. The weapon had not been fired.

Hunt's first trial was in August, and a week after the jury had been dismissed three Negros were indicted on charges of having tried to induce Baxter to change his testimony.

Youth Confesses Robbing 20 Hotels After Midnight

Police said last night that George Walters, 19 years old, 24 South Hamlin avenue, has confessed more than 20 hotel robberies in recent weeks. When Walters was arrested at 3829 Madison street and found to be carrying a revolver, he told police he committed the robberies after midnight when the clerks were alone in the lobbies. Several of his victims have identified him, police said.

Romance Is Over

KAY HARRIS.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 8 (AP).—Brunnette Kay Harris, who jumped from modeling in a Chicago department store to leads in the movies, disclosed today that she and her husband, Henry Freulich, have separated.

Freulich, former Hollywood cameraman, is now in the army signal corps. Miss Harris said, "I am getting the divorce," but declined to say whether the action already had been filed.

The actress, a native of Elkhorn, Wis., and the cameraman were married last Jan. 24 in Las Vegas, Nev., a few minutes after she obtained a divorce from Charles A. Peters, an army flyer.

PLANS TO RENEW PLEA FOR BOOST IN TEACHERS' PAY

Ira S. Turley, president of the Chicago Teachers' union, said yesterday he will reiterate his request for a raise in salary for elementary school teachers Monday at a public hearing on the 1943 school board budget. The board of education rejected his proposal Thursday on the ground that it would mean an extra burden of $4,000,000 on the taxpayers, in addition to the $2,570,000 already assured the teachers in salary restorations.

Turley said he wants the annual automatic salary raise of $125 annually for 9 years extended to 10 years, thus giving the elementary teachers a maximum salary of $2,625, rather than $2,500, the present 10 year maximum.

He pointed out that after taxes and other deductions have been taken from salaries, the highest paid elementary teachers will have a purchasing power only about 70 per cent of the reduced pay received in 1933, when the big slash in wages was made.

Postmaster E. J. Kruetgen Improving After Operation

Condition of Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen yesterday was pronounced satisfactory by his physican, Dr. Max Bernauer, 8400 South Justine street, following a major operation in St. George's hospital. Taken ill suddenly, the postmaster was rushed to the hospital on Thursday morning. He is 74 years old.

ADMIRAL URGES SINGLE COMMAND IN RUNNING WAR

Would Unite All Units in One Department.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 8 [Special].—A single "department of welfare," which would unify the navy and war departments, combine all of our forces, and "blend our commanders thru coöperation and co-education," was advocated today by Vice Adm. John W. Greenslade, commander of the western sea frontier.

He told the Commonwealth club that "forgetting personal and professional pride and loyalties, our commanders must understand that the national welfare is supreme."

"Nelson's 'band of brothers,'" he said, "must be expanded to include all fighting men and all supporting elements. Lessons we have learned at the cost of American men and ships must be utilized to the utmost for national security here and beyond the visible horizon of our destiny."

Cites Example of Unity.

Adm. Greenslade declared that related successes in New Guinea and the Solomons were "not accidental" but were the result of a "unity of command and mutual coöperation."

"Our unity of command principles are developing constructively," he went on, "but perhaps it will be found wise to take further steps and eventually coördinate the forces within one department. Certainly one would be better than decentralization into three or more.

"Therein all the services could be trained to think, plan, and fight in terms of united forces. For it is by no means enough that an officer merely be given the authority to command. He must also have the knowledge and experience properly to employ the forces placed at his disposal.

New Fields for Commanders.

"There are rapid changes in the methods and requisites of modern war. Air, submarine, ground, and sea surface tactics—land, sea, and amphibian warfare—all these impose new and shifting considerations upon the commander in the field. He must think in terms of unity. At the least, officers of capacity for high command should be given education, training, and experience to fit them for that command."

Reviewing the war, Adm. Greenslade said the battleship has "come back." It has done so, he said, "because it is a better battleship than it was a year ago in defense against air and subsurface attack."

"Unquestionably," he continued, "there was a lag in improvising the protection of earlier battleships against planes. But now that this protection has become so improved, events may demonstrate that our continuing reliance on capital ships may have its compensations."

Benefit Planned to Give Aid to Polish Hospital

BY JUDITH CASS.

ILLNESS prevented Col. Anthony Jurasz, medical director of the Paderewski hospital in Edinburgh, Scotland, from attending a reception Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick gave for him yesterday afternoon at the Casino. His visit to Chicago, tho marred by sickness, will be long remembered, for it brought about a benefit for the hospital that will be held on Wednesday night, Jan. 20, a performance of "Hitler's Children" at the Palace theater.

Mr. and Mrs. McCormick, members since its foundation of the Commission for Polish Relief, organized the committee in charge of the benefit. Since Chicago is the second largest Polish city in the world, the proceeds will be used to create a foundation for a Chicago ward at the hospital.

The toast proposed by Mr. McCormick in both English and Polish, "Long live Poland! Niech zyje Polska!" expresses the spirit behind the hospital that was established as a memorial to Ignace Paderewski. After the war its equipment will be moved to Poland, and the Poles who attend its medical school, the only Polish one in existence, will return to aid their country. The equipment was given by Americans; the University of Edinburgh provides the buildings, and the British people maintain the hospital out of their rationed supplies.

The film, "Hitler's Children," starring Tim Holt and Bonita Granville, will be presented the night of the 20th only. The Palace theater is giving the performance free to the committee so that 100 cents out of each ticket, costing $1, will go directly to the hospital. All seats will be reserved.

Polish Official Receives in Place of Col. Jurasz.

Receiving in Col. Jurasz's place yesterday was Waclaw Babinski, vice minister of foreign affairs of Poland, who has just arrived from London. Also receiving were the consul general of Poland and Mrs. Karol Ripa. Holding a little reception of her own was chic Mrs. Alexander T. Baldwin of Bedford Hills, N. Y., mother of the McCormicks' daughter-in-law, Mrs. Brooks McCormick, who is on her way to California. Also present and the occasion of a toast to the army, navy, and marines, was Lt. Leo J. Dulacki, U. S. M. C., who brought first hand news of the McCormicks' son, Lt. Deering McCormick, U. S. N. R., from the Pacific.

Some of those serving on the benefit committee are Mayor and Mrs. Edward J. Kelly, Gen. and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mrs. Emmons Blaine, Charles Rozmarak, president of the Polish National alliance, and Mrs. Rozmarak; Mrs. Honorata Wolowska, president of the Polish Women's alliance; Col. and Mrs. George T. Langhorne, Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer, and Mrs. Antoinette Wlodarska-Czernia, vice president of the Polish Roman Catholic union.

Whether Col. Jurasz will be able to attend the remainder of the events scheduled for his Chicago visit was uncertain yesterday. Mr. Babinski will be present, however, at a luncheon Adam Kulikowski planned for Col. Jurasz today at the Tavern, to which officers of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations and of the American Friends of Poland have been invited.

Claude Alphand Giving Program at Arts Club.

Reservations for dinner tomorrow night at the Arts club have been filled for a week by members who are anxious to hear the program arranged for the evening. It is to be "Chansons de Paris" sung by Claude Alphand, who is making her first Chicago appearance. Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw, Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Charles H. Swift, Miss Alice Roullier, Mrs. Arthur G. Cable, Mrs. Hubert Burnham, and Mrs. Tilt Bissell are some of those taking guests to the club tomorrow.

Irving Berlin will receive a scroll making him an honorary member at the Tavern club's breakfast party tomorrow at which 25 members of the cast of "This Is the Army," including its composer, Mr. Berlin, will be the special guests. Mrs. Berlin, the John R. Winterbothams, Ernest Byfield, the Charles D. Freys, John J. Finley, the Jason Whitneys, Col. Charles D. Wiman, the Frederick Herendeens, and Maj. Gen. H. S. Aurand are among the 250 with reservations for breakfast.

Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson has gone to Boston to see her new grandson, the second son of Lt. and Mrs. George W. W. Brewster Jr. [Joan Ryerson], born on Dec. 29.

St. Luke's Bridge Party to Benefit Nursing Home.

The victory benefit bridge party planned for Jan. 19 by the women's auxiliary of the medical board of St. Luke's hospital will have an unusual feature, for simultaneously members of the organization stationed with the St. Luke's unit in Denver, Colo., will be giving a similar party in the western city. Proceeds from the two parties will help to furnish the hospital's new nursing home.

The Chicago party will take place on the 12th floor of the Indiana avenue building, with arrangements directed by Mrs. James A. Gough and Mrs. Thomas J. Coogan. Guests will see an exhibit of old nurses' costumes worn since the early days of St. Luke's. In Denver Maj. and Mrs. James Clark will open their home for the benefit.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY MARCIA WINN

Capital Chit-Chat.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—The rumor of the day is that Harry Hopkins and his bride may leave the White House for a suite in the New Statler hotel. The Hopkins' lease on the White House has caused almost as much comment as the stay there of Alexander Woollcott a year or two ago when, fresh from "The Man Who Came to Dinner," he had dinner at the White House and very shortly was a house guest there, too.

The government printing office has an order for 180 million income tax blanks, the largest number in the history of the country and an increase of 100 million over 1942. The assumption is that 25 million taxpayers will make returns but will mar 90 million blanks in the process. The remainder will be lost in the mails, held at banks, or be found in a vest pocket three years later.

Understatement of the week: The OWI announcement that it has uncovered statistics showing that if the allies had been together in 1939, as they are now, there would have been no war.

Sidelights from the President's message to congress: The first row of the White House box was occupied by Mrs. Roosevelt, done up in soft blue wool, a floppy blue hat, and a silver fox scarf; Mrs. Henry Wallace, who sat very straight, gazed always at the President, and looked as sweet and demure as every one here says she is, and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, also intent on the speech. Mrs. Roosevelt may have been listening, but she was not looking at her husband. She was bending over the gallery studying carefully every face on the crowded Republican side. "Going to write another column about us analyzing our clapping, I guess," a Republican remarked sourly. . . . Crown Princess Martha of Norway sat there, too, with Crown Prince Olaf, only a few rows behind Mrs. Roosevelt. . . . Klieg lights trained on the assembly while the President spoke gave a bright not-of-this-earth aura to every face. . . . The capitol grounds were closely guarded, and those without special passes were banned two blocks away. We entered in the wake of a food van, it being the only truck allowed on the premises. . . . Clare Luce, who wore purple and baby blue the first day congress opened, wore black with a touch of red at the throat, a single red carnation on her bosom, and black bows in her hair. The women in congress invariably go hatless. . . . Sen. Tom Connally of Texas wore his regulation long black frock coat with a black string bow tie, looking ministerial, aloof, and disheveled. . . . One gentleman wore a shrimp pink carnation in his lapel, and Ralph E. Updike, former congressman from Indiana, was there in the uniform of a marine captain.

Print Blouses in Gay Designs Prove Tempting

BY REA SEEGER.

Career girl fashion discoveries for a Saturday shopping spree include such tempting items as long sleeved print blouses ready for contrast with dark suits and skirts. These are the casual models made of eye-catching printed crêpes and jerseys with designs that are anything but demure and modest. Huge sombreros, tropical foliage, all over patterns of scrolls, huge blooms with a leaf or two in giddy green, even some modified surrealistic effects are available.

Background shades are equally new and effective with the copper and light cinnamon shades especially attractive. White, cerise or chartreuse designs provide a grand contrast for dark brown, navy blue or black skirts and jackets. Dramatic white backgrounds are splashed with cerise, magenta and purple, and there are all kinds of beige beauties printed with either black or navy blue designs.

Found in these daytime showings are the clever new two piece outfits in carnation pink, coral and aquamarine. The snappy skirts are sunburst pleated and the fitted torso top has a modest turnover collar, shallow vee, and sleeves that end a little below the elbow. The long torso blouse extends down over the hipline, featuring soft shirring at each side of the waistline in place of a belt. Another mix, match or contrast idea in the same modestly priced collection are the rayon threesomes with a texture and the weight of wool.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Career Girl Par Excellence.

Forty-nine years is a long time to be back of one counter, and 57 years a long time in the employ of one store—ever since she began working as a little Irish 13 year old [born in Dublin] running errands in the wholesale house, her long hair held in place with a circlet of ribbon.

So many persons know her, so many thousands of Chicagoans have ordered wedding invitations and calling cards and birth announcements from her, that it is scarcely necessary to tell her name—Ellen Jane Bredin, who today celebrates her 57th anniversary on the job.

Not one to look backwards wistfully, she still remembers her early business days: How she supplemented her education by going to night school, "walking home with a man who carried a dinner pail"; the early years in the store when the main aisle was lighted with gas and subject to unexpected "blackouts." She recalls the first "pinkish" electric lights, and the furor they caused . . . the first telephones installed for the public.

She had a white collar on her simple black dress the afternoon I dropped in to talk with her. It was a wretched day, and every one was complaining, but she never minds the weather. . . . "What's the difference?" Rain or shine, each Tuesday evening, after business hours, she goes to her art class, where she is learning to draw; other evenings she attends a lecture or enjoys her life membership in the Art institute. Her days never drag "because I have my work and I never, never tire of it." Barrels of questions have rolled over the stationery counter about the proper wording of invitations . . . and where does the minister stand . . . and what do you do about a debut . . . and what's the proper announcement for an elopement . . . and "should we leave the tissue in the invitations?"

Young people, she says, still love the fuss of big weddings. And men still balk at any occasion for which they do not have the proper attire. Widows "bent on being legal" quibble over surnames; the governor's wife [like her predecessors in the executive mansion] orders note paper; one day a prominent Chicago woman may stop at the counter holding a little yawny boy by the hand; before Miss Bredin knows it, the little yawny boy has grown up and is getting married, and what, she wonders, has happened to the years between?

Birth announcements . . . cards of thanks for the final floral tribute—all the milestones of living come to her lively attention. And to any chronicler of this interesting city, her memory, stretching back so many years, would be a rich storehouse. But even that would not tell the full story: Of photographs shyly taken from handbags ["I want you to see what he looks like!"]; of secrets imparted and life shared with the responsive little woman who has been back of the engraving counter almost half a century.

Recipe Contest Honors Today Go to Desserts

Thru the Looking Glass

Perspiration is almost as unpleasant to talk about as it is to encounter, but the control of it is pretty much everybody's business. It's one phase of feminine grooming about which men feel very strongly, altho their protests don't usually reach the ears of the persons for whom they are intended. We recently were asked by a business man to plead with the hundreds of employés in his plant for a more vigorous campaign against the offensive odor of perspiration! It was one of his pet peeves.

It's only the holier-than-thous who ignore the necessity of using deodorants. Every one perspires to some extent, and even the man or woman who normally perspires very little will occasionally find that the flow increases amazingly. Excitement or exhaustion or nervous strain will step it up—and you never can be certain that in any one day you won't have the kind of crisis that causes you to perspire furiously.

The only solution for every one is to be well armed against its odor all the time. Bathing daily is quite necessary and the consistent use of an antiperspirant or a deordorant is as necessary and should be as much a matter of habit as brushing the teeth. Their spasmodic use doesn't give us protection all the time.

Good Morning!

[They'll be putting Constance Bennett in pinafores if she doesn't stop looking younger and younger!]

This is a more or less regulation spy story. Its heroine is a mysterious blonde and its hero a foreign correspondent-radio broadcaster who marries and learns about women from her. Suspense is excellently maintained till the very end of the production, keeping you in doubt as to whether certain persons run with the hare or the hounds.

Action starts overseas with a wedding in the midst of a blitzkrieg. . . . Come a journey by water, a ship bombing, and the final arrival of "Madame Spy" and her husband in America, where, so to speak, skies immediately begin to fall, walls to cave in, and floors to collapse.

Thru it all Miss Bennett maintains her enigmatic smile.

Her leading man, Don Porter, is very good looking, has a come-hitherish personality and most decidedly can act. . . . A newcomer AND a comer. Yes, girls, we'll "squeeze something" about him in "The Voice of the Fan" one day. Other well liked male players, including John Eldridge and John Litel, have prominent rôles, and Edward Brophy as a taxi driver provides some robust comedy.

The picture is brief and well directed. Dialog, settings, and photography satisfy.

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 8.—If "Yankee Doodle Dandy" wins the Academy award this year—and here's hoping—it will be the third musical to get that honor, the other two being "Broadway Melody" of 1929, and "The Great Ziegfeld" of 1935. I'm rooting for Jimmy Cagney as the best star, Walter Huston as best supporting actor in "Yankee," either Greer Garson or Teresa Wright for best female star, Agnes Moorehead of "Magnificent Ambersons" as supporting actress. A special award to those zany comics, Abbott and Costello; another to Mrs. George M. Cohan, because this is the year they did her husband's life. It also marked the passing of "Yankee Doodle" himself, the greatest single contributor to show business ever born in this country. With Uncle Sam's men making history on all fronts, let's make it a Yankee Doodle Dandy year.

No Change of Pace.

Ida Lupino may be objecting to those psychopathic rôles, but evidently 20th Century hasn't heard of it, because her next will be "Porcelain Lady," a pathological murder "draymah" which finds her going thru the same routine she did in "They Drive by Night." . . . Wonder if Paramount realized the inflammability of film when they teamed Bob Hope and Betty Hutton. Singly these two have enough pep to start a small blaze; together their antics should create a conflagration. . . . Anna Sten's agent is saying Sam Goldwyn is paging her for "North Star," but Sam wouldn't have her again if she played an extra. . . . Gene Tierney, and not Linda Darnell, is testing for the lead in Herr Lubitsch's picture.

You Can Too Guess!

What glamor girl, after that famous party given for the Harry Hopkinses, sent Harry the following wire: "If there's a crumb left, remember me." Signed it "Madame Chiang Kai-shek." . . . Kay Kyser is taking his gang, plus Ann Miller, Veronica Lake, and George Carroll, to Fort MacArthur Sunday. I'm tagging along for old age security. . . . Gosh! You've never heard such a rave as Producer Dick Blumenthal put on about Loretta Young and her work in "China." . . . I was looking forward to listening to J. Cheever Chowdin on the American Forum of the Air about the President's $25,000 salary ceiling, and now begosh, he's backed out!

Good Neighbor Policy in Reverse.

What happened to Charles Laughton that he didn't show up for that special broadcast to Australia? 'Twas to feature Laughton, Jeanette MacDonald, and Cecil Kellaway. Was it because Charles was asked to introduce Kellaway as one of the greatest entertainers Australia had ever known [because he was, you know], and Kellaway is up for a remake of "Ruggles of Red Gap?" The other day when Cecil started "The Good Fellow," instead of waiting for the finish, he reversed the custom and brought everybody on the set a present—a dozen fresh eggs from his own ranch. . . . Phyllis Brooks and Flight Lt. George Girardet were exchanging ideas at Ciro's.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

The trim blue and white uniform of the Red Cross nurses' aid has become a familiar and welcome sight at the Hines Memorial hospital for war veterans, where 27 women of metropolitan Chicago each spend 12 hours weekly in voluntary service. Hines is the first veterans' hospital in the country to request nurses' aids.

The aids are under the direction of Mrs. Clive Runnells, a nurses' aid veteran of the first World war, who spent 18 months in France. Since the armistice she has been active in Red Cross drives and related work, and when the shortage of trained nurses became acute again she trained and offered her services at the hospitals. She and other Red Cross aids bathe, feed, and perform other nontechnical chores as directed, relieving the nurses for the technical jobs.

She and the women who work with her are among the 1,384 Chicago area aids who have completed training for this service. An additional 327 now are in the second phase of their seven week training course. An idea of the work the aids are doing may be gathered from their November report: A total of 817 of them served 21,087 hours in 37 hospitals in this area.

Thousands more women are needed to serve as aids, and urgent appeals have been made by the Red Cross to train for this vital war work. The supply of trained nurses here is approaching the critical stage, because of the demand by various military units, and those remaining need all the assistance possible.

Plans call for the allocation of nurses' aids on the basis of one to every 15 beds in a hospital. This goal has not been achieved because of the lack of trained aids. Cook County hospital, for instance, now has 76 aids performing duties there, while 163 would be required on the 1-15 ratio. The same percentage is common in other hospitals where aids are working.

Mrs. Arthur H. Spiegel, chairman of the volunteer nurses' aid corps of the Red Cross, urges women to apply for this training at headquarters, 529 South Wabash avenue. Training periods are started monthly. The same training for working women is offered in a 20 week evening course, but the big need now is for women who can serve in the day time.

Announcement was made yesterday by Lake Forest college of a new program to prepare its women students for both war time and post-war services. In coöperation with the Jane McAllister School of Nursing at Victory Memorial hospital in Waukegan, a 5 year nursing course has been established.

Upon completion of the course, which will begin on Jan. 25, students will receive both a bachelor of science degree from the college and a certificate from the school of nursing. Those young women who enroll will have two years of general college work, with emphasis on technical subjects. The remaining three years will be spent at the nurses' training school, and will include some college work. The nursing course has been added to the curriculum in answer to the war time and estimated demands for both military and civil services.

The volunteer bureau of the OCD and the Council of Social Agencies announces a new basic orientation course for volunteer workers, to be held in two sections, next Monday and the following Monday evenings at 7 o'clock at 111 West Jackson boulevard. Dr. Samuel Goldsmith will speak on the work of the council at the first meeting, and Walter Roy, liaison officer for the OCD, will address the second gathering.

Those wishing to enroll for this course should make an appointment for an interview by calling or writing the volunteer office.

Four new recruiting officers arrived yesterday at the WAAC office, 166 West Van Buren street, from Fort Des Moines, Ia., at an opportune time, as 50 new inductees were administered their oaths. The new auxiliaries were the second group sworn into the corps this week. The officers came to augment the staff of two previously assigned to the recruiting office. The increase was a result of greater recruiting activities caused by increased quotas and by Chicago women's increased response to the need.

The Stage

By Cecil Smith

At tomorrow afternoon's special performance of "This Is the Army" for service men, junior officers of the 6th service command will function as ushers. When Maj. Gen. H. S. Aurand, commanding officer of the 6th service command, called for officer volunteers, the officers of the district are reported to have "clamored for the opportunity."

Gen. Aurand has endeavored to parcel the seats out fairly, dividing the seats among army, navy, and marine posts in the Chicago vicinity. Some of the Army Air Force Technical school students will attend. In order to provide opportunities for men from out of town who are in Chicago on leave, tickets have been allotted to the service men's centers and the U. S. O. Men from nearby posts will be brought to the city in special buses and trains, and will march in formation from the stations to the Civic Opera house.

According to advices from New York, "Lady in the Dark," opening at the Civic Opera house Jan. 19, will remain for "a minimum run of four weeks." Our informant might have added that it cannot remain for a maximum run of more than five weeks, since Ballet Theater will be coming into the house on Feb. 24. At the end of the Chicago engagement, whenever that may be, "Lady in the Dark" will go to Boston for a few weeks, and then, if the right theater can be found, it will return to New York.

Yesterday morning in discussing the so-called "command performance" of "The Eve of St. Mark" in Washington on Jan. 24, I committed two ambiguities which ought to be cleared up: [1] The Playwrights company, producer of "The Eve of St. Mark," is not responsible for the royalistic description of the event; [2] the New York company will give the performance and not the company opening here Jan. 18.

189,985 Enrollment in Catholic Schools of Chicago Reported

Chicago Catholic schools, ranging from kindergarten to university, have enrolled 189,985 pupils and students in the last year. This was reported by the Very Rev. Msgr. Daniel F. Cunningham, superintendent of the Catholic school board. Enrollments are divided among 400 parochial and other elementary schools, 89 high schools, and eight colleges and universities.

High school enrollments increased more than 1,000 students over the previous year, the report said. Sixty-seven religious communities provide the teaching staffs of the elementary schools, and the 3,816 teaching members of these communities are aided by 290 special teachers and 85 lay teachers.

★ Your Stars Today ★

Saturday, Jan. 9.

Better for social, emotional affairs today than for shifting career relationships around. Early inspirations not so warm. Caution advised with elders, old starts. Evening till 9 o'clock: Pay attention to the new ideas that drift in.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead, if today is your birthday, is subtly unsettled; emotions change goals. Be selective. Effects from past causes with inferiors, in health. Allies offer help. Danger: Feb. 9-21 and June 15-22.

Father Magner to Be Speaker Tomorrow for Carroll Forum

The Rev. Dr. James A. Magner, procurator of the Catholic university of America, Washington, D. C., and founder of the Charles Carroll forum, will be the forum speaker at 3:30 tomorrow at the Palmer House. Father Magner, formerly of the faculty of Quigley Preparatory school, has become widely known for his recent books, especially on Latin American affairs. His recent volume, "Men of Mexico," is regarded highly among students of that country's affairs. Father Magner founded the forum several years ago.

Miss Korrady Will Become Bride Today

A reception at the Indian Hill club will follow the wedding today of Miss Priscilla Korrady, daughter of the J. Blaine Korradys of Winnetka, and Robert E. Blackburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver A. Blackburn of Evanston. Officiating at the 4:30 o'clock ceremony in the Winnetka Congregational church will be the Rev. Samuel D. Harkness and the Rev. Ernest F. Tittle.

Miss Sally Korrady will be her sister's maid of honor, and among the bridesmaids will be Mr. Blackburn's young sister, Joan. Their brother, Richard Blackburn, will serve as best man, and another brother, Donald, will usher with James Hurd, Richard KixMiller, and the bridegroom's Princeton roommate, John Klopfer of Wayne, Pa. Mr. Blackburn and his bride will live in Evanston. They will have a short trip before he returns to his defense job.

Ensign and Mrs. Lester Tibbals Jr., will be at home almost immediately in New York, because Lester will not have a long enough navy leave from his duties as instructor at Columbia university to take a wedding trip. For her marriage yesterday to the young naval officer the former Miss Christina Freeman wore the wedding gown in which her mother, Mrs. John E. Freeman, was married. Heirloom lace handed down from the bride's two grandmothers trimmed the handsome gown and formed the Juliet cap she wore. After the 4:30 o'clock ceremony in the Children's chapel of the Winnetka Congregational church, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman gave a reception in their Winnetka home. Mr. and Mrs. Tibbals Sr. were here from Milford, Conn., for the wedding.

Former Winnetka neighbors of Capt. and Mrs. Howard L. Watrous, who now are at Baer field in Fort Wayne, Ind., will be interested to hear that their son, Lt. William Schuyler Watrous, is being married today in Lubbock, Tex., to Miss Carrie Dell Lemoir, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Lemoir of that city. Mrs. Watrous flew to Texas for the ceremony, which is set for 6 o'clock this evening in the First Baptist church of Lubbock.

Lt. Watrous will bring his bride to Chicago on a wedding trip before returning to Lubbock, where he is an instructor in the army air corps glider school.

Following the marriage tonight of Miss Dorothy Fisher and Lt. Howard Chittick Russell in the First Congregational church of Wilmette, the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Welton Fisher of Wilmette, will give a reception at the Shawnee Country club. Mrs. Thomas G. Hildebrandt of Winston-Salem, N. C., will be her sister's matron of honor, and serving as bridesmaids will be their cousin, Miss Elizabeth Ann Herdegen of Grosse Point Farms, Mich., and Mrs. Thomas C. Russell Jr., whose husband will serve as best man for his brother. Marian Stowe, the Fishers' godchild, will be flower girl. Lt. Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Russell of East Chestnut street, will take his bride to Fort Leavenworth, Kas. He received his commission on Wednesday at Fargo, N. D.

Miss Dorothy Shannon, daughter of Mrs. John A. Shannon of Glenwood avenue, and Ensign Julian Carroll D'Esposito, U. S. N. R., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua D'Esposito of Wilmette, will be married at 11 o'clock this morning in St. Ita's church, with a breakfast following at the Edgewater Beach hotel for the two families, and a reception in the afternoon at the home of the bride's mother. Lt. Austin S. Rigney, U. S. C. G., will give the bride away, and his wife will be her sister's matron of honor. Miss Mary Shannon, another sister, and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Louise D'Esposito, will be bridesmaids. Joshua D'Esposito Jr. will be his brother's best man.

Miss Constance Chase Drake and Lt. Walter Raymond Hinton will be married at 5:30 o'clock today in St. James' Episcopal church, New York City. Later the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Drake of Pittsburgh, Pa., will give a reception at the Beekman hotel. The bride will wear the wedding gown in which her sister, Mrs. Chauncey K. Hubbard of Greenwich, Conn., was married. Mrs. Hubbard and another sister, Mrs. Chester H. Lasell of Greenwich, will serve as attendants, along with their sister-in-law, Mrs. James F. Drake Jr. of Florida. Lt. Hinton, son of Walter H. Hinton of Glen Ellyn, is with the army air corps.

By today Lt. and Mrs. Harold Byron Keith will be on their way to California, where he is to be stationed. The former Miss Elizabeth Andress Pollock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Frederick Pollock of Evanston, and Lt. Keith were married last Monday in the Lady chapel of St. Luke's church, Evanston. The former Miss Pollock attended Denison university. Lt. Keith, son of Mrs. C. A. Keith of Kenilworth, was graduated from the University of Colorado and received his commission as second lieutenant recently at Camp Davis, North Carolina.

Deal Wisely with Youngest Family Member

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1943: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

When your youngest boy or girl develops undesirable behavior, don't complacently put it down to the fact that she or he is spoiled, simply because it's more or less natural for every one to spoil the baby of the family, and, in so doing, fail to look beyond and find the underlying cause and to remedy it, if possible.

The story of Judy will illustrate my point:

Judy is 9 years old, the youngest of four daughters, three of whom are in their teens. It is a healthy, happy household where apparently everybody shares alike. So, a few months ago when Judy suddenly began to be late for every meal, ate little and talked almost incessantly, and was so slow in dressing in the morning that she was late several times at school, her parents were gravely concerned. Could it be that Judy was spoiled to such a degree?

The family doctor was consulted first, but he found Judy in perfect health. Reasoning with the child was next tried, then disciplinary measures, but the results weren't at all satisfactory. Then one night when the dishes were being washed one of the girls, believing the youngest sister to be upstairs and out of earshot, said, "Mother, what's the matter with Judy? What makes her such a pest nowadays; she used to be so sweet."

"I'm not a pest," came the defiant voice of Judy from the living-room, before her mother had a chance to reply. "You just keep still! Everybody in this house talks about what they do and where they go. Only Mother and Daddy ever pay any attention to what I think is interesting. Why can't I be somebody, too?"

So you see it is quite difficult sometimes to be the youngest member of the family, especially if there is a sharp difference in ages, as in this case. Constantly acting up gave young Judy the satisfaction of making her sisters absorbed in their own gayeties and growing-up notice her, if only to grumble about her behavior. Now the situation was clarified, and, with everybody's coöperation, was corrected.

Jealousy is hydra-headed and not easy to diagnose even in adult life, so it's easy to understand how bewildering the emotion may be to a child. In order to cure any illness, it is necessary to find the cause and to remedy it. Jealousy can amount to an illness, if it isn't uncovered so that it can be properly handled. Hurt feelings may manifest themselves in any number of obscure ways, so if your youngest [or any other child in your family, for that matter] suddenly or slowly develops difficult behavior, don't go off the deep end and mete out punishment. It's not the answer and often tends to make the situation more acute. Rather try to bring the difficulty out into the light of day, where with patience and kindness everything can be set right.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

I often wonder how many cast-iron contracts have been thrown away simply because the declarer "quit." Consider today's hand:

South, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH
♥ K 6 5
♦ Q 8 7 2
♣ K 6 5

WEST
♠ Q J 10 7 4
♥ 9 8 4 3
♦ A 3
♣ 9 4

EAST
♠ K 9 5 2
♥ J 10 7 2
♦ K

SOUTH
♠ 8
♥ A Q
♦ J 10 9 6 5 4
♣ A 7 3 2

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	1 spade	1 no trump	2 spades
Pass	Pass	4 diamonds	Pass
5 diamonds	Pass	Pass	Pass

When the dummy went down, after the spade queen opening, declarer could see only one far-fetched hope of making the contract. If East held a doubleton king or ace of diamonds, he might cover dummy's queen and thereby "kill" the singleton honor in West's hand. With this thought in mind, declarer led the diamond queen from dummy. East played the king, but declarer's hopes dropped to zero when West followed with the trey. East returned a spade; thereupon South threw his cards face up on the table and "quit," conceding the opponents another diamond and a club trick.

Now let us look the hand over to determine whether declarer should have surrendered without a struggle. He could not salvage a second trump trick, but there was one possible chance of saving the club loser. After ruffing East's spade return he should have played his A-Q of hearts. A club to dummy's king would provide the entry for the lead of the heart king, on which a small club would be discarded. Another spade ruff by the closed hand would now strip declarer and dummy of hearts and spades. After cashing the club ace, the second diamond trick would now be conceded and if [as was the case] the hand winning the diamond trick held no more clubs, the contract would be assured via the "ruff and discard" route.

The odds against finding the doubleton trump and doubleton club in the same hand were considerable, but after all, even one chance in a hundred is better than no chance at all.

THREE TRACKS DISCUSS SHIFT TO HAWTHORNE

BIG 10 BASKETBALL TEAMS OPEN TITLE RACE TONIGHT

WISCONSIN, N. U. TOP STADIUM'S DOUBLE HEADER

Marquette, De Paul Clash Again.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Wisconsin and Northwestern, top flight contenders for the Western conference basketball championship, will open their Big Ten schedule this evening in the first game of a double header in Chicago Stadium. De Paul university, beaten once in 10 games, plays Marquette in the second game.

Wisconsin and Northwestern have veteran squads supported by capable newcomers. The game brings together the men who led the Big Ten scoring last year, Johnny Kotz of Wisconsin, who took first place in 15 games with 242 points, and Otto Graham of Northwestern, the runner-up with 196 points.

Guards Are Good, Too.

Counter-balance for this scoring power will be two of the Big Ten's finest guards, Bud Hasse of the Wildcats, and Fred Rehm of the Badgers. It is likely that Hasse will guard Kotz tonight, since the lanky Northwestern player has height and agility. The job, however, will require coöperation, for in a man to man defense any block requires a shift in defensive assignment for at least a few seconds.

Capt. Russ Wendland, who pairs with Hasse at the guard posts, also will be responsible on occasion for covering Kotz. Wendlund is the higher scorer and his down court play is perhaps more important than a strict defensive assignment. Rehm seems to be the logical man to shadow Graham, altho there has been no announcement to that effect from the Badger camp.

Jake Pairs with Graham.

These veterans are newsworthy because of their 1942 records, but tonight's result, as in any game, will depend on balanced attack and defense. Wisconsin's starting five, which has accounted for six victories in seven games, may be compared with the 1941 quintet which won the conference and national collegiate championships. Bob Sullivan will be the other Badger forward, Ray Patterson is the center, and Walter Lautenbach will pair with Rehm at the guard position.

Bobby Jake, who has improved in his second season, will be the other Northwestern forward. George Felt, a sophomore, has given the Wildcats height for control of the ball off the backboards, a deficiency that cost Northwestern several games last year.

The De Paul-Marquette contest may be as well played as the conference game but it does not have the same spectator interest because the Demons walloped Marquette in the first game of their series, 54 to 46.

GLEN OAK GETS WOMEN GOLFERS' WESTERN OPEN

The Annual Open tournament of the Women's Western Golf association, since 1930 one of the outstanding competitions in the game, will be held at the Glen Oak Country club, opening June 28 and continuing thru July 2. Decision to hold the 1943 tourney was made recently at a meeting of the W. W. G. A. executive board in the Chicago Athletic association.

In making the announcement yesterday the association also revealed that the annual Derby, longest medal play event for women golfers, and the junior will not be conducted. Neither was on the 1942 program. The association indicated that every effort will be made to hold the Amateur tournament, but site and dates will be determined later.

Betty Jameson, formerly a resident of San Antonio, Tex., who now makes her home in Evanston, won both the Open and Amateur last year, held respectively at Elmhurst and Sunset Ridge.

Choice of Glen Oak solves any transportation problem that might arise, since the club is located within a hundred yards of the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin railroad.

Fight Decisions

At New York—Bob Montgomery stopped Chester Rico [7]; Johnny Greco knocked out Bill Speary [1]; Sonny Horne beat Joe Agosta [8]; George La Rover beat Pete Manchio [4].

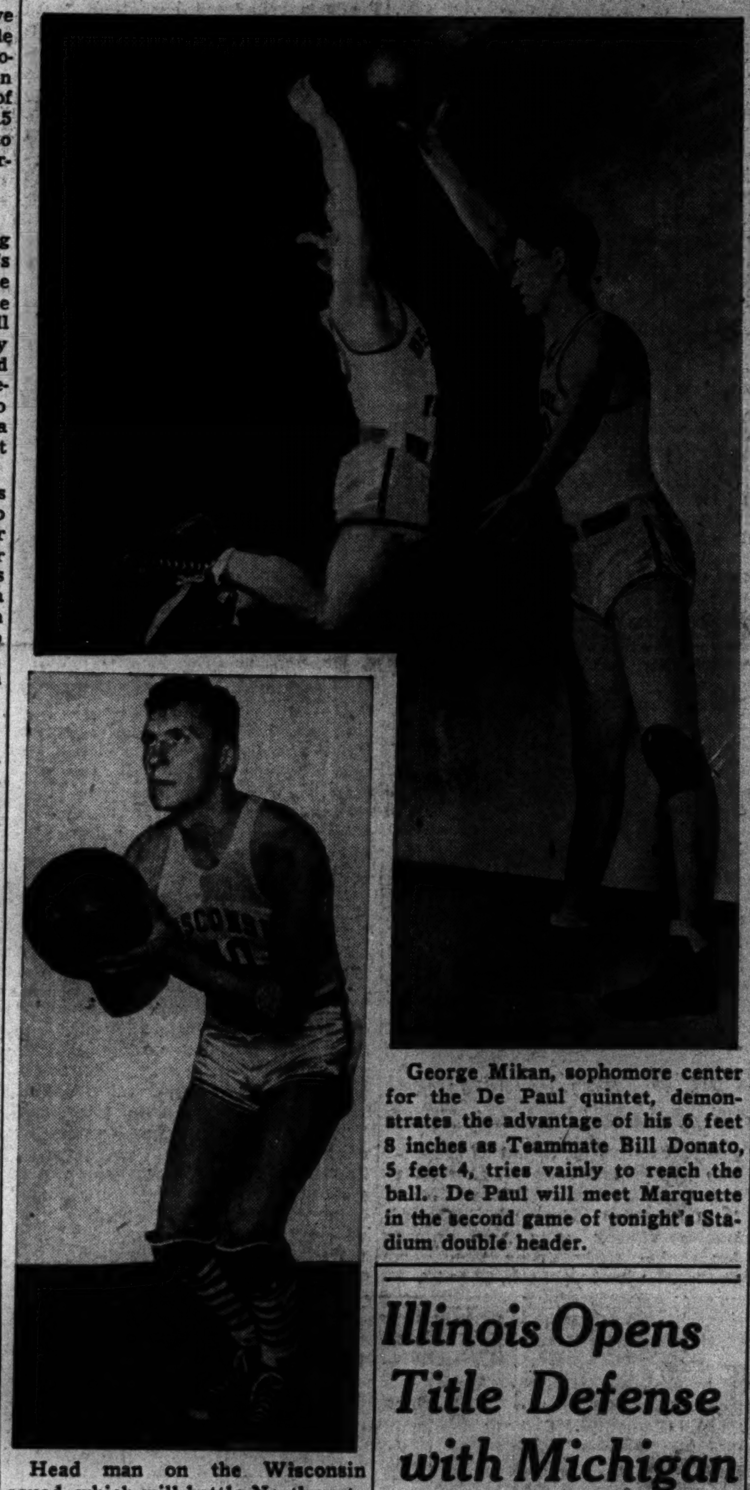
Headliners in Tonight's Stadium Show



George Mikan, sophomore center for the De Paul quintet, demonstrates the advantage of his 6 feet 8 inches as Teammate Bill Donato, 5 feet 4, tries vainly to reach the ball. De Paul will meet Marquette in the second game of tonight's Stadium double header.

Head man on the Wisconsin squad, which will battle Northwestern in the first game tonight, is this high scoring forward—John Kotz. He topped the Western conference last season.

Illinois Opens Title Defense with Michigan

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 8 [Special].—Michigan's Wolverines, undefeated in five nonconference contests, will be the opening Big Ten foes for Illinois' defending conference basketball champions here tomorrow night. Illinois has been beaten only by Camp Grant in six games this season.

Only Center Vic Wukowits is missing from the Illini squad that breezed to the Big Ten title a year ago with four sophomores among the opening five.

Two Sophomores to Start.

Altho Michigan has six lettermen, only Capt. Jim Mandler and Ralph Gibert are sure of starting berths. Wiese at the opposite forward post from Gibert, and Don Lund and Dave Strack at the guards.

Ken Menke, leading scorer, may be unable to play for Illini. Menke's foot was injured in practice Tuesday. Coach Doug Mills probably will substitute Ed [Ace] Parker, at forward, altho another possibility is the transfer of Jack Smiley to forward with Ken Parker at guard.

Menke's appearance against Wisconsin at Madison Monday night also is doubtful. If Menke is unable to play, it will be the first time the combination of Andy Phillip, Gene Vance, Smiley, and Menke, has been broken up since they started playing as sophomores last season. Lineups:

ILLINOIS.		MICHIGAN.
Phillip	F	Gibert
E. Parker	F	Wiese
Mathisen	C	Mandler
Vance	G	Lund
Smiley	G	Strack

Officials—Ronald J. Gibbs [St. Thomas] and William Haarlow [Chicago].

A. L. TEAMS PLAY TO 4,415,922 IN '42; YANKS LEAD

Red Sox Shatter Local Record with 730,340.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The American league as a whole didn't experience any severe attendance pains last season, despite the cool conclusion occasioned by the Yankees' speedy clinching of the pennant.

During the 1942 race the junior major league turnstiles registered a total gate of 4,415,922 customers, according to a count revealed yesterday by President Will Harridge. And while the circuit has enjoyed better seasons, the aggregate turnout was highly satisfactory in view of the uncertainties precipitated by the first year of war.

Of the grand total of 4,415,922 the receipts of 215,706 spectators didn't find their way into the treasuries of the respective clubs. This money, $238,205.24, was contributed to the Army and Navy relief funds as the result of one benefit program in each league city.

Yanks Lead 'Em All.

It's an old American league custom for the Yankees to set the pace in home attendance and 1942 was no exception. Joe McCarthy's lads played before 922,011 in their ornate stadium. Boston's Red Sox were second on the list with 730,340, this being an all time top for that club. The St. Louis Browns also gained over 1941. The heaviest drops occurred at Chicago and Cleveland, two clubs that suffered in the won and lost columns.

The 1942 gate was about a half million below that of 1941 which, however, was a better than average season. The league's highest in history was the 5,433,791 during the 1940 season in which the Tigers, Indians, and Yankees carried the pennant battle up to the last 24 hours, the Tigers winning. The biggest year prior to 1940 was the 5,255,439 gate in 1924. The five million mark also was passed in 1925.

Cubs and Sox Set.

Training spots to be occupied by the Cubs and White Sox during their spring sojourn at French Lick, Ind., were officially staked off yesterday by the survey crew made up of Bobby Dorr, Wrigley field superintendent, Cub Secretary Bob Lewis, and Sox Secretary Joe Barry.

Dorr, an expert on detecting spots in which spring rains might settle, put his approval on a portion of the golf layout, previously O. K.'d by Manager Jim Wilson, who had first choice. However, a one time ball park about a mile from the hotel, and which previously had been deemed suitable for the Sox, looked suspicious to Dorr. He selected, with the approval of Secretary Barry, a level turf covered piece which at one time was devoted to the training of the Taggart thoroughbreds and later used as a field by a semi-pro team. So the Sox will have to walk only one mile a day and the Cubs only about 300 yards per round trip.

Cubs on Fairway.

While the Sox will have to do a little more walking going to and from work, they'll be able to do at least some throwing in case of rain. Adjoining their field are spacious shelters under which the thorobreds once loafed. Manager James Dykes, being a thoughtful soul, might even invite the Cubs over to his shop for rainy day visits.

The Cubs' field will be spread over the practice fairway and what is known as the 18th hole of the Valley course. The fairways are parallel and can be turned into one open piece by the removal of a few trees. Work on the diamonds will be started in both places immediately.

Western Tennis Association to Hold Meeting Today

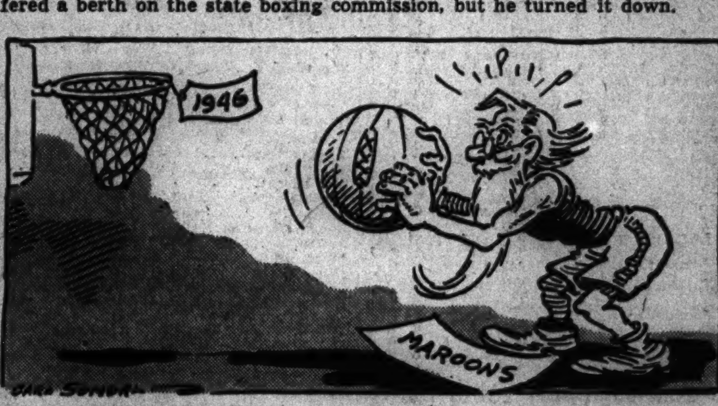
The Western Lawn Tennis association will hold its annual meeting today in the Sherman hotel. Officers will be elected, the 1942 report will be read, and plans for 1943 will be discussed.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

[While Arch Ward, conductor of the Wake, is enjoying his annual vacation, the column will be prepared by members of the sports staff.]

A FEW notes on the Great Lakes basketball team, which promises to produce an even more brilliant record than did last year's fine quintet: John [Buster] Hiller, former Notre Dame star, a forward, set a national prep scoring record of 540 points in his senior year at St. Michael's High school, Santa Fe, N. M. . . . Hiller led the squad to the state championship and also to the finals of the National Catholic tournament at Loyola university in March, 1940. . . . The southwestern team lost to Central Catholic of Fort Wayne, Ind., 35 to 33, in the finals, altho Hiller accounted for 24 points. . . . Gilbert Huffman, 23 year old guard, a graduate of the University of Tennessee, is a brother of two former Indiana university greats—Vernon and Marvin Huffman. . . . Vernon starred in basketball and football on the campus and continued his athletic career with the Detroit Lions. . . . Marvin was strictly a basketball man. . . . All three prepped at Newcastle, Ind. . . . Six members of the new Bluejacket outfit played against the Sailors last winter as members of college squads. . . . They include Forrest Sprowl and Charley Caress of Purdue; George Sobek and Hiller of Notre Dame, Wilbur Schumacher of Butler university, and Chester Aubuchon of Michigan State college. . . . Bob Davies, 22 year old passing wizard of the team, won letters in football, basketball, track, and baseball while attending high school in Harrisburg, Pa. . . . After that he was a diamond and basket headliner at Seton Hall college, Orange, N. J. . . . Great Lakes' 20 man squad includes representatives of 12 middlewestern colleges and universities.

Wally Butts, coach of Georgia's Rose bowl champions, played end at Mercer college, altho he is only 5 feet 6 inches tall. . . . Wally explains his success as an end with the modest statement "Forward passing wasn't so popular in those days." . . . Dan Parker, New York sports editor, was offered a berth on the state boxing commission, but he turned it down.



Courage, Maroons!

I expect to see a total victory in 1945 or '46 for the University of Chicago basketball team.

Soldier's Gift.

A package that came in the mail today
Gave me a quick little lift,
For, printed across the corner
Was the legend "Soldier's Gift";
Then, quick as a flash, came another thought
Bringing hints of mist to the eye—
I trust all this didn't seem too strange
To the casual passer-by.

As if those boys haven't given enough
Out there on the seas adrift,
Without sending back, in the fullness of heart,
A box labeled "Soldier's Gift."
They have left their homes, their folks, their friends,
They are off'ring their very all,
And still they must send back something more
From some distant port of call.

Somehow, I felt an odd twinge of guilt
As I carried that package away,
Whatever the trifle that lay within
Would be more than I e'er could repay.
I could never explain the thoughts that then
Began thru my mind to drift,
As humbly I carried that treasured boon
Marked simply a "Soldier's Gift."

PLAYGROUNDS TO VIE TODAY FOR SKATING TITLES

Tomorrow: Tri-State Day; Then Tribune Derbies.

Herman J. Fischer.

The annual speed skating races of the Board of Education playgrounds will be held today in Lincoln park. The boys' teams, divided into two groups, will skate on the north pond at the foot of Fullerton avenue, while the girls' championship meet will be held at 2 o'clock on the south pond of Lincoln park at Armitage.

The boys' midget and junior classes will skate at 10 o'clock this morning, while the intermediates and seniors will start competition at 1:30. These are the finals of the races which have been held in all of the Board of Education playgrounds in the last month. Each playground may enter six boys in each event and each playground may be represented by one relay team.

Officials Are Listed.

Herman J. Fischer, director of the bureau of recreation, is referee of the meet. Nicholas Malloy, Fred Schwind, and Walter Sonnenleiter are assistant referees.

Many of the boys and girls, who will compete today for the Board of Education championships, will seek Silver Skates next Saturday and Sunday in Garfield park in the 26th Derbies sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Individual entries and team entries will be accepted until midnight tomorrow.

Entries for today's races close at 10 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. for the boys' races, and all playground instructors must submit the names of their contestants to the number clerks at the warming house at the Lincoln park ponds.

The schedule of boys' events at 10 o'clock this morning:

Boys' midget class, under 12 years of age—110 yards and 220 yards; 440 yard relay.

Boys' junior class, under 15 years of age—220 yards and 440 yards; half mile relay.

The schedule for the afternoon races:

Boys' intermediate class, under 18 years of age—220 yards and 880 yards; half mile relay.

Boys' senior class, 18 years of age and over—440 yards and one mile, with half mile qualifying heats for the mile; mile relay with half mile qualifying heats.

Girls Race in Three Classes.

The girls' championship races at 2 o'clock this afternoon on the south pond are divided into three classes of competition. The age classes and the events follow:

Girls' junior class, under 12 years of age—110 yards and 220 yards.

Girls' intermediate class, under 15 years of age—110 yards, 220 yards, and 440 yard relay.

Girls' senior class, 15 years of age and over—220 yards, 440 yards, and 440 yard relay.

The Chicago park district meet, which was scheduled for this afternoon in Garfield park, has been postponed so that the Tri-State races tomorrow afternoon will have a better course. The Tri-State meet is sponsored by the C. Y. O., and a program of 21 events has been arranged, starting at 1:30 p. m.

2 PLAYERS HURT, ILLINOIS DROPS HOCKEY PROGRAM

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 8 [Special].—Because two out of eight available players are unable to play, the University of Illinois today canceled the ice hockey games with Minnesota set here tonight and tomorrow.

The Gopher squad, which already had arrived, returned tonight. Athletic Director Doug Mills said that the remainder of the Illinois schedule, which includes four games with Michigan and Michigan Tech and two more with Minnesota in Minneapolis, would have to be given up.

OWNERS UNITE TO SOLVE WAR TRAVEL PUZZLE

Meet Wednesday to Draft Program.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Illinois race track operators last night stated that they are prepared to meet the transportation crisis with drastic action which may go as far as running four of the five Chicago area meetings at one centrally located plant such as Hawthorne. The tracks affected by the contemplated move would be Arlington Park, Washington Park, and Lincoln Fields.

The newly organized Illinois Turf association, headed by Matt J. Winn, Benjamin F. Lindheimer, John D. Allen, and Charles Bidwill, will meet Wednesday in the Palmer House to draft plans for the 1943 season, which has brought up some of the toughest problems in the history of the sport.

The transportation situation, which already has killed Florida racing, has sparked up a spirit of full coöperation among the Chicago area track operators. Tho occasionally in the past they have been a bit at odds with one another, they now are prepared to do anything mutually helpful in an effort to keep the sport alive if this is consistent with the war situation.

Believes Problems Can Be Solved.

"We believe that the unusual problems now confronting racing may be solved if all concerned show a full willingness to get together," Lindheimer, who is executive director of both Arlington Park and Washington Park, said last night. "There are many aspects to this coöperation. It includes, if circumstances warrant, joining forces to operate various meetings at tracks most advantageously located."

When asked if there was considerable probability that this shift to a near-in track might be necessary, Lindheimer replied that he believed there was.

It is understood that Arlington first would consider shifting its meeting to Washington Park, these two tracks having been coördinated for several seasons. Washington Park is served by the Illinois Central suburban trains, but the track is located on a spur which turns off the main line at Harvey, about four miles from the racing plant.

Main Line Is Mile Away.

The main line continues on thru Homewood, which is only about a mile from the track. If the Illinois Central service should become unavailable, it is understood that both Arlington and Washington Park then would turn to Hawthorne.

Winn, who is head of Lincoln Fields and Churchill Downs, last night gave his reactions to the problems he faces in operating both of these tracks and in putting on the Kentucky Derby.

"Our situation in Louisville, of course, is entirely different than it is here," he said. "Churchill Downs is only three miles from the center of the city. The entire residential district, from which we draw our local patrons, is included in these three miles and street cars run direct to the track. As for the out-of-town Derby crowd, that, of course, depends entirely on the national transportation situation in May. I was in touch with the Churchill Downs office this week and learned that the requests for renewal of annual reservations are coming in faster this year than in 1942.

Satisfied to Meet Expenses.

"Of course we can't expect another crowd of 90,000. We'll be satisfied if we can just keep going along. Our purses are the same as last season and we've again offered a $75,000 Derby purse.

"With regard to Lincoln Fields, the transportation problem is much more difficult. We're out in the country. However, all of the Chicago track operators are showing fine coöperation and I think we'll be able to work this out so as to put on our meeting closer to the city. The big thing is to keep the game alive if it doesn't interfere with war activity. Of course if we're told that it does, then we'll simply close."

It is considered probable that Hawthorne would be the most logical shift for the Lincoln Fields meeting.

Sportsman's Near Hawthorne.

Hawthorne is located at 35th street and Laramie avenue. It is reached by street cars and buses, which connect with the Douglas Park elevated line. The fifth Chicago area track, [half mile] Sportsman's Park, adjoins Hawthorne.

There probably are some legal technicalities which would have to be ironed out in the matter of issuing licenses to run all season at one track, but no serious difficulty is anticipated along this line.

BOOST NEW ORLEANS PURSE.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 8 (AP).—Julius G. Reeder, manager of the Fair Grounds race track, said today that the purse for the New Orleans handicap Feb. 27, would be increased and might exceed $15,000. It was scheduled as a $10,000 event but the anticipated arrival of Whirlaway and other horses from Florida has prompted the contemplated boost. In a telephone conversation today Ben Jones, Whirlaway's trainer, told Reeder that the planned to ship the champion and 12 other Calumet farm horses from Miami tomorrow or Sunday.

MORTON DEFEATS NEW TRIER, 48-35, FOR NINTH IN ROW

Malecek Paces Team to 4th Suburban Victory.

Morton High school of Cicero, defending Suburban league champion, chalked up its fourth straight heavyweight victory last night, defeating New Trier of Winnetka, 48 to 35, on the Morton court. Tonight Morton, undefeated in nine starts, journeys to Moline to engage the Maroons, who have been defeated only once this year.

Paced by Joe Malecek, Morton roared into a 36 to 25, lead at the half. Malecek popped in 15 points, six field goals and three foul shots. The Morton frosh-soph also chalked another victory, winning, 35 to 19.

Oak Park maintained its first place tie with Morton with a 41 to 21 victory over Evanston on the latter's floor. It was the fourth straight league victory for the Oak Parkers who meet Morton Tuesday night in a battle for first place. The home team won the frosh-soph game, 32 to 27.

Highland Park scored a 28 to 24 victory over Proviso of Maywood with Paul Giarelli scoring 11 of the winning points. Proviso captured the frosh-soph game, 33 to 30.

BOB MONTGOMERY STOPS RICO IN SEVENTH ROUND

New York, Jan. 8 (AP).—Bob Montgomery, rugged Philadelphia Negro, advanced a long step up the lightweight title elimination trial ladder tonight by stopping Chester Rico, a slim New Yorker, after seven full rounds, with a badly cut left eye in Madison Square Garden. Montgomery weighed 134¼ pounds, Rico 133¼.

After being outclassed for three rounds by Rico's speed, Montgomery opened the cut over the eye early in the fourth and by the seventh the blood was pouring so freely Dr. William Walker, state athletic commission physician, called a halt.

Ball Players Free to Quit War Jobs, Commission Says

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8 (AP).—George Davis, information director of the war man power commission, today dispelled fears that several members of the Cleveland Indians would be held at their war plant jobs after the baseball season opened. Davis explained that the order freezing war workers to their places was designed to prevent one plant from raiding the personnel of another. He stated that a worker was free to quit and go into nonessential industry at any time.

EAGLES CANCEL BOWLING.

Big 10 Teams Open Race for Title Tonight

met on the basketball floor in 1904, and the supremacy has swung back and forth consistently, Indiana having won 26 games to Ohio State's 22.

Indiana's lineup has been indefinite because of an injury to Ralph Hamilton, who led the Hoosiers' nonconference scoring with 84 points, and the illness of Johnny Logan, senior forward, who was released from the infirmary today.

Following the Indiana-Ohio State contest, the Indiana freshmen will play the George field team from Lawrenceville, Ill. Probable lineups:

OHIO STATE.		INDIANA.
Miller	F	Denton
Gecowets	F	Lewis
Dugger	C	Williams
Fekete	G	Swanson
Shrider	G	Wittenbraker

Officials—Lyle Clarno [Bradley Tech] and Glenn Adams [DePauw].

GOPHERS PLAY AT IOWA.

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 8 [Special].—Iowa and Minnesota, with only one defeat on their respective records, will open their Big Ten schedule here tomorrow night.

The Hawkeyes, who have averaged 52 points in four games, lost only to Nebraska, while Minnesota, which has averaged 47, was beaten by Dartmouth. Both teams have defeated South Dakota State and Carleton college.

Iowa will have two sophomores in the starting lineup and Minnesota will have three. Probable lineups:

IOWA.		MINNESOTA.
Chapman	F	Windmiller
Trickey	F	Rulifson
O'Brien	C	Lind
Nesmith	G	Exel
Thomsen	G	Brewster

Officials—W. W. Hartzell [Simpson] and L. W. Whitford [Iowa Teachers].

MAROONS ENGAGE PURDUE.

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 8 [Special].—Purdue's revamped basketball team with Sophomore Ralph Brower filling the forward vacancy left by the loss of Myrwin [Red] Anderson to the navy, will launch its Big Ten campaign here tomorrow night against Chicago.

Replacing Anderson, high scoring forward, is a real problem for Coach Ward Lambert, who is working with the smallest squad that has represented the Boilermakers in years. Altho Brower, who saw limited action against Great Lakes, is slated for the starting team with Paul Friend, three other sophomores, John Kennedy, Robert Biddle, and Robert Morris, are possible forward replacements.

The Maroons have lost five straight pre-conference engagements, and 31 straight Big Ten games since 1940.

COUNCIL SESSION DELAYS BASKET TITLE GAME PLAN

Mayor Kelly, who Thursday night pledged his support to the proposed city championship basketball game between the winners of the Catholic and Public leagues, said last night he was unable to confer yesterday with the Very Rev. Daniel F. Cunningham, director of Catholic schools for the archdiocese of Chicago, to gain Catholic approval of the program. He indicated, however, that he would consult Msgr. Cunningham as soon as possible. An all-day council session stopped the conference yesterday.

SAMMY ANGOTT, HANDS HEALED, TO COME BACK

Washington, Pa., Jan. 8 (AP).—Sammy Angott, who three months ago announced his retirement as lightweight boxing champion, disclosed tonight he is planning a ring comeback.

"I've been in training for the last week," Angott said. "My injured hands, which caused me to decide to quit, have healed again—something I didn't think ever would happen. I'm all set to fight and expect to be in shape for my first one in about three or four weeks."

HOGAN'S BASKET FOR CAMP GRANT BEATS LOYOLA

Warriors Finish Strong to Win, 37-35.

Camp Grant beat Loyola university, 37 to 35, last night, winning on a basket in the final 37 seconds of play. In the middle of the final period the soldiers were 12 points behind. Corp. George Hogan, the one time Loyola guard, made a basket on a long set shot from past the middle of the floor to break a 35 to 35 tie. The basket gave the Warriors, who include a conquest over Illinois, defending Western conference champion, among their 11 victims, the lead for the first time in the game.

The seniors trimuphed, 29 to 27, and the juniors chalked up a 29 to 24 victory. Gene Delaney sparked the Mount Carmel seniors with eight points.

St. Rita opened its conference season with a double victory over St. Patrick on the latter's court. In a closely contested junior game, a free throw in the last seconds of play by Capt. Frank Judge gave St. Rita the victory, 19 to 18. The senior game went to St. Rita, 43 to 24.

St. Philip swept a double header from Weber, the juniors winning, 27 to 22, and the seniors annexing their game, 40 to 28. In the junior contest, Ed Kachan, a guard, scored 13 points for St. Philip.

St. George got off to a rousing start, capturing a double header from De Paul academy, the juniors taking the first game, 37 to 18, and the seniors winning the second contest, 30 to 23. John Mullaney, St. George forward on the senior team, accounted for 14 points.

DROP APPELLATE COURT, INDIANA'S GOVERNOR URGES

No Longer Needed, Says Message to Legislature.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 8 [Special].—Gov. Henry F. Schricker today recommended abolition of the six man state appellate court in his formal message to the Indiana legislature. His message, which called for a number of governmental reforms, suggested expansion of the state Supreme court from five members to seven.

Decreased litigation makes the appellate court no longer necessary, Schricker said.

Cites Challenge to Group.

The Democratic governor, addressing a predominantly Republican legislature, called attention to the fact that this is the first wartime session of the Indiana legislature since the Civil war, adding:

"We face the same challenge today that our forebears faced then."

Schricker devoted attention to the needs of state institutions, asking a new hospital for the criminally insane, a new clinical building at the Rockville tuberculosis sanitarium, a new dormitory at the state soldiers' home, a new kitchen and dining room at the central state hospital for the insane, and an increase in appropriations for all institutions.

Other recommendations by the governor included:

Relief of Indianans in the army and navy from payment of poll taxes and gross income taxes on service salaries.

Increase in the present $50,000 appropriation for the home guard, which has developed rapidly.

Eyes Teachers' Pay.

Establishment of a minimum salary of $1,000 annually, to be contributed by the state of all public school teachers.

Passage of the state constitution amendment which would give cities and towns the right to establish their own form of government.

If the legislature were to pass this amendment and it were approved at the next general election, any Indiana community would be free to set up a city manager type government.

She is survived by two sons, Edward C. of Evanston and Phillip C. of Washington, D. C., and a daughter, Catherine of Evanston.

Son Exonerated in Death of Father; Tells of Fight

Charles Chorba, 33 years old, 1461 Erie street, was exonerated yesterday by a coroner's jury in the death of his father, Michael, 77, of 1509 North Throop street. Charles Chorba admitted striking his father during a quarrel while they were drinking on Christmas day. The elder Chorba's head struck a stove as he fell and the injuries aggravated a heart condition which brought his death Wednesday, a coroner's physician reported. The jury held the death accidental.

TELLS NAZI PLOT TO 'TAKE OVER' U.S. NEWSPAPERS

N.Y. Editor Reveals Threats by Agent.

New York, Jan. 8 (AP).—Victor F. Ridder, publisher of the Staats-Zeitung, German language daily, described in federal court today how a representative of the Nazi government attempted in 1933 to "take over" German language papers in the United States.

Testifying as a government witness in the denaturalization trial of Fritz Kuhn, former national leader of the German-American bund, and 19 other former bundsmen, Ridder said that Heinz Spanknoebel, identified as a representative of the Nazi government in this country, came to his office with another man in July, 1933.

Spanknoebel, Ridder said, presented letters from Ernest W. Bohle, head of the foreign division of the Nazi party, and Dr. Robert Ley, chief of the German labor front, and said the letters authorized him to take control of the German language press.

Ordered from Office.

The witness quoted Spanknoebel as saying: "From now on you will no longer be permitted to publish pro-Jewish articles in your newspaper."

Ridder said he asked Spanknoebel what would happen if he [Ridder] went to Germany and laid a letter from Secretary of State Cordell Hull on the desk of Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, then head of the Nazi party's foreign political division, and said it was his authority to take over Berlin newspapers.

"That's unthinkable," he said Spanknoebel replied.

The witness said that his brother, Bernard H. Ridder, then said to Spanknoebel:

"All I can tell you, Spanknoebel, is to get out and stay out."

Ridder testified that his paper consistently had opposed the bund since its inception.

Tells Chicago Bund Rift.

Earlier, Peter Gissibl, also testifying for the government, told the court that while he was chief of the Chicago unit of the bund, he visited his brother, a Gestapo official in Germany, in 1938, and discussed the possibility of ousting Kuhn as national head of the bund.

The brother, who had helped found the bund, was unable to help him, Gissibl testified, and on his return to this country he resigned as Chicago leader.

Asked if he also resigned as a member, Gissibl smiled wryly and said: "I was thrown out."

Gissibl, whose home is Waukegan, Ill., also was asked if he would fight against Germany today.

"Yes, I would," he replied.

Gissibl testified that in January, 1938, the Chicago bund and its auxiliaries had a membership of 1,000. He admitted using briefly the alias "Joseph Slawick," and explained he did so because "I was threatened by several members of the Chicago unit after I testified before the Dies committee."

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

C. B. writes: "I have been classified 1-B in my home draft board in Michigan and I came to Chicago a long time ago to get work. When I left Michigan I did not notify my draft board that I was going to Chicago to work. Can I write to my draft board and let them know I intend staying in Chicago and have my registration transferred here?"

ANSWER: We hope you have let your draft board know where you are before this or you may be in for serious trouble. If your draft board does not know your whereabouts, it is probable you are listed by them as a delinquent, and thru ignorance or inadvertence you may have made yourself liable for prosecution. You should notify your board at once of your whereabouts, and then when your turn comes for physical examination and induction, these administrative matters can be handled thru the local board nearest to where you are living at the time.

M. E. T. asks: "Is there any way to get meteorology training? How does one go about it?"

ANSWER: The procedure is to complete and return in one envelope addressed to "Weather," University of Chicago, the following items: [1] aviation cadet application, available from the university, [2] transcript of high school or college record, [3] birth certificate, [4] a passport size photograph [write your name on the back], [5] three letters of recommendation. Men in service and those about to enter service who wish to enter into the new training programs of any description ought to have ready several birth certificates, college or high school credits, and letters of recommendation.

C. J. L. writes: "On Sunday, Dec. 13, you stated in your column the President had signed a bill to enable the marine corps and the navy to accept men with nonorganic physical defects. I went to three places that day and no one seemed to know anything about it. How come?"

ANSWER: The bill was signed, but it will take a week or so for directives to come thru to the examining physicians.

G. A. E. asks: "Where can I obtain information on the civil air patrol?"

ANSWER: You may obtain information from almost any airport or from Maj. Robert K. Belt, room 1416, 222 West Adams street, Chicago.

B. V. asks: "Can I get a release from the navy because I am 42 years of age and was employed as a tool and die maker in a defense plant before I enlisted?"

ANSWER: Men in the navy, coast guard, or marines are not included in the overage legislation for the reason their service is by voluntary enlistment.

BRIDE STRICKEN AFTER RUSHING TO SICK MOTHER

A daughter who left her bridegroom during their honeymoon to come to Chicago to care for her mother, ill in County hospital, herself was near death last night, with the mother watching at her bedside.

Mrs. Betty Daniels, 37 years old, of New York, is the daughter. On her arrival here several weeks ago she took up residence in the apartment of her mother, Mrs. Adelaide Talbot, 69, at 1344 Lunt avenue. Mrs. Talbot was in the hospital suffering from a malady doctors were unable to diagnose.

Yesterday Mrs. Daniels was found unconscious in her mother's apartment. Hospital doctors said they may call on the coroner's chemists in an effort to learn the nature of her illness. Mrs. Talbot, now virtually recovered, keeps vigil at her daughter's bedside.

DR. HARPER QUITS AS WISCONSIN'S HEALTH OFFICER

Gets Another Post; on Job 39 Years.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 8 [Special].—Dr. Cornelius Allen Harper, 78 years old, who has served as state health officer and secretary of the state board of health since 1904, submitted his resignation today. He length of service is believed to be a record in the United States.

Dr. Harper explained that "the work has been heavy and continuous. My health is not as good as it used to be. I felt I should be relieved of some detail. I told the board I was willing to serve in another capacity."

The board appointed Dr. Harper as medical specialist in public health. His new position will pay $4,500 annually. As health officer and secretary, he received $5,000.

Given Another Post.

Dr. Harper was one of the outstanding leaders in public health in the United States. Under his direction a statewide health organization was created in Wisconsin. Wisconsin is today the third healthiest state in the United States, officials say.

The board appointed Dr. Carl Neupert, Madison, to succeed Dr. Harper as state health officer. Dr. Neupert has served as assistant in the department for the last six years.

Dr. Harper was born Feb. 20, 1864, on a farm near Hazel Green, Wis. He attended the University of Wisconsin and Columbian Medical college, Washington, D. C. He was appointed to the state health board in 1901 and was made state health officer in 1904. As a member of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association in 1903, he was active in having the state legislature appropriate funds for construction of a state sanitarium at Wales, Wis. Dr. Harper served one term, 1910, in the Wisconsin state legislature, being elected on the Republican ticket.

Crusader for Health.

The veteran health officer has waged a militant drive against venereal diseases. He opened his crusade by getting the state legislature, in 1913, to pass a law abolishing public drinking cups. Largely thru his efforts, the state health board now requires pre-marital blood tests for both men and women; maintains free clinics for treatment of social diseases; provides lectures on venereal diseases to state high schools; and polices areas near army camps and defense plants to guard against prostitution.

Under Dr. Harper's guidance, the state health department has grown from one division to 16. He has been instrumental in obtaining legislation requiring that all plans for public water and sewer systems be submitted to the state board before construction. Free distribution of silver nitrate for the prevention of infant blindness was begun in Wisconsin under Dr. Harper's supervision. He also drafted the program of supervising and licensing state maternity hospitals.

HOW TO EXPAND CANNED GOODS PUZZLES TRADE

Dealers Find Packer Supply Scant.

Chicago food wholesalers and jobbers said yesterday that the recent war production board order permitting them to expand their canned goods inventories would have been extremely helpful except for one thing—they don't know where to buy the canned goods.

The WPB order permitted the food dealers to expand their inventories to an estimated three month supply of canned fruits, vegetables, and juices. The action was taken at the request of the department of agriculture and the office of price administration to facilitate the forthcoming rationing of canned foods to consumers.

Tho refusing to let their names be used in fear of "sticking their necks out for the government," the numerous food dealers asked about the canned food situation were unanimous in saying that they do not know where to go to buy substantial amounts of canned goods from producers.

Pack Was Large, But—

The 1942 pack of vegetables and fruits was large, the food men said, but the government got a big proportion and a canvass of canners failed to uncover any large supplies.

"I am in the market to buy any canned goods available," said one jobber who represents a large group of retail grocers, "but there just aren't any. Where the big 1942 pack has gone is a mystery. We know that the army and navy have taken large amounts and lend-lease has taken a big slice, but there should be more available."

The Chicago food handlers said few canners are equipped to store substantial amounts of canned goods, adding that a canner who can store a third of his pack is fortunate. Storage of canned goods, they explained, requires adequate warehouse space plus heating and cooling facilities. Few canners are so equipped. Thus packers must ship out at least two-thirds of their canned goods.

Where? They Don't Know.

Several food men said they believe the government must be holding vast quantities of canned goods in warehouses. Where? They don't know.

Stocking of canned goods by housewives, it was said, has been a factor in clearing merchants' shelves. But an even greater factor has been the sharp rise in the nation's purchasing power.

"A few years ago there was a large number of unemployed," one dealer said. "Those people would have been glad to buy canned goods, but they just didn't have the money. Now with practically every one working there is plenty of cash with which to buy canned goods—and the people have been buying."

ADJUST PRICE MARGINS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8 (AP).—New and uniform retail and wholesale price margins on nine food commodities were established today by the office of price administration in line with its policy of simplifying and standardizing retail food prices.

The OPA said prices of some of the commodities would increase slightly but others would drop, making little if any difference in the cost of living.

Products covered are coffee, all canned fish, cooking and salad oils, hydrogenated and other shortenings, cornmeal, canned citrus fruits and juices, evaporated and condensed milk, pure maple syrup and pure corn syrup, and flour and flour mixes.

The order becomes effective Jan. 14 except on evaporated and condensed milk, on which the order went into effect today. The OPA said the regulation would be followed by broader action on a wide range of products, including meats and staple groceries.

Grain Board's First Girl Messenger

Jean Marie Anderson receives her first "message" from Charles King, telephone broker in grain pit.

Spirited Fight to Rule Grain Pit Expected

A spirited contest for the presidency of the Chicago Board of Trade at the annual election Monday was indicated yesterday by the distribution to members of letters setting forth the aims and qualifications of the two candidates, Philip R. O'Brien, the incumbent, and G. Willard Hales.

O'Brien, seeking his third term, recalled in a letter signed by himself that he was selected by the nominating committee after he had declined another candidacy and, after a membership petition had urged the committee to "draft" his services.

"I only acceded to the request of the nominating committee and the petitioners because of the expressed change in policy which was being advocated by a group who had proposed another candidate," O'Brien asserted.

Members Aroused, Says O'Brien.

"It was an aroused membership that brought about the petition for my further services. It had become apparent that instead of continuing the constructive policies which have been followed for the last two years under approval of your directors, a small but active group had determined upon a different course."

The exchange president charged the course of the opposition group would be "possibly beneficial to certain interests, but not to the membership as a whole."

O'Brien pledged to continue his fight against government restriction of open markets in coöperation with farm organizations and congressional agricultural leaders. Predicting a victory for free markets and agriculture, he declared there shall be "no compromise of principle."

"Revive Dying Functions."

Hales' letter, carrying the signature of a committee of members, said the exchange has been given little consideration by the government because "we have not established working relations." Hales, who was nominated by petition, was urged as president to reëstablish these relations and "revive our dying functions." The activities of the board of trade, the letter asserted, "are at the lowest ebb in our long history."

In citing the candidate's qualifications the committee said he is capable of planning now for the "hazardous post-war period." Hales is a director of the exchange and chairman of Hales and Hunter company, feed manufacturer.

Mrs. Jean Marie Anderson, 19 years old, will go to work Monday as the first girl messenger on the floor of the Chicago Board of Trade, which for 95 years has been the exclusive haven of brokers and the boys who run their errands.

For the benefit of the photographer, Mrs. Anderson did a little practicing yesterday, but the board, still reluctant to give up tradition, did not allow her on the floor until after trading had ended.

Beginning Monday, she will work on the floor as a messenger for J. S. Bache & Co. Her husband, Raymond, will go into war service today.

GRAIN FUTURES RETREAT; CASH DEMAND STRONG

Most grain futures prices turned lower on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday, wheat losing about 1 cent of the advance registered Thursday. However, there was a large demand for cash grain.

Soft red winter wheat, the supply of which is said to be the smallest in 50 years, sold at $1.58 a bushel, a new high in more than 14 years, and 26 cents above the government loan basis. Cash corn again sold at $1 to duplicate the top price of Thursday.

Wheat futures closed ⅝ to ¾ cent lower and rye was off ¼ to ½ cent. July and September corn, all deliveries of oats, and May soy beans reached new seasonal highs early before reacting in sympathy with other grains. Corn was unchanged to ⅛ cent lower at the close; oats, ⅛ cent higher, and soy beans 1½ cents lower.

HOGS IRREGULAR; SUPPLIES HOLD AT LOW LEVEL

Hog prices were irregular in the stockyards yesterday. Early sales were 15 to 25 cents higher, but later transactions were 10 to 15 cents below the top levels.

Supplies continued low. Only 19,000 hogs arrived, including direct shipments to packers, compared with 25,233 the corresponding day last year.

Lambs sold at steady prices, altho some weakness appeared late. The small supply of steers brought steady to weak prices.

Cont. Bank's Dividend Rate Is Held at $4

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

After considering paying a higher dividend to stockholders, directors of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company decided to retain the present $4 annual rate and use the surplus earnings to add to capital funds, Walter J. Cummings, chairman, informed stockholders at the annual meeting yesterday.

Deposits of the bank, Cummings said, exceed two billion dollars, highest in the bank's history, and a commensurate increase in capital funds is considered desirable by the board. For this reason, he said, the bank paid out less than half of its $12,589,000 of 1942 profit in dividends, and retained the balance as an addition to surplus. Furthermore, he indicated this policy will be continued for the immediate future.

Replies to Question.

Cummings explained the dividend policy of the board when a stockholder asked if a larger dividend could be expected later in 1943.

"The board feels, and I am in complete agreement," he said, "that under present conditions it is prudent to pursue a conservative policy with respect to dividends. Deposits are very high and we wish ample capital to support them. We do not want to be in the position of asking stockholders to contribute additional capital. While no definite statement can be made as to future dividend action it appears there is little likelihood of an early increase."

Preceding the shareholders' meeting the board met and voted to distribute a dividend of $2 a share Feb. 1, payable to stockholders of record Jan. 20. Similar payments were made Feb. 1 and Aug. 1 last year.

All Directors Reëlected.

All 17 directors of the bank were reëlected with more than 1,025,000 shares being voted in person and by proxy.

At a subsequent meeting of the new board a number of promotions were made in the executive personnel. Five new vice presidents in the commercial banking department were elected. They are Lester T. Boe, John F. Mannion, John W. Nichols, Henry R. Platt Jr., and O. B. Wallace. All were formerly second vice presidents.

The following assistant cashiers were made second vice presidents: John W. Baker, A. Gordon Badt, Merle G. Glanville, David Handler, and Boyd J. Simmons.

Ten New Officers Elected.

Ten new officers, all assistant cashiers, were elected. They are Berford Brittain Jr., Arthur J. Frey, Arthur W. Higby, John P. Hoffmann, John F. McGuire Jr., Wilhelm R. Mesenbrink, Orion Morris, William G. Olson, Magnus I. Ronning, and George Wiersema.

Wayne R. Bennett was elected a vice president in the trust department. He was formerly a second vice president. Six assistant secretaries of the trust department were named trust officers. They are Cecil Bronston, Charles E. Clippinger, Bruce H. De Swarte, Frederick W. Hawley Jr., Harold P. Smith, and James F. Vanek. Ernest D. Holmes and Victor P. Nelson were elected assistant secretaries.

LAKE SHORE BANK DEPOSITS CLIMB TO PEAK IN 1942

Deposits of the Lake Shore Trust and Savings bank rose $5,236,605 during 1942 to a new peak of $24,244,781 at Dec. 31, President Joseph R. Frey told stockholders at the annual meeting yesterday. Bond investments reached a record at $8,268,553.

Earnings were $151,296 before federal income taxes, which were reported nominal because of credits taken on items charged off in previous years. Provision for taxes was set up in a reserve account. 1941 earnings were $186,185.

Transfer of $100,000 from undivided profits increased the surplus account to $300,000 and gave the bank a capital structure of $1,368,076. Officers and directors were reëlected.

William Russell Elected Director of Wilmette Bank

Stockholders of the Wilmette State bank elected William E. Russell a director to fill the vacancy left by the death of Henry Taylor Jr., it was announced yesterday. Meanwhile, the directors and officers of the Pioneer Trust and Savings bank were reëlected.

WABASH.

Please report on the Wabash railroad. What were the principal provisions of the company's recent reorganization plan?—R. V. S.

Answer: The Wabash Railroad company, successor to Wabash Railway company, operates 2,409 miles of track, extending from Omaha, Neb., Kansas City and St. Louis, Mo., to Chicago, Detroit, Mich., Toledo, O., southern Canada, and Buffalo, N. Y.

Principal freight revenues are from shipping of automobiles and related industrial products. Considerable quantities of agricultural produce also are carried. The road has suffered from decentralization of automobile manufacturing and truck competition.

The old Wabash Railroad company was organized in 1889 in Missouri. It was sold under foreclosure in 1915 and the successor road was known as the Wabash Railway company until Jan. 1, 1942, when, after reorganization, it became the Wabash Railroad company again.

The company went into receivership in 1931. After approval of the reorganization plan the road was sold to the reorganization managers under foreclosure for $31,030,950 on Dec. 1, 1941. Under the plan preferred and common stock were found to have no value, but other security holders received new holdings in exchange for the old.

Capitalization of the new company consists of 598,186 shares of no par common stock outstanding and 311,067 shares of 4½ per cent $100 par preferred. The funded debt totals $99,207,312. Total capitalization is 34 per cent lower than that of the predecessor company.

A record of financial results follows:

	Operating revenue.	Net income.
1941	$57,533,540	$5,532,113
1940	46,013,670	*2,335,899
1939	44,662,526	*3,542,184
1938	40,472,327	*6,127,890
1937	46,133,734	*3,051,791

*Loss.

Total operating revenue for the first 10 months of 1942 was $64,098,273, compared with $47,646,372 the year before, and net income amounted to $4,270,040, against $2,471,577. No dividends have been paid on common stock for many years.

The company is controled by the Pennsylvania company, subsidiary of Pennsylvania railroad, thru ownership of 592,433 common and 72,715 preferred shares—73 per cent of the issues.

REALTY BOARD BEGINS INQUIRY INTO RENT RULE

Bohrer Writes Byrd of Wasted Effort.

BY AL CHASE.

Investigation of the operations of the area and regional offices of the rent control division of the office of property administration in Chicago, following charges of irregularities made by Randolph Bohrer, has been started by the property owners' bureau of the Chicago Real Estate board, Chairman Ward Farnsworth announced yesterday.

Bohrer, who in a letter to Earl D. Howard, area rent director, imputed to political influence a reversal of a rent raise granted him on some units in the Country Club apartment hotel, 6960 South Shore drive, made public a letter he sent to Sen. Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.], chairman of the joint committee on reduction of nonessential federal expenditures. He already had written the two Illinois senators asking a congressional investigation.

Duplication Termed Obvious.

"It is obvious that a great deal of duplication in work is being done by the regional and area rent offices in Chicago," Bohrer wrote Byrd.

He said that in the South Shore drive case investigations from the regional office, which is the appeal office, and the area rent office, which is the original office, have been and are still being made.

"Attorneys from both of these offices also have gone into the matter, both from the factual as well as the legal standpoint, thereby departing from their sphere as attorneys," Bohrer wrote.

"Since no protest was pending before the regional office, it is apparent that these offices are competing with each other, doing the same work and each carrying on its independent investigations and legal research work.

"Unfortunately, both landlords and tenants are being seriously affected to their detriment by reason of these jurisdictional disputes and duplications of effort, and a great deal of public money is being expended unnecessarily.

"Purpose Completely Defeated."

"The purpose of the OPA is being completely defeated, for instead of being a measure of repression of inflationary trends, it has become an instrument of oppression resulting from the wastes of public funds and duplication of work and petty squabbles between these persons. Thousands of dollars of funds of individuals have been taken from them by means of these blundering acts."

Regarding the realty investigation of rent control, Farnsworth said: "The Property Owners' bureau is trying to find out why there are lags in the service to the property owner, particularly because of the exorbitant cost of administration of rent control in this area.

"The bureau understands there were 18,000 tenant cases filed with the legal department of the rent control bureau in July that were not turned over to the administrative department until November. This has tended to slow decisions and the result has been confusion and ill feeling between landlord and tenant with a loss of income to the owner."

An official of the Chicago Real Estate board said there are 4,000 landlord cases pending at the rent control area office.

Urge Striking Miners Return; Western States Short of Coal

Appeal to Patriotism

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 8 (AP).—The anthracite committee of 12 urged tonight that 15,000 to 20,000 anthracite miners on an unauthorized strike in protest against a $4 yearly increase in union dues return to work at once "in order that the nation may receive the maximum quantity of anthracite to which it is entitled during the existing emergency."

In a statement issued after a six hour meeting, called at the request of Harold L. Ickes, solid fuels coördinator, the governing body of the hard coal industry said, "We are convinced that the employés are not unmindful of their duties to our country and feel sure they will respond to this appeal for maximum production."

Thomas Kennedy, secretary treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, who attended the meeting, asserted, "We don't know if this will bring the men back to work, but we have left the door open."

Located in Pennsylvania.

The miners, all located in the Scranton and Wilkes-Barre area, district 1 of the UMWA, struck 10 days ago after dues of $1.50 per month began to be deducted from their pay under the checkoff system. This amounts to $18 a year, whereas before the change was voted at the UMWA convention at Cincinnati last fall, union dues aggregated $14 a year, $1 a month dues plus $2 a year in assessments. Some of the strikers also seek a $2 a day wage increase.

Estimates by operators placed the loss in production at 30,000 tons daily, or 300,000 tons to date, sufficient to load 6,000 railroad coal cars of 50 ton capacity.

A spokesman for the operators on the committee, composed of six operators and six union representatives, said, "We have no disagreement with labor, but we do think that during wartime a small matter of dues should not affect the production of anthracite so necessary to the war effort."

May Draw on Illinois

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8 (AP).—States west of the Mississippi river are faced with a tight coal supply, principally because of increased demands by war industries and labor shortages, Howard A. Gray, deputy solid fuels coördinator, today told senators investigating midwest fuel shortages.

He advised consumers in that area to "store every ton of coal possible now" to prevent a fuel emergency "that undoubtedly would unfavorably affect war activity."

Difficulties in obtaining adequate equipment, repair parts and other supplies, along with the man power problem, are reducing the ability of the mines to meet the increased coal requirements, he said.

Gray described the situation in Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Washington, and Oregon as particularly acute.

Indications are, he said, that Kansas, Missouri, and Oklahoma will require more than a million tons more coal this year than the mines which ordinarily supply that region can produce.

May Need Illinois Coal.

"It may be necessary," Gray said, "to move upward of 1 million tons into this region from other states, a great deal of which coal will come from Illinois and western Kentucky."

He predicted requirements for Washington and Oregon would exceed the industry's production capacity in those states "by upward of 1 million tons per year."

He said it had been necessary to ship some coal from the docks at the head of the Great Lakes to the state of Washington.

"The core of the problem in the far west is the labor shortage," Gray said. "I have little doubt that it could be quickly relieved by increasing the man power in the mines of Washington, Utah, Wyoming, Montana, and Colorado by some 1,500 experienced miners."

Utility and Air Issues Lead Gain in Stocks

New York, Jan. 8 (AP).—Firmness persisted today in utilities, rails, farm implements and aircrafts, altho many stock leaders were backward in an irregularly higher market. War news, reinvestment demand and individual situations, however, provided buying inspiration for assorted favorites.

Because of large blocks of low priced issues, trading was the liveliest this year, transfers totaling 801,150 shares, compared with 710,770 yesterday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 0.1 to 41.8, with the utility section at a new top for the last year.

Last minute short covering developed in the long neglected aviation group on the waning of short war ideas.

Farm implements had the benefit of big estimates of 1942 agricultural income and the possibility priorities on machinery would be relaxed to spur bigger and better crops. Rails reflected hopes of wage compromises and possibility the interstate commerce commission would maintain last spring's rate increases.

CHICAGO MARKET RISES.

Prices were higher on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday as trading totaled 25,000 shares, and eight stocks reached new peaks for 1942-'43. Volume leaders included Middle West corporation and RCA.

In the final half hour Commonwealth Edison and Standard Brands declined ⅛, while Libby, McNeill & Libby advanced ⅛ from the New York close.

BOND PRICES GAIN.

New York, Jan. 8 (AP).—Bond market prices gained small fractions to about a point in another active session today.

Transfers of $15,150,400 were only moderately below Thursday's big total of $16,631,000, the best in several months. The Associated Press averages had two new highs for the last year or longer. The 10 industrials touched 104.0, up .1 of a point, and the foreign list reached 54.6, up .2. It was the third day in a row that group penetrated new high ground. Rails, utilities, and low yields also advanced.

CUT NEWSPRINT DELIVERY 10% AT CANADIAN MILLS

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 8 (AP).—Newsprint deliveries by Canadian mills are restricted to 90 per cent of their average deliveries between Oct. 1, 1941, and March 31, 1942, under an order issued by Newsprint Administrator R. L. Weldon, the prices board announced today.

The new order supersedes one issued by the administrator last Oct. 28 restricting production to 100 per cent of the average monthly quantity produced for sale within Canada or the United States from April 1 to Sept. 30, 1942.

The order prohibits delivery or acceptance of newsprint in any quantity which would increase the buyer's stock beyond 75 days' supply on the basis of current method and rate of operation or sale.

RATION BANKING SYSTEM STARTS ON JANUARY 27

54 Banks in Chicago Will Take Part.

Ration banking—the system thru which the office of price administration will unload upon banks the mountain of paper work involved in counting and clearing ration coupons—will become operative in Chicago and the rest of the nation Jan. 27, it was learned yesterday.

Fifty-four commercial banks in Chicago are expected to participate in the OPA program. They will be compensated for expenses incurred in operating the ration banking system under a schedule of fees to be made public soon.

Already tested in the Albany, N. Y., area, the system streamlines the handling of the billions of ration coupons which will flow this year from consumers to merchants and then to wholesalers and distributors.

Performed by Local Boards.

The tedious job now is performed by local rationing boards which have to count the coupons turned in by merchants, issue exchange certificates, keep records, file the collected coupons, and make voluminous reports to the OPA auditing office in Washington.

By using the trained personnel and established bookkeeping machinery of commercial banks and employing checking account procedures familiar to business men, the ration banking program will perform these essential functions:

1. Provide a safer method for handling the coupons.
2. Provide efficient machinery for counting and record keeping.
3. Provide a simple and rapid report on the current consumption of rationed commodities.

Similar to Checking Account.

The program is fashioned after modern bank procedures for handling checking accounts. Merchants will open accounts with their banks for each rationed commodity which they sell. In these accounts they will deposit all ration coupons collected from customers. When the merchants wish to purchase replenishment of their stocks they will write a "check" against their account, drawing as many coupon units as they require. The bank will be the OPA agent and exercise all controls over suspected forgery, counterfeiting or alteration of numbers.

Commenting on the inefficiency of the present method of handling rationing coupons, the OPA said:

"The physical burden of counting stamp sheets and keeping records is proving difficult for the local rationing boards. The addition of future programs, such as meat and food rationing, will make this burden impossible for the boards to manage.

Control Not Effective.

"The present method is unsatisfactory because there is no effective control. With three or more persons in each board authorized to sign and issue purchase certificates, there can be no control of forgeries, raised figures, thefts, and losses.

"Ration banking will accomplish the removal of the bulk of paper work from the system at the lowest possible level, the retailer. It will give a complete picture of the activity of each trader. It will largely eliminate the danger of lost and stolen coupons because vouchers must be deposited in the account of the named transferee and may not pass by indorsement."

SUBURBAN BANK'S OPENING DATE IS SET FOR MARCH 1

The date for the opening of Forest Park's first bank since 1932 has been tentatively set for March 1, Howard F. Sammon, investment broker and banker and one of those associated with the organizing group, announced yesterday. Sammon said the new bank—to be known as the First State Bank of Forest Park—will be located at 7348 W. Madison street, Forest Park.

A permit issued last week by the state auditor's office authorized a capital structure of $125,000 of which $100,000 will be capital, $10,000 surplus and $15,000 reserve. Sammon said steps have been taken toward application for insurance with the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation.

Earl T. Marquardt, secretary and treasurer of the First Savings and Loan association of Forest Park, is chairman of the stock subscription committee.

FINE
PAPER SALESMAN

A progressive fine paper jobber in Chicago is looking for a high caliber salesman, not over forty-five years of age. We want a man with an established fine paper business yielding an income of at least $10,000.00 per year who desires a better opportunity.

Remuneration on a commission basis will be at a rate sufficiently generous the first year to enable him to earn as much or more than he has made in the past if he controls his business. At the end of the second year he will be offered an interest in the firm. Our men know of this ad. All inquiries in strictest confidence. Address H X 282, Tribune.

DEATHLESS DEER
By Neysa McMein and Alicia Patterson
WHAT SHALL I DO ?
A LETTER FOR ME ?
Exalted One It is no use, my Princess. Every avenue of escape is closed. If you will listen to me all will be well. I will expect you for dinner at 8. Abu!
I WILL BIDE MY TIME AND BEAT HIM WITH MY WITS
BRING ME MY CLOTHES, I WILL TEACH THIS DOG A LESSON!
YOU HAVE BURNED MY CLOTHES ? BUT I CAN'T WEAR THIS WHAT A LOT OF DRESSES!
WHAT MAGNIFICENT GOWNS! I WONDER WHO THEY BELONG TO?
YOU MEAN THESE BELONG TO ME ? THEN I MUST HAVE BEEN EXPECTED!
I CAN'T GO BAREFOOT. WHERE ARE THE SANDALS ?
SHADE OF MY FATHER! ARE THOSE FOR MY HEAD OR MY FEET ?
HOW STRANGE I LOOK! -- BUT I RATHER LIKE MYSELF
I CAN'T APPEAR WITHOUT JEWELS!
NOW I AM READY
ABU, MY MASTER, AWAITS. FOLLOW ME, MY PRINCESS.
SHE COMES! SHE COMES!
NEXT WEEK-ABU'S TREACHERY!
